XES TOO HIGH PAY, IS PLEA COMMITTEE

ealty Board Lists Eight Reasons.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Taxes on land and buildings are beyond the limit of the owners to pay at present, according to the Chicago Real Estate board. This is the main point in a communication submitted yesterday by that board to the revenue committee formed at the request of Gov. Emmerson and headed by Joseph K. Brittain.

Gives Eight Reasons.

It assigns eight reasons, as follows:

1. The delay attributable to the reassessment of property in Cook county means that the taxpayer is confronted with paying three years' taxes—1929, 1930, and 1931, amounting to $750,000,000—in less than 18 months.

2. The passage of the Strawn relief bond [illegible], without referendum to the people, for the issuance of [illegible] worth of bonds to be [illegible] over a comparatively short period has created two successive and substantial increases to be met by the taxpayer in his 1929 and 1930 tax bills.

3. The international financial depression, combined with a vast volume of local unemployment, has virtually exhausted the taxpayers' reserves for [illegible] purposes.

Cites Closing of Banks.

4. Within the last 30 days forty-nine banks have closed in Cook county, affecting some 500,000 depositors who, for the most part, now find their resources beyond reach for a considerable period of time.

5. Vast volumes of receiverships and distressed properties, running into hundreds of millions of dollars, further complicate the predicament by reason of their inability to provide normal income because of lower rents and increasing vacancies.

Equities Seen Wiped Out.

6. Taxpayers are further confronted with the certainty that the 1931 quadrennial reassessment will evidence a substantial reduction of values to the end that equities over mortgages outstanding will be virtually wiped out, requiring a substantial increase in the equalization factor be made on [illegible] tax bills in order, to some extent, to offset the delinquencies of those unable to meet tax bills, as well as shrinkage of values for tax computation.

7. The executive expenses of local government still further impress the taxpayer of the uselessness of his [illegible].

8. Numerous programs, attacking [illegible] portions of the problem only, have been submitted to the legislature without material effect, whereas, the taxpayer today, if he is to be capable of meeting the expense of government, must find a thoroughgoing program which will provide some relief in his behalf before he will find himself favorably affected to the point of attempting to meet his tax [illegible] and retaining his equities in real estate.

Proposes Bond Issue.

To aid the property owner the real estate board would lift the 1930 taxes, except the state's portion, by a bond issue of 20 years. Technically, President [illegible] Levy of the board explains that the plan is to issue bonds to pay tax anticipation warrants. In the [illegible] years the total of the bonds would be certified to the county clerk, who would be prohibited by law from levying taxes for the amount of bonds issued.

It would limit the bonds to the amount of 1930 tax warrants outstanding, but it would be discretionary with each local government whether any bonds would be put out. [illegible] for the realty board admitted yesterday that the plan would [illegible] taxes to the extent of the interest on the bonds, but they argued that the taxpayers would be relieved of [illegible] taxes to the extent that the plan was utilized.

Presumably, under the plan, the city, school, and county boards, the largest borrowers of cash on tax anticipation warrants, would issue bonds. The city has $41,540,277 of 1930 tax warrants outstanding, the

BURKE DEFEATS VON ELM; KING OF U. S. GOLF

Wins National Open by Stroke.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toledo, O., July 6.—Billy Burke, a game, reckless golfer from Greenwich, Conn., who plays his luck to the limit, came out of the pesky hills and dales of the Inverness course at sundown today holding the biggest stake for which he ever played in all his 28 years—the United States open golf championship. In the second 36 hole playoff round of the tournament, played today, Burke took 148 strokes, while George Von Elm, the Detroit pro who had tied with him at the conclusion of the regulation 72 holes of play, required one more.

When Burke strode up to the last green, gnawing the surviving inch of what was once a respectable cigar, he was two strokes ahead of Von Elm, one of the gamest players in golf, a tight lipped little man who had tied Burke on Saturday at the end of the regular tournament. Then came the Sunday playoff of the tie. That thirty-six holes resulted in another tie. Then, in today's final playoff of thirty-six holes, Burke won by the one stroke.

Longest Tourney in History.

Burke and Von Elm played through the longest tournament in the history of golf before they settled their argument. A field of 144 Americans, Englishmen, one Frenchman, and one Filipino started play last Thursday morning, and Saturday night found Billy and George the sole survivors, each with cards of 292 for the prescribed 72 holes. They battled through their first extra round yesterday, but still couldn't reach a decision, finishing the initial playoff with scores of 149. Burke had a total of 589 strokes for the 144 holes played in the five days of their battle, and Von Elm 590. This is slightly over an average of 4 for the 144 holes.

The champion's prize money totals $1,750 and Von Elm's $1,000. The long playoff brought $750 over the original winner's purse of $1,000 to Burke and $250 more to Von Elm, who would have received $750. Burke's money figures a little more than $12 per hole.

His Victorious Stand.

The story of Burke's victory, his first one in a major tournament, lies in the record of his eighteen holes this afternoon, which he finished with a par card of 71, including four birdies, after having been one stroke back of Von Elm at the end of this morning's session. More particularly it lies with the fourteenth green, where he took back the single stroke with which Von Elm had squared the score at the preceding hole; the sixteenth, where he went two strokes ahead, and the seventeenth, where he clung to his advantage with one of the superb approach shots which have marked his work throughout the tournament.

Billy Shows Fortitude.

There was an incident on the last green that might give some idea of what kind of person this stolid faced Pole from Connecticut is. Both he and Von Elm had overdriven the pin by 25 feet on their iron shots and each found his ball nestling on one of the peculiar ridges that make Inverness greens risky propositions. George holed out for his four, and just as Billy was set for his third shot a pair of diligent movie cameramen set their gadgets whirling and at the same time bellowed across the green, "Hey, Burke, how about a shot?"

Billy turned with a smile and, while still holding his stance, bellowed back, "Go ahead and shoot. I've got three putts to make it."

With the movie machines whining their peculiar noise, he shot and the ball dribbled on past the pin more than a yard. He putted again, but still the ball was bashful about dropping in, halting eight inches from the cup. Even before he had finally dropped it Von Elm was at Billy's side to shake hands with him.

Von Elm Leads at Start.

Von Elm took a one stroke lead on the first hole of the morning round when Burke three putted after both had reached the green in two. Billy lost two more strokes at the second hole, where his iron shot turned up in a trap, and he required two shots to get on and another two to hole out, taking a six while George was sticking to a par four. It was Burke's first 6 in his last 218 holes of play.

They took threes on the 146 yard third, but Burke was only two down after the long fourth. Both drove

YOUTHS CATCH 2 MEN FLEEING AN ARSON BLAZE

Two men, fleeing from their fur dressing and dyeing company store at 1820 Webster avenue after it had burst into fire, were caught by four youths last night, and one of them held for police. The other was arrested later.

The prisoners are Bernard Gelbart, 2114 North Kedzie avenue, and Sam Tarre, 701 South Lawndale avenue, proprietors of the Standard Fur Dressing and Dyeing company. Tarre's shoes were scorched, and Gelbart's face was singed. The damage to the store was approximately $10,000. The business is insured for $14,000.

About 9 o'clock Tarre and Gelbart were seen running from the shop by Al Kempinski, 1812 Hervey street; Stanley Nega, 1824 Hervey street; Edward Stoinski, 2034 Gerard street, and Frank Szelagewski, 2039 North Wood street. The boys caught both men. The latter, it is alleged, offered $100 to be released. Tarre was let go, but Gelbart was held. Police came and nabbed him. Firemen also arrived. As the latter entered the burning store, an explosion jolted them, but no one was hurt.

Quantities of benzene and gasoline were found in the fur dressing shop by investigators from the office of Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan.

WOMAN, 68, SHOT 8 TIMES; POLICE HUNT MARAUDER

Mrs. Mary Miraglia, 68 year old widow, was shot eight times and critically wounded early this morning in her home at 530 North Oakley boulevard. Although the police believed the shooting was done by a burglar, they investigated the theory that the bullets might have been intended for some one else in the building.

At St. Mary's hospital Mrs. Miraglia said she was awakened by a noise in her bedroom next to the rear porch of her apartment and found a man standing beside her bed with a flashlight in his hand. She screamed. The marauder emptied his pistol at her. Bullets struck her in the chin, chest, left arm, and abdomen.

Her son, Vincent Miraglia, 28 years old, a radio musician, and her daughter and son-in-law, Tessie and Andrew Cardello, were awakened by the shots and ran to her aid. Cardello said he found a porch screen removed and heard an automobile drive away.

10 U. S. Rum Chasing Boats Arrive Tomorrow

A fleet of ten 36 foot power boats belonging to the government, to be used in pursuing rum runners off the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, are expected to arrive in Chicago at noon tomorrow from Buffalo. After a brief stay in port here they are to be taken through the drainage canal and the Illinois river into the Mississippi and thence to New Orleans. The boats have a speed of twenty-four miles an hour. Capt. John O. Anderson, commander of the Chicago coast guard station, will be the fleet's pilot from Chicago to the gulf.

In three hours and 23 minutes yesterday, Coy Thompson of Louisville was indicted, tried, and sentenced to 100 years in prison for the murder of Policeman James Casey, who was shot to death a week ago today. An hour later he was being rushed to Joliet to begin his term after what was said to be the fastest action in the history of the Criminal court.

PHILIP J. FINNEGAN.

At 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning the evidence was presented to the grand jury. At 12:10 an indictment was returned before Judge Joseph Sabath, acting chief justice of the Criminal court. At 1:30 in the afternoon Thompson went on trial before Judge Philip J. Finnegan. At eight minutes after three o'clock he was found guilty and sentenced, and at five o'clock he was placed in an automobile to begin the trip to prison.

Waives Trial by Jury.

When arraigned before Judge Finnegan, Thompson pleaded not guilty and waived a jury trial. Testifying in his own behalf he said that he was intoxicated and could not remember shooting Policeman Casey, who attempted to arrest him for molesting a girl at East 43d street and the Illinois Central railroad tracks.

Witnesses who testified that they had seen Thompson shoot Policeman Casey were Bert Bobb, 4155 Lake Park avenue; Patrick Carroll, 4232 Oakenwald avenue; William L. Lane, 930 East 42d place; and George Duerr, 1019 East 42nd place.

Give Up Death Penalty.

To speed the trial, Assistant State's Attorneys Mal Coghlan and Leslie Curtis refrained from asking the death penalty. Together with the sentence of 100 years, Judge Finnegan provided that each year on June 30, the anniversary of the murder, Thompson be placed in solitary confinement for 24 hours.

Policeman Casey was 34 years old and lived at 4463 Lake Park avenue.

FRENCH STEAMER AND FREIGHTER CRASH IN FOG

New York, July 7 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The Radio Marine corporation reported early today that the Italian steamer Carmia collided with the French liner France near Ambrose light at 12:30 a. m. during a heavy fog.

The Carmia, inbound for New York, radioed it would remain anchored until the fog lifts. No extent of the damage was given.

The France wirelessed it would continue its eastward trip. The Carmia refused assistance.

The navy reported that the Carmia, a freighter, received a hole in her port side. Her master radioed that no one was hurt and he would proceed to quarantine when the fog lifted. She left Palermo, Italy, on June 18. The France sailed Monday night.

DISCOVERS HE WAS SHOT ON THE FOURTH OF JULY

Matthias Stieren, 36 years old, 4901 North Lincoln street, discovered yesterday that he had been shot and wounded on the 4th of July. He remembered last night that he thought something had struck him, but he paid no attention to it at the time. Yesterday he awoke with a severe headache and late in the afternoon summoned a physician. He was taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital last night and there a bullet was found in the fleshy part of his neck. It was removed and Stieren, it was said, will recover.

HOOVER "GLADLY" ANNOUNCES DEBT HOLIDAY IS ON

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—(Special.)—Following is the official statement from President Hoover announcing the Franco-American agreement on the debts proposal:

"I am glad to announce that the American proposal for one year's postponement of all intergovernmental debts and reparations has now been accepted in principle by all of the important creditor governments. The terms of acceptance by the French government are, of course, subject to the approval of the other interested powers, for whom the American government naturally cannot speak.

"Without going into technical terms, while certain payments are made by Germany for reparations account, the substance of the President's proposal is retained, as the sums so paid are immediately reloaned to Germany.

"The technical difficulties arising from many complicated international agreements, which involve the aggregate payment between governments of over 800 million dollars per annum, are now in the course of solution by the good will and earnest coöperation of governmental leaders everywhere.

"The American part of the plan is, of course, subject to the approval by congress, but I have received the individual assurances of support from a very large majority of the members of both senate and house, irrespective of political affiliations.

"The acceptance of this proposal has meant sacrifices by the American people and by the former allied governments, who are, with all others, suffering from world-wide depression and deficits in governmental budgets.

"The economic load most seriously oppressing the peoples of Germany and central Europe will be immediately lightened.

"While the plan is particularly aimed to economic relief, yet economic relief means the swinging of men's minds from fear to confidence, the swinging of nations from the apprehension of disorder and governmental collapse to hope and confidence of the future. It means tangible aid to unemployment and agriculture.

"The almost unanimous support in the United States is again profound evidence of the sincere humanity of the American people. And, in this year, devoted to economic upbuilding the world has need of solemn thought on the causes which have contributed to the depression. I need not repeat that one of these causes is the burden imposed and the fears aroused by competitive armaments. Contemplation of the past few weeks should bring a realization that we must find relief from these fundamental burdens, which today amount to several times the amount of intergovernmental debts."

DAMON-PYTHIAS MONUMENT TO HONOR FRIEND

The ashes of Heinrich Steinkuhler, a chiropodist, who died on July 1, a victim of the heat wave, are to rest in Oakwoods cemetery with a monument of a Damon and Pythias design above them to commemorate his friendship with Fritz Neumann, chiropodist at 9206 Commercial avenue. This was assured yesterday in compliance with the dying wish of Steinkuhler when Public Administrator Harold O. Crews waived his right to administer the estate of $1,600 in favor of Neumann.

Neumann sought the estate under an agreement made with his friend in 1926, which provided that the first to die should receive the other's estate. Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Horner, refused to probate the agreement as a will and suggested that the administrator waive his rights in view of the 40 years' friendship of the two chiropodists. This friendship began in Germany, and continued through the war and their schooling here.

Neumann said he would use part of the fund to establish a scholarship at the Illinois College of Chiropody in memory of his friend.

LONDON STILL IS WORLD'S BIG CITY, CENSUS SHOWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—Women continue to lead the men in England as far as the population is concerned. The figures of the census taken in England and Wales in April, published today, show a surplus of more than 1,800,000 females in proportion to males, the highest discrepancy on record.

The total population is approximately 44,800,000, which is 2,000,000 more than in 1921.

Greater London continues to be the world's largest city, with a population of 8,202,818, having increased about 10 per cent over 1921. Greater New York's latest census showed 6,981,917 persons there.

U. S. ANNOUNCES A MORATORIUM AS PARIS YIELDS

800 Million Goes to Revive Business.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—(Special.)—Acceptance by France, in principle, of his proposal that all payments on German reparations and allied war debts be postponed for one year was announced by President Hoover late this afternoon.

With the acceptance by France, the President said, all the important creditor nations have accepted his moratorium plan, which may now be considered in effect as of the date of July 1.

800 Millions Deferred

Until July 1, 1932, payments aggregating 800 millions of dollars on war reparations by Germany and on war debts owed to Great Britain and the United States will be suspended.

The United States will forego the receipt of approximately 260 millions.

Beginning on July 1, 1933, the debtors will begin payment of the deferred reparations and war debts and will continue paying in installments over a period of ten years.

France Yields to U. S.

The announcement of the agreement was made possible when Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon telephoned Mr. Hoover this afternoon that the French government had yielded on the two matters remaining at issue.

The French agreed to loan back to Germany the reparations payments in kind, amounting to about 20 millions.

They further consented that the committee of experts which will work out the details of the moratorium shall be bound to make the adjustments "within the spirit" of the President's proposal, which contemplates the complete relief of Germany from all reparations payments for one year.

He's a Happy Hoover.

At 4:30 o'clock Mr. Hoover, who had denied himself to the press since he made his proposal two weeks ago, received the newspaper correspondents at the executive office with a beaming countenance and read them the announcement.

The President also had in his possession the text of a memorandum issued by the French government evidencing its acceptance in principle of the Hoover plan, but he withheld it because it was received by radiophone and perhaps was inexact.

It was sufficiently clear, however, to satisfy the President that the French had agreed to the major propositions and had consented to allow the minor matters to be adjusted by experts in accord with the principles of his proposal.

Disarming Next Step.

Mr. Hoover concluded his announcement by touching upon world disarmament, which he regards as the second feature of his program for world economic restoration. The first step is the moratorium.

One of the causes of the world-wide economic depression, Mr. Hoover said, "is the burden imposed and the fears aroused by competitive armament."

"Contemplation of the last few weeks," he added, "should bring a realization that we must find relief from these fundamental burdens, which today amount to several times the amount of inter-governmental debts."

This utterance is reminiscent of his pronouncement at the opening session of the International Chamber of Commerce last May, when he said that the lightening of burden of armament, on which the nations are spending more than 5 billions of dollars a year, would do more than any other one thing to accomplish world economic restoration.

He'll Lead the Movement.

"The President now intends to bring all the influence of the United States to bear upon the European powers to induce them to provide for a progressive reduction of armaments at the disarmament conference which the league of nations has called to meet next February.

As a reward for reducing armaments, the President is, in effect, holding out to Europe the possibility of a reopening of the war debt settlements by the United States and a scaling down of the 11 billions of dollars of obligations to an amount that the European powers may be judged to possess the capacity to pay.

In the original announcement of his moratorium proposal, Mr. Hoover said that he does "not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us," and then he added: "But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world.

Urges Broad View.

"I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our government should recognize that situation as it exists."

He also said that although the moratorium offer had no bearing on the approaching disarmament conference, he hoped that, inasmuch as the cost of armaments had helped to create the depression, the United States, by this evidence of a "desire to assist," shall have "contributed to the good will which is so necessary in the solution of this major question."

As Mr. Hoover is understood to view the matter, the European debtors cannot expect the United States to reopen the debt settlements if they fail to undertake disarmament. They could not plead incapacity to pay so long as they continued to expend huge amounts on armies and navies.

On the Other Hand.

"But if they cut down their expenditures on armament and then come into court asking a reduction of the war debts on the ground of incapacity to pay, the American people, as Mr. Hoover sees it, would be disposed to listen sympathetically. It is to reconnoiter the disarmament situation that Mr. Hoover has sent Secretary of State Stimson to Europe to sound out the chancelleries of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany during the summer.

He is to find out what the prospect is of the adoption of a disarmament program next year and is to communicate the President's views, from which the European statesmen will learn the terms on which they can look forward to a reopening of the war debt settlements, if Mr. Hoover has his way in the matter—and succeeds in getting himself reëlected next year.

The Moratorium Compromise.

The agreement on the moratorium plan represents a compromise between the President and the French government. Each yielded considerable ground before agreement was reached.

What the President originally contemplated was a simple postponement of the payments on reparations and war debts during this fiscal year until the end of the 62 year period provided for the funding. France would not agree to this. She was willing only to allow suspension of the conditional reparations, the French share of which about equaled what France would pay Great Britain and the United States.

But she insisted that the unconditional reparations must be deposited in the international bank, as usual, after which they might be reloaned to Germany. The President consented to that modification, inasmuch as it would mean that Germany would get back as loans what she had paid in reparations. Until today, however, France held out for the retention of 20 millions of payments in kind on current contracts, which would be in her hands instead of the world bank's.

Mr. Hoover insisted that this amount should be reloaned to Germany, and France, according to the administration announcement, finally yielded. Thus France complied with the spirit of the Hoover proposal, which was that Germany should not be deprived of any of the money that would be due on reparations.

Mr. Hoover was compelled, in order to get an agreement, to go all the way over to the French terms on repayment of the deferred debts. Instead of 60 years, or the 25 years he later came down to, the repayment period is fixed at 10 years and begins, as France insisted, one year after the end of the moratorium.

Here's Text of Franco-U. S. Agreement on Moratorium

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—The text of the war debt moratorium accord, approved today by France and the United States, was given out tonight by the French government. It follows:

"After exchanges of views the French government states that it is in agreement with the United States on the essential principle of President Hoover's proposal and on the following propositions which may be expressed thus:

"1. The payment of intergovernmental debts is postponed from July 1, 1931, to June 30, 1932.

"2. However, the reich will pay the amount of the unconditional annuity.

To Go Back to Railroads.

"The French government agrees, in so far as it is concerned, that the payments thus made by the reich shall be placed by the Bank for International Settlements in bonds guaranteed by the German railroads.

"3. The suspended payments shall be subject to interest in accordance with the conditions suggested by the American government, payable in ten annual installments beginning with July 1, 1933.

"4. The same conditions shall apply to the bonds to be issued by the German railways.

On the three points which it is recognized do not concern the United States government, the French government makes the following declaration:

"Concerted action by the principal central banks, through the intermediary of the Bank for International Settlements, shall be organised for the benefit of European countries which find themselves particularly affected by the proposed suspension of payments.

Requires an Understanding.

"A previous understanding must be arrived at between France and the World Bank for International Settlements so that France will only be called upon to complete the guarantee fund provided for in the case of a moratorium under the Young plan by monthly payments equal to the needs of the world bank and as a result of payments effectively transferred by Germany.

"Concerning payments in kind, the various technical adjustments necessitated by the application of the American proposal and the present accord shall be studied by a committee of experts named by the powers interested, which shall reconcile the exigencies of existing conditions with the spirit of President Hoover's proposal.

"France reserves the right to ask the German government for indispensable assurances touching upon the use to exclusively economic ends of the sums by which the reich's budget will be lightened."

STIMSON IN ITALY TODAY; WILL SEE DUCE THURSDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 6.—American Ambassador Garrett left Rome today for Naples to meet Secretary of State Stimson, who is due there at dawn tomorrow on the S.S. Conte Grande to begin a two months' vacation, as well as an investigation of European conditions. Mr. and Mrs. Stimson spent today at Palermo, Sicily. Mr. Stimson will spend tomorrow and Wednesday visiting Pompeii and Herculaneum, coming on to Rome Wednesday evening by automobile.

GERMANS ASSAIL FRANCE; CHARGE PLAN IS WRECKED

Press Says Compromise "Perverts" Scheme.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 7.—[Tuesday].—"For twelve days the French haggled until they succeeded in perverting the principles of the Hoover proposal and obtained the possibility of hoarding new treasures for themselves at the expense of all other nations compelled to deal with them."

The Lokal-Anzeiger, one of Germany's biggest newspapers, made this declaration this morning in commenting on the compromise reached between the United States and France on the Hoover moratorium plan.

"Plan Cannot Succeed."

"The compromise is an absolute failure by President Hoover, whose plan cannot succeed after the fetters tied to it by the French in Paris," says Der Tag. "President Hoover's final acceptance of the French conditions is an absolute retreat and Germany remains in danger of her life from her neighbor."

Foreign Minister Curtius in commenting on the accord, praised Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"What Mr. Mellon did was grandiose," he said. "To think that this fine old gentleman came to Europe expecting to spend most of his time with his son and instead plunged into the intricacies of these discussions is simply great. I am very happy this test of nerves is over."

Curtius Praises Mellon.

Meanwhile, the "Young German Order," which formerly worked enthusiastically for a Franco-German rapprochement, yesterday issued an order to its followers to withdraw from all Franco-German associations and to recall their children whom they sent to France for vacations, "because France has showed a mercenary spirit and unwillingness to cooperate for a return of sane conditions throughout the world."

Charge France Backs Bank Run.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 6.—That the run on the Reichsbank's reserves and foreign exchange, which, for weeks, has been gravely disturbing Germany's economic life and today once more assumed alarming dimensions, is deliberately being engineered by France with the purpose of exacting political concessions from Germany, was openly charged here today by leading bankers.

Well informed financial circles and even Reichsbank officials, lately, have made no secret of their suspicion that France caused the exchange drain, but today's charge is not based upon mere rumors.

Paris representatives of leading Berlin banks had advised their headquarters Saturday that French creditors would stage a new attack upon the Reichsbank reserves on Monday, and today the demand for exchange promptly soared up to about $20,000,000.

It is pointed out the same thing happened in the spring of 1929 during the Young plan negotiations, when their progress was truly reflected by withdrawals of French funds from Germany.

DID PARIS LISTEN IN ON MELLON'S TALKS TO U. S.?

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 6.—Once more the trans-Atlantic telephone played a decisive rôle in today's debt moratorium negotiations. Secretary Mellon has been burning up about $1,000 a day in tolls conferring with Washington.

These conversations have been carried out by wireless telephone through London. Naturally it was impossible to insure that no one was listening in at the French ministry of communication, through which the calls were routed.

One French newspaper man remarked: "If the government is not listening in to these conversations, then there is no government of France."

WHAT MORATORIUM DOES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—The moratorium agreement announced by President Hoover provides that debtor governments shall be relieved of payments due between July 1, 1931, and July 1, 1932, aggregating approximately 800 millions of dollars.

Germany will be relieved of reparations payments to the former allied and associated governments totaling nearly 400 millions of dollars.

Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, and other debtors will be relieved of war debt payments approximating 400 millions.

The greatest sacrifice will be made by the United States, which will forego war debt receipts totaling 260 millions.

Ten Years to Repay.

Beginning July 1, 1933, the deferred reparations and war debt payments will be paid in installments during a ten year period, in addition to the regular current payments.

Payment by Germany of conditional reparations totaling 243 millions will be unreservedly suspended. Germany will be required, however, to pay the unconditional reparations, amounting to $130,600,000, with the understanding that this amount in full will be loaned back to Germany.

A loan of about 25 millions will be made to Central European countries if necessary by the federal reserve banks of the United States and European central banks.

All technical questions will be settled by a committee of treasury experts representing the interested powers, with the understanding that all adjustments are made "within the spirit" of President Hoover's proposal to suspend all payments for one year.

The question of the obligation of France to guarantee other creditors a share of the unconditional reparations if Germany should declare a Young plan moratorium after the close of the Hoover moratorium is referred to the signatories of the Young plan, to which the United States is not a party.

WESTERN JUDGE SAYS HE FAVORS DRY REFERENDUM

Los Angeles, Cal., July 6.—[Special.]—Widespread comment was aroused today through southern California, notoriously "dry," over the frank statement of Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick, its representative on the Wickersham crime commission, that he favored a popular referendum to reveal the real views of the people of the nation on the prohibition issue.

Judge McCormick, who returned yesterday from Washington after attending the concluding sessions of the crime commission, indicated he was not satisfied with the results from transferring prohibition enforcement to the department of justice under the reorganization act of last year and declared that if this ineffectiveness of indorsement continues it indicates, in his belief, that the prohibition law cannot be enforced "as a national mandate."

LOAN REICHSBANK $50,000,000 MORE TO HOLD UP MARK

New York, July 6.—(AP)—The International Acceptance bank announced today that a $50,000,000 credit, which was originally made available to the Gold Discount Bank of Berlin in 1924, is about to be used by the Reichsbank, which now owns the discount bank. The credit was granted by a syndicate headed by the International Acceptance bank, and has been available since 1924, although unused.

This would be in addition to the $100,000,000 credit extended by the federal reserve in coöperation with European central banks to tide the Reichsbank over the midyear settlement period. This $100,000,000 credit expires on July 16, and Wall street feels that it may be extended.

Wall street bankers are concerned over the continued withdrawals of funds from Berlin. Today's additional withdrawals amounted to about $14,000,000. Weakness of German exchange on New York, along with strength of Holland, Belgian, and Swiss exchange, presumably indicated a flow of funds from Berlin to those countries.

Try This NEW Ginger Ale That "Outsparkles" All Other Ginger Ales

Cloverdale Ginger Ale 12 Full Pint Bottles $1.89

By actual test, Cloverdale outsparkles all others. The reason's simple. In order to thoroughly carbonate water it must first be made air-free. The more air-free it is, the more thoroughly may it be carbonated. Cloverdale ginger ale is blended with Lithia water that's been made air-free—2,000 feet down in the earth, by nature—more thoroughly de-areated than if done by machinery—Nature's secret. Thus, the sparkle lasts longer—also the zestful, gingery flavor—for when the sparkle's gone, the flavor's gone. These bottles hold 4 ounces more than the ordinary size bottles. And what a delightful thirst-quencher!

OPEN SCRATCHES AND MORATORIUM IS PUT IN EFFECT

Mellon and Edge Sign Pact for U. S.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 6.—In seven different strokes, each characterized by illegibility which psychologists say is an unconscious effort to escape responsibility for acts consciously performed, four statesmen—two Americans and two Frenchmen—at 10:30 tonight formally appended their initials to an accord setting up the first international debt holiday in history.

For seventeen days these gentlemen have been worriedly discussing the possible consequences of their contemplated action, and at 8 o'clock this afternoon it looked as if they were as far away as ever from taking the plunge. President Hoover had just thrown cold water on France's demand for additional life preservers. A deadlock seemed inevitable.

Mellon and Edge Stand Firm.

The American negotiators, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Ambassador Walter E. Edge, stood firm on their last line of defense. They pointed out that if an agreement was not reached quickly it would have post mortem interest so far as Germany is concerned.

The French wavered. Maybe they were genuinely alarmed at the sinister rumbles from across the Rhine. Maybe they thought that France had already gotten enough bones out of the soup. Maybe they were personally aghast at the possibility of interminable sessions looming before them.

At any rate, they gave in unconditionally on the only point on which they had not already got at least an even break—cessation of deliveries in kind. It was all over then except for wrapping the French acceptance up in tri-colored paper so that no one could mistake where the good news was coming from.

Satisfactory to Both Sides.

The accord is an ideal one from a diplomatic standpoint. It looks like President Hoover's original proposition to the Americans, and like France's counter proposition to the French.

Resemblance to the original Hoover proposition is confined chiefly to the fact that Germany does not have to pay any international debts for a year—which is a pretty important resemblance.

On the other hand, it calls for the moral support of the signatories in getting a private loan for France's central European friends, and lays upon Germany moral responsibility for not using her moratorium savings in armaments.

Germany Gets Loan.

Likewise, France's right to receive unconditional payments under all conditions is affirmed by making Germany complete all scheduled payments and at the same time the Reich is protected from loss by the pledge that France will return the payments—exceptionally and for this year only—as a loan to the state railways.

The real points of difficulty were solved by passing the buck to subsequent conferences of experts. There is no assurance that the possible failure of these future negotiations will not wreck the plan, but the fact that any single country which throws a monkey wrench in the machinery will carry the whole responsibility for Germany's collapse is considered sufficient practical safeguard against such an eventuality.

The squabble over the $125,000,000 guarantee fund which France will have to put up in case Germany cannot resume payments and asks another moratorium next year under the terms of the Young plan, was solved by leaving it to negotiations between the Young plan signatories and the world bank.

France to Deposit Fund.

This point was further simplified by an offer by France to deposit the guaranty providing she is allowed to do so in monthly installments, conditioned upon corresponding payments into the Bank of International Settlements by Germany.

The problem of how the moratorium can be applied to deliveries in kind was met by referring it to a committee of experts, who will have free hand in reconciling practical necessities with the spirit of the Hoover plan.

Regarding the question of political guarantees, France abandons her pretensions to any direct committment by the United States in this respect. She contents herself with America's moral support and reserves the right to ask more tangible assurances directly from Germany.

A Busy Day in Paris.

The signing of the accord was the climax of the stiffest day the negotiators have put in yet. The conversation started at 3 p. m. in the ministry of the interior after the French government received from Washington a memorandum turning down the French counter proposals of last Saturday.

For an hour and a quarter the seven negotiators argued back and forth, seeking a formula by which Germany would not lose the $35,000,000 represented by payments in kind and yet France would get it. Naturally there was no way of doing this, and finally the French began to waver.

At 4:34 it was decided that there was no use talking further and that the whole question would have to be made or broken on that point. Premier Laval called the cabinet into session. Things did not look very bright then. They looked darker than ever when the meeting dragged on.

A Ray of Hope.

At 7 o'clock, when the Franco-American conversations were scheduled to resume, the cabinet meeting was still going on. Finally the cars of the cabinet members raced up and the Frenchmen rushed into the building. This conversation only lasted about an hour and the Americans came out jubilant, jumping into their cars. Premier Laval announced that recess had been declared until 9:30 to give Mr. Mellon a chance to telephone to President Hoover the text of an accord which had been hastily drawn up at the cabinet meeting.

Mr. Mellon spent practically the whole recess period on the telephone, as the connection was bad, owing to a storm. He did not get back to the ministry of interior until 10 o'clock. There was no doubt then what President Hoover's answer was. Even Mellon's usual poker face was a dead giveaway.

Agreement Is Announced.

A half hour later the doors opened and newspaper men rushed into M. Laval's private office. He read off a communique announcing that an accord had been reached telling how France on the one hand had made great sacrifices in the cause of international coöperation and, on the other hand, had not allowed its sacred rights to be infringed upon.

After a few minutes the newspaper men were admitted to the adjoining conference room, where the American negotiators were standing around. This is a long, high ceilinged salon with enormous glittering crystal and gilt chandeliers, red carpet, ornate Louis XVI chairs, big mirrors and fine Gobelin tapestries.

The long conference table was littered with pads, pencils, ink stands and scraps of paper decorated with fanciful abstractions such as loops, bars, pentagons, circles and triangles put down by the conferées in moments of deep thought.

Mellon Makes Statement.

After greeting the American press, Mr. Mellon, who looked tired but satisfied, said:

"I am glad to see you because we have something you and your readers will be glad to hear."

He then offered a statement, the gist of which was that he had found the intercourse with his French colleagues "pleasant and congenial"—he might have added strenuous—and that he had been confident of the accord throughout the negotiations, which was probably a slight exaggeration demanded by diplomatic politeness.

Now that the Franco-American negotiations are completed, another series of wrangles among the Young plan signatories are foreseen before all the problems raised by the Hoover proposal are settled, but it does not look as if they are serious and will endanger the operation of the moratorium.

MOVABLE RESTAURANT SUFFERS IN RIOT OF PEANUT DISPENSERS

Disagreements between rival sets of peanut venders spread last night to a crowd of orators and listeners who frequent Washington square, also known as Bughouse square, in front of the Newberry library at 60 West Walton street. The result was a riot in which a sandwich wagon was overturned and its stock of eatables seized.

Samuel Saropian, 1511 North Wells street, owner of the wagon, has a license to do business there. Three times last night he called the police, protesting that unlicensed peanut merchants were taking his trade. The unauthorized venders were driven away on each occasion.

After the third appearance and departure of the police the crowd, angered at the interruption to the speeches, charged on the wagon and hustled Saropian and his assistant out of it. Then the rioters gathered up the peanuts, the sandwiches and the bottles of pop which had fallen out when the movable store was tipped over and consumed them. The next visit of the police found everything quiet and no arrests were made.

AURORA TO DROP 'NO SPEED LIMIT' AUTO ORDINANCE

The traffic ordinance which sets no maximum speed limit in Aurora, and which permits drivers to exercise their own judgment as to what constitutes safe speed, is on the road to repeal.

At a hearing yesterday the Aurora city council advised Corporation Counsel Merritt Little to draft a new regulation to be used in place of the "no speed limit" law. Indications are that the new ordinance will fix a maximum speed of 25 miles an hour in Aurora.

Opposition to the "no speed limit" ordinance, which has been in effect a year, came from various quarters. According to Frank Biever, commissioner of streets, it encouraged speeding and reckless driving. Members of the city council said that had the state legislature enacted a law requiring licenses for automobile drivers, there might have existed no necessity for a repeal of the present ordinance.

LEVEL OF LAKES RISES DURING MONTH OF JUNE

The level of the great lakes rose during June, according to the monthly lake report prepared by Horace P. Raimey, assistant chief engineer of the sanitary district. The rise in the Michigan-Huron level was 0.06 of a foot, which is about one-fourth of the average June rise. According to Mr. Raimey, the small increase in the level during June was due to holding water in Lake Superior at the Sault Ste. Marie controling stations and the diversion of water in Lake Erie through Canadian power plants around Niagara falls. Since 1860 the normal rise in the two lakes has been 0.22 of a foot. The June stage was 579.18 feet.

Lake Ontorio rose 0.30 of a foot, which is double the normal increase in June. Lake Superior, with a rise of 0.24 of a foot, and Lake Erie, with 0.13 of a foot, were normal for the month.

CURTIS HOTEL STORY CAUSES $500,000 SUIT

Action Brought by Bond Company Official.

Suit for $500,000, charging libel, was filed in the federal District court here yesterday against E. Haldeman-Julius, a publisher in Girard, Kas., on behalf of Harold A. Moore, vice president of the American Bond and Mortgage company.

The declaration alleges that the name of Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, was linked "in a defamatory manner" with the bond company's financing of the Mayflower hotel at Washington, in which Mr. Curtis occupies a ten room suite.

Basis of the Suit.

The bill states that Haldeman-Julius caused to be published in his American Freeman, on May 9, 1931, the following query concerning the Vice President, the bond company, and the Mayflower hotel:

"Is it because the honorable Mr. Curtis, as senator and while occupying the dignified office that he now holds, has rendered valuable personal and political aid to these bond grafters of which William J. Moore and his sons in control of this Mayflower hotel are heads?"

The declaration further quotes from the publication charges allegedly made by Haldeman-Julius that the Moores enriched themselves at the expense of the bondholders in the financing of the hotel.

Denies Knowing Curtis.

These charges are denied in the suit, and the bill states that as a matter of fact neither William J. Moore nor any of his sons, including the plaintiff, ever knew Vice President Curtis nor had any dealings with him.

Another paragraph quoted from the publication said in part:

"For one of the favorite methods of this cheating gang, so friendly and so suspiciously generous with Vice President Curtis, has been to deal in mortgages on property about to be condemned."

Another item quoted charged the bond company with foreclosing a $1,500,000 mortgage on the Libby hotel, New York, and with cheating 3,000 New York east siders out of their investments. These charges and others concerning the financing of various hotels are denied in the declaration.

Ask Curtis About Suite.

Considerable publicity followed the original publication of Haldeman-Julius accusations concerning Mr. Curtis' suite, and the latter's answer to interrogators was that what he paid was his own business. The hotel management stated that he paid "more than $5.50 a day."

A receiver was appointed for the American Bond and Mortgage company in federal court on May 22, following the filing of equity proceedings, and involuntary bankruptcy proceedings, alleging insolvency, were filed at the same time. The affairs of the company are being investigated by federal postal inspectors.

Child Dies from Eating Fireworks, Another Ill

BISHOP MANNING TOLD BY DOCTORS NOT TO GO TO CHURCH SESSION

New York, July 6.—(AP)—It was announced at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine today that Bishop William T. Manning has been ordered by his physicians not to attend the meeting of the general convention of the Episcopal church at Denver in September, and to spend the summer quietly.

On June 12, Bishop Manning celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday and the beginning of his eleventh year as head of the diocese of New York. He has not been well for months. He will spend the summer at his home on Mount Desert Island, Me., and will return to his diocese in October.

Boat, Liquor, Three Men Seized by Coast Guard

Salisbury, Md., July 6—(AP)—A 75 foot boat loaded with more than 400 cases of liquor and 98 barrels of malt was seized and three men arrested by coast guardsmen near here last night. The craft is the Norma of Baltimore.

ALLEGED TERROR VICTIM AND UNION OFFICIALS CONFER

Under the observation of the state's attorney's office, union officials met last night with Harold W. Klehm, Niles Center cleaner and dyer, who, it is charged, has been the object of terroristic tactics because of his operation of an open shop.

Klehm asserted that three of his drivers were kidnaped Wednesday, and that patrons were frightened away from his shop. The labor officials asserted Klehm, while maintaining an open shop, enjoyed the benefit of union prices without aiding the union organizations. They denied his terroristic accusations. They proposed to him to unionize his workers.

Those present at the conference were Benjamin Alberts, president of the Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers union; James Gorman, president of the Tailors union, and George Frank and Mortimer Cook, business agents of the Laundry and Dye House Drivers union. Directing the meeting were Assistant State's Attorney Charles B. Lounsbury and Donald C. Thompson, of the racket bureau. They warned against terrorism, and advised Klehm to take whatever time he wanted to consider the labor officials' proposal.

18 STITCHES IN HEAD; ALL FROM WEDDING PARTY

Mr. Keane Explains It to the Police.

After hours of argument, A. J. Keane of 5920 South Fairfield avenue convinced the skeptical police of the detective bureau early last evening that eighteen stitches in the scalp of one friend and a knot like an egg on the forehead of another only prove that the friends have been wedding guests recently.

Accordingly, Michael Johnston, 19 years old, 4656 South Union avenue, the possessor of the stitched scalp, and John Lynch, 20 years old, 3756 Emerald avenue, custodian of the egglike knot, were booked on minor charges and admitted to bail. The skeptical police had been holding them since early Sunday morning.

Two Hosts at Party.

Mr. Keane was one of the hosts at a wedding party Saturday. The other host was Michael O'Neil, 25 years old, a clerk in the office of the city controller. The event was held in the home of Mr. O'Neil's bride, the former Mary O'Shea of 6535 South Peoria street.

"Mike and me fixed up a double wedding," said Mr. Keane, "but I got cold feet. I went down to Crown Point last Wednesday and got married to Anna Harper. Mike was pretty mad about that and I had to tell him why I ran out on the church wedding. I was afraid to ride in the pig cart.

"Out in our neighborhood, when a couple gets married, all their silly friends put 'em in a wagon that they haul pigs in around the stockyards and they hitch up a couple of goats to it and you get hauled through the streets that way.

Put in Pig Cart.

"Mickey O'Neil called me some names and said he wasn't afraid to ride in the pig cart. So we all went to St. Mary of Solace church to see Mickey and Mary married and when it was over they put them into the cart. It hadn't been cleaned since the pigs were in it and Mickey tore his pants getting in, so I was right.

"But the party at Mary's house was a double party and I was the bartender. I opened more than 200 cases of beverage—don't ask me what kind—and there were 200 guests there all the time from noon till 3 in the morning. One of the guests was Ald. Tommy O'Grady.

Auto Runs Into A Post.

"Nobody enjoyed the party more than Mike Johnston. About midnight he got sleepy and went out and crawled in a car. While he was asleep somebody else drove away with the car. Whoever it was hit a post in a viaduct at 59th and Green streets and when a policeman got there the driver was running and poor Mike with his head all cut was left. So this policeman took Mike to a hospital and then to the detective bureau.

"They found out that the car was stolen and this policeman—his name was Edward Waller—came to our party to get the fellow that was with Mike. Johnny Lynch had the biggest knot on his head, so Waller figured he was the driver and arrested him. It was all a mistake."

"But where did Lynch get the crack on his head?" asked a policeman.

"He got it at the wedding party," replied Mr. Keane. "He told me so himself."

Kansas City, Mo., July 6.—(AP)—J. Victor Schultz, attorney for Paul G. Webb, administrator for the estate of John G. Bennett, said today that Mrs. Myrtle Bennett, acquitted for the slaying of her husband in a bridge game quarrel, and the collateral heirs of her husband had agreed to a division of Bennett's estate.

Schultz said that with $25,000 in life insurance, Bennett's estate totaled $35,000. Probate Judge J. E. Quinotte signed an order permitting Webb to withdraw two suits he had filed contesting Mrs. Bennett's claim to the insurance.

The attorney did not reveal how the estate is to be divided.

Bomb Damages New Shoe Repair Shop on West Side

Damage estimated at $500 was done by a bomb which exploded early this morning at the front entrance of a new shoe repair shop at 4345 Madison street. The blast was heard as far west as Oak Park. Louis Damolaris, 4814 Congress street, and Gus Pappas, 1351 Van Buren street, owners of the shop, told Sergt. Adolph Loefler that their employés were nonunion. They knew of no reason for the blast, they said. The shop was opened ten days ago.

Accused of participation in the bombing of the Cornelia hand laundry at 748 Cornelia avenue on the morning of July 4, Joseph Chaliff of 755 Cornelia avenue was arrested last night on a charge of malicious mischief.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES AND THEIR BOMB MYSTERY

In Which a Copper Turns Surveyor's Helper.

Along about page 275 of the mystery novel, the super-criminologist turns to the properly abashed detective sergeant, flicks the ashes from his Turkish cigaret, and says airily:

"There is your solution, Flanagan. Call in the press boys and take all the credit. And leave me out of it, please."

There was much of this polite scraping and bowing between the leaders of the Chicago and Evanston police departments Sunday and yesterday before the Howard street terminal bombing was solved.

At an early hour Sunday morning, an explosion occurred in the terminal yards of the Chicago Rapid Transit company at Howard street, which is the dividing line between Evanston and Chicago. Three bombs, only one of which exploded, had been placed on a switch track in the yards.

Inquiry Lags at First.

The calm of the Sabbath morn was not disturbed by a too intensive investigation, a few ordinary patrolmen from both Evanston and Chicago being left in charge. But in the middle of the afternoon, Chief of Detectives John Norton and Deputy Chief Lawrence Rafferty, comfortably relaxed in the chief's office with good Sunday dinners beneath their belts, undertook a discussion of the day's crime problems.

"I hear there was an explosion out in the Howard street yards," remarked Chief Norton.

"Probably just some boys having a little fun with fireworks," returned Deputy Chief Rafferty. "Let the Evanston police have it. It's on their side of the line."

The matter was dropped until a runner arrived with a report that the explosion was in fact a bombing and that windows had been shattered two blocks away.

"And the Evanston police won't take it. They say it's in Chicago," said the runner.

A Suspect Is Arrested.

It may have been that officials of both departments were were reflecting that the investigation of a bombing is usually a thankless affair with the probabilities 100 to 1 that it will finally be listed as "unsolved." Neither Chief Norton nor Deputy Chief Rafferty voiced this thought but they were formulating a haughty ultimatum to be sent to Chief William O. Freeman of Evanston when another runner arrived with the report that the industrious patrolmen on the case had arrested a suspect and had apparently solved the mystery.

"This is a big case and the Chicago police department will handle it," Chief Norton announced a short time later.

John Graff, school engineer and owner of the thirty-eight apartment building adjacent to the terminal, was the suspect in custody.

Yard Foreman's Story.

The policemen assigned to the case had questioned witnesses and found Joseph Kellar, yard foreman, who said he noticed Graff standing on his back porch, fully clothed despite the early hour of the morning.

"Don't go over there. There might be a couple more," Graff yelled at Kellar after the bomb exploded, according to Kellar.

The patrolmen also ascertained that Graff had complained to the railroad that the noise of switch trains had lost him many tenants. Lead pipes similar to the ones used in making the bombs had been found in Graff's basement.

Evanston Takes A Hand.

The Evanston police department also assumed jurisdiction in the case with these new developments and there was a joint investigation for several hours yesterday morning.

But Graff persisted stoutly that he knew nothing of the bombing. Once again from the detective bureau came word that the bombing was in Evanston and the Evanston police could have it.

It remained for Lieut. Carl Ekman of the Evanston police to solve the situation with a brilliant coup. Lieut. Ekman procured a city engineer and surveyor's instruments. They repaired to the scene of the crime. The engineer sighted through his instruments. He made calculations and then reported to the lieutenant.

The latter went gleefully to his chief.

"The bombing took place 175 feet 6½ inches inside the city limits of Chicago," he declared. There was joy in old Evanston.

And Lo, a Confession.

The heads of the Chicago department opined that Lieut. Ekman's actions had not been quite cricket. But in the midst of their depression, a runner brought happy news. Lieut. Frank Johnson of the detective bureau, an ordinary working lieutenant who had not participated in the fuss about jurisdiction, obtained from Graff a confession that he had placed the bombs in the yard. He was irritated, he said, by the noise made by the switching of trains in the yards.

Late last night, there was a report that the Evanston department would make a new survey. Perhaps, after all, it was admitted, the bombing might have taken place in Evanston and if so, Evanston should have the credit for the solution.

AIRPLANE IS USED TO RUSH TWO SLAYERS TO MICHIGAN PRISON

Marquette, Mich., July 6.—[Special.]—Ted Pizzino and Angelo Livecchi, convicted in Detroit of the murder, July 3, 1930, of William Cannon, suspected Chicago dope peddler, at noon began serving life sentences in the Marquette branch prison.

Pizzino and Livecchi were brought to the Eagle Mills airport, 10 miles from Marquette, in a Ford tri-motored passenger plane, and were accompanied by several Wayne county officers.

Cannon, with George Collins, was killed in an automobile parked near the Adelaide street entrance of the La Salle hotel. Livecchi and Pizzino with Joe Bommartito were acquitted of the murder of Jerry Buckley, popular WMBC radio announcer, in the lobby of the La Salle about one week after Collins and Cannon were killed.

LOST SHOW GIRL KIDNAPED, HER FATHER BELIEVES

Evelyn Wilson, show girl, who disappeared in New York early Sunday morning, might have been kidnaped by a jealous suitor, according to a theory advanced yesterday by her father, Harry Wilson of 811 Clark street, Evanston, an employé of the Evanston postoffice.

Mr. Wilson said his daughter wrote to him frequently while on tour, and in a recent letter told of a Californian who, she said, wanted to marry her. Although she loved him, she wrote, she refused. Mr. Wilson believes the suitor may have taken her away forcibly and that they now might be married. He doubts she ended her life.

Miss Wilson is 23 years old. Early Sunday she left a New York party to purchase somb tablets at a drug store near West 106th street. She was not seen again. Her purse was found in a gutter. New York police had uncovered no clews to Miss Wilson's disappearance last night. Extra men were assigned to the case by Inspector Francis J. Kear.

Robber in Second Holdup Points to Previous Error

A man walked into the Lakeridge hotel, 4665 Lake Park avenue, early yesterday and called the attention of the clerk, M. W. Heller, to a five weeks' old newspaper clipping which stated that the establishment had been robbed of $200. The man reminded the clerk that he had taken only $50 on that occasion. The clerk expresed regret for the error and again handed over the contents of the cash drawer—$15 this time.

JUDGE SCHILLER'S ICE MAN FACES HIM IN SHORT WEIGHT CASE

Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller's own ice man appeared before him yesterday, charged with giving short weight, when City Sealer Grein appeared in the court to present evidence against short weight violators.

The ice man, Harry Wagner of 4741 North Kedzie avenue, was charged with being 16 pounds short on a piece of ice sold as 100 pounds. He obtained a continuance until July 13, promising to bring in the housewife to whom he made the delivery to back his assertion that he charged her for only 75 pounds.

Mexican Bishop Fights Law; Bans Festivities

MEXICO CITY, July 6.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Rafael Guizar, bishop of Vera Cruz, has instructed Catholics in that state to abstain from attending dances, theaters, and similar festivities until the conflict between the church and the state over the recently enacted law limiting the number of priests to eleven is ended. The bishop also has instructed his priests to keep their churches open, even if the state forbids services conducted by priests.

What Husbands Want Most IN THE MAYONNAISE YOU SERVE

GOODNIGHT, EDNA, AND THANK YOU FOR A WONDERFULLY PLEASANT EVENING. I NEVER TASTED A MORE DELICIOUS DINNER IN MY LIFE!
IT CERTAINLY WAS, MY DEAR. I NEVER SAW JOHN EAT TWO HELPINGS OF SALAD BEFORE . . . GOODNIGHT. I'LL 'PHONE YOU TOMORROW.
NEXT DAY!
THE MAYONNAISE I SERVED LAST NIGHT? WHY THAT WAS HELLMANN'S, THE DOUBLE WHIPPED BRAND YOU KNOW. IT'S THE ONE MAYONNAISE THAT JERRY REALLY LIKES.
JOHN SIMPLY INSISTED THAT I FIND OUT WHAT KIND IT WAS. I'LL ORDER SOME IMMEDIATELY AND TRY IT ON A JELL-O SALAD TONIGHT.

Wives! Don't buy another jar of mayonnaise until you read of the amazing results given by this unique double whipped kind. And then, to prove the truth of what we say, please accept our guaranteed trial offer.

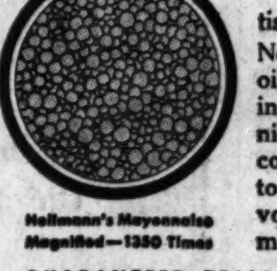
LITERALLY millions of women today are insisting on Hellmann's Mayonnaise...many of them because of its extraordinary appeal to their husbands!

Now, if you find it difficult to induce your own husband to eat the health-giving salads that he needs, we suggest that you try this mayonnaise. Hellmann's, as you will quickly discover, has an utterly different flavor. Piquant. Creamy. Exquisitely delicious. It's a flavor that you yourself will admit at once is superior.

HELLMANN'S FLAVOR EXPLAINED. Such a mayonnaise, clearly, has to be made from an unusual recipe and with superb ingredients. Specially selected salad oils . . . thrice strained vinegar . . . breakfast eggs . . . a secret blend of Far East Spices . . . all mixed to the exact proportions demanded by its famous old French recipe.

But good ingredients alone could never give such flavor. You know this if you've ever made mayonnaise at home. Sure success lies in the care and thoroughness with which each separate ingredient is blended into a harmony of perfection. And that is why every batch of Hellmann's Mayonnaise is carefully double whipped!

WHAT THE MICROSCOPE SHOWS. In the greatly magnified photograph above, taken by an important food laboratory, you see how this double whipped mayonnaise appears to a scientist through his microscope. Note the tiny globules of oil, regular in size. Each ingredient blended harmoniously, completely. Each contributing its full share to the delicate, piquant flavor . . . the flavor that most men like so well.



Hellmann's Mayonnaise Magnified—1350 Times

GUARANTEED TRIAL OFFER. Now to prove our faith in Hellmann's power to win you we make this offer: Order a trial jar today...then, if you and your husband do not agree that it is the most exquisitely flavored mayonnaise you ever tasted, take back the jar and get your money. This is the famous mayonnaise which always has been identified by the Blue Ribbon on the label.

ONEY WIZARD OF SOUTH FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD

Caldwell Faces from 1 to 3 Years in Prison.

Nashville, Tenn., July 6.—[Special.]—Rogers Caldwell, once a financial wizard of the "new south," whose investment house of Caldwell & Co. boasted "we bank on the south," was convicted today of fraudulent breach of trust for the manner of his company's handling a $200,000 county highway bond purchase.

It was the end of the first of a number of trials the once powerful banker faces in Kentucky and Tennessee. Caldwell has been indicted by federal and state grand juries in both states on charges of conspiracy and making false statements in writing.

Moves for New Trial.

The verdict of the jury carried with it recommendation for a sentence of one to three years in the state penitentiary, but the trial judge, Chester K. Hart, reserved sentence. Motion for a new trial has been entered by Caldwell's attorneys and is scheduled to be argued within ten days.

Caldwell took the news of his conviction calmly, comforting his mother, wife and venerable father, James E. Caldwell, retired bank president. His only comment was "this verdict is a great surprise to me."

The convicted banker was permitted to remain free on the same bond he posted upon being indicted and is expected to appeal the decision of the lower court if a new trial is not granted.

Hear Abatement Plea Aug. 1.

On Aug. 1, a plea in abatement by attorneys for Caldwell, J. Basil Ramsey, president of the defunct Holston-Union bank at Knoxville, Tenn., and Col. Luke Lea, publisher of papers in Nashville, Memphis and Knoxville, will be heard in the conspiracy indictment against the three in federal court at Knoxville.

In case the conspiracy charge is not abated, the defendants will declare themselves ready for trial, according to attorneys for Col. Lea.

Excitement ran riot here today as the conviction of Caldwell was announced in extra editions of all papers. Since the collapse of Caldwell's financial house last November, political factions within the Democratic party have kept the state in turmoil battling for and against the factions allegedly allied with Caldwell. The verdict today was held by many to be a vindication of county officials of prosecution from charges of being influenced in their handling of the crash.

Spectacular Career Crashes.

Conviction of Caldwell ends the spectacular career of the 41 year old banker who had achieved financial dominance of the south in fourteen years.

A year before the U. S. entered the world war he organized Caldwell & Co. with a capital of $100,000. When his company and 64 other affiliated banks crashed he had increased his capital stock to $2,000,000 with more than $500,000,000 resources.

So confident had Caldwell been of the stability of his enterprises that recently he planned to make Nashville the financial capital of the south and perhaps independent of New York.

Not only did Caldwell dominate the field of finance but he had become a figure to be reckoned with in politics. He and Mrs. Caldwell also were entrenched socially, entertaining lavishly at their 300 acre estate, known as Brentwood house. He developed a racing stable of more than 60 thoroughbreds. This racing stable will be sold at auction.

Start of Financial Collapse.

The beginning of Caldwell's financial collapse dates from September, when a state bank examination of a subsidiary of his company, the Bank of Tennessee, caused the authorities to require a deposit of $3,840,000 in securities to cover liabilities. Later, the attorney general of Tennessee announced those securities were missing. A month later the Bank of Tennessee went into receivership. But before that a committee of Nashville bankers had been appointed, with the sanction of Eugene R. Black, governor of the Sixth Federal Reserve bank, to administer the affairs of Caldwell & Co. Within a week the Holston-Union National Bank of Knoxville, in which Caldwell owned a minority interest, closed. Many other bank failures followed, not only in Tennessee, but in Arkansas, Kentucky, North Carolina, and Missouri.

FOWLER RETURNS TO OFFICE; FIFI ARRANGES HOME

Fowler McCormick returned to his desk in the office of the International Harvester company yesterday after a prolonged honeymoon in the east, while his bride, the former Anne [Fifi] Stillman, settled down to house keeping with the aid of a staff of servants in their lofty home on the twenty-sixth floor of the Drake Towers, 179 Lake Shore drive.

From their apartment last night it was said they were "dining out." At the home of the bridegroom's father, Harold McCormick, on Rush street, a butler said that the Fowler McCormicks were not there. Asked if Mr. McCormick planned to entertain for them, the butler said: "O, nothing big Just a few family gatherings, I imagine."

The couple arrived in Chicago by plane Sunday.

RECLUSE TAKEN OFF TRAIN; FIND HE HAS $52,000

When James Dingwell, 61 years old, of 4116 Newport avenue, was taken from a train at Omaha yesterday and sent to the Douglas county hospital for observation of his mental condition, a search disclosed that he was carrying $52,000 in cash and a cashier's check on his person.

The check, for $44,000, was drawn on a bank in San Mateo, Cal. In his pockets Dingwell had three $1,000 bills and $5,000 in smaller currency and silver. All the wealth was sent to a safety deposit box by hospital authorities.

At the Newport avenue address, where Dingwell had been a periodical boarder for about four years, it was said he obtained the money some years ago by the sale of his property in Winnetka. He was a widower and virtually a recluse.

TWO MT. RANIER CLIMBERS SAVED FROM CREVASSE

Mount Rainer National Park, Wash., July 6.—(AP)—Two injured and helpless mountain climbers who had fallen into a crevasse of Mount Rainer's Nisqually glacier were rescued by a party searching for the body of Robert K. Zinn, 21, of Portland, Ore., killed yesterday in a similar fall on the icy slopes.

The rescued climbers, O. G. Brady and Calvin Quinlan of Portland, had slid more than 1,000 feet and then fallen 60 to 70 feet.

Only the fact that they dropped on soft snow saved them from death, Maj. O. A. Tomlinson, park superintendent, said. When their rescuers stumbled on them, they were blue with cold and too weak and bruised to escape from the crevasse.

Search continued for the body of Zinn, Oregon state university student who fell into a crevasse about 1,200 feet deep.

ACCUSED SLAYER OUT ON BAIL.

Valparaiso, Ind., July 6.—[Special.]—John Rork, Pontiac, Ill., salesman, charged with the suicide pact slaying of his former wife, Frances Brown, Chicago, was released from Porter county jail today under $10,000 bail. Rork was tried in June for the death of Miss Brown on the Dunes highway last October and the jury disagreed. He will be retried in September.

MODJESKI, NOTED BRIDGE BUILDER, WINS A DIVORCE

New Romance Is Hinted After Reno Divorce.

Ralph Modjeski, famous bridge builder of Chicago, was granted a divorce in Reno yesterday from his wife, Mrs. Felecia Mahdah Modjeska. The noted engineer, who is the son of the celebrated Polish actress, Mme. Helena Modjeska, charged his wife with mental cruelty. The suit which was successful yesterday was the second court action taken by Modjeski in an effort to divorce his wife, to whom he was married in 1885. He is 70 years old.

Reports from Reno last night hinted that Modjeski's divorce might be opening the way for another romance. Mrs. Mary T. Giblyn of Hollywood, Cal., obtained a divorce from Charles W. Giblyn at almost the same time Modjeski won his freedom yesterday. Both cases were handled by the same attorney, Samuel Platt. Mr. Modjeski and Mrs. Giblyn were seen at dinner together last night. Both are staying at the Riverside hotel in Reno.

Belle Silvera a Witness.

The marital troubles of the Modjeskis figured prominently in the news in 1914 and in 1916 when the engineer's divorce suit and his wife's counter action were tried in Chicago courts.

Modjeski first filed suit for divorce in Portland, Ore., 17 years ago. This action was unsuccessful and was followed later by a suit for separate maintenance brought by his wife in Chicago. At that time it was reported that Modjeski's offers of $50,000 to $80,000 for a quiet divorce were spurned by Mrs. Modjeska because she objected to divorce in principle. In her counter action she was awarded $350 a month temporary alimony by a decree of Superior Judge O'Connor on June 20, 1914, but in a final decree entered by Superior Judge McKinley on May 14, 1916, the separate maintenance suit was dismissed for want of equity.

Belle Silvera, artist and eccentric, and her husband, Wencelaus Gorski, stepson of Ignace Jan Paderewski, were subpoenaed as witnesses in the first suit. Last year Miss Silvera, then 52 years old, committed suicide in Modjeski's New York home. She had been employed by him as an illustrator and left a note stating that she had taken her life because she could obtain no relief from sleeping sickness.

Since 1892 Modjeski has been a consulting bridge engineer in Chicago. Among the bridges in the construction of which he has participated are the McKinley bridge in St. Louis, the Manhattan bridge in New York, the Columbia bridge at Celio, Ore.; the Keokuk bridge over the Mississippi, the Ohio bridge in Cincinnati, the Thames river bridge at New London, Conn.; the Quebec bridge, and the Poughkeepsie bridge.

U. S. Man Heads Luncheon of World Wine Fanciers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—Presided over by a chairman hailing from the land of prohibition, the international wine conference opened in London today with a luncheon, the feature of which was an array of tempting wines produced by Europe's best vineyards. The chairman, Judge James O. Murfin of Detroit, was reputed to have had the finest cellar in America before the Volstead act was passed. Fifty delegates are attending the conference.

DIES AFTER HEAT STROKE.

Joseph Znoy, 59 years old, 4923 Justine street, a tile setter, died yesterday in the county hospital. His death was attributed to heat prostration suffered last Wednesday.

ENGAGED

HELEN GILLIGAN.

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Helen Gilligan, musical comedy star of half a dozen Broadway shows and now a singer for the Columbia Broadcasting system, announced today she soon would wed Ray Buchanan, a textile chemist. Mr. Buchanan's address was given as Clinton, Mass.

Miss Gilligan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Gilligan of Stafford Springs, Conn. Her father is head of a textile company. Miss Gilligan did not make public the date of her wedding.

FUCHS EXPLAINS WHY HE BROKE HIS ENGAGEMENT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 6.—[Special.]—The reason that Albert Fuchs, 66, retired Chicago real estate millionaire, did not wed Martha Gullickson, his 36 year old ex-secretary, in Chicago Turner hall as he mentioned in a letter, was explained by Fuchs today to Superior Jurge Emmet H. Wilson, who is hearing Miss Gullickson's $500,000 breach of promise suit suit against Fuchs.

Fuchs denied he induced the brown haired plaintiff to leave Chicago and come to Los Angeles to be "a common law wife only," as her legal papers assert. Instead, Fuchs testified:

"I asked her to sign a pre-nuptial agreement under which she was to receive my Santa Monica home and 6 per cent income from a $100,000 trust fund, in case of my death. I told her I was leaving most of my fortune to my two sons by my first marriage, and to charities. When she objected to that, I called off the wedding."

FRENCH VICE CONSUL AND WOMAN ROBBED

New York, July 6.—(AP)—M. Guy Ignon, French vice counsul, revealed today he was robbed July 2 of $127 and Mrs. P. H. Buckley, a French girl who married a wealthy Chicagoan, was robbed of "at least $8,000 in jewelry." He said they were held up by three men near Central park south while out walking.

"But what burns me up," he exclaimed, "is the treatment I get from the police. When I told a park policeman about it he said, 'So what should I do? Break down and cry?'"

Tomorrow, Ignon added, he would see the police commissioner to see if he can get "at least politeness and courtesy." Mrs. Buckley said she would go with him to see the commissioner.

M. Ignon said Mrs. Buckley lost a diamond wrist watch, her wedding ring, necklace, vanity bag and "in fact everything she had of value."

ARMY DOCTORS FIND FALL ABLE TO BE SENTENCED

U. S. to Ask Court to Let Term Start at Once.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, has been pronounced able to come to Washington to receive sentence to a year in the penitentiary for acceptance of a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny for the leasing of Elk Hills naval oil reserve.

A. B. FALL. [Acme Photo.]

Differs with Fall's Doctors.

United States Attorney Leo Rover disclosed today that the army physicians who recently examined Mr. Fall had reported him physically able to come to Washington. This report differs from that of Mr. Fall's own physicians who said he was too ill to endure the journey to the capital.

Former Senator Atlee Pomerene, government counsel in the oil lease fraud cases, will appear before United States Judge William Hitz in the District of Columbia Supreme court, tomorrow, and ask that Mr. Fall be required to begin serving his sentence at once. The report of the government physicians will be submitted to the court.

Will Oppose Move.

Frank Hogan, Mr. Fall's attorney, will oppose the move of the government and will plead for a suspension of sentence because of the frail health of the convicted man. Justice Hitz, who presided at the trial of Mr. Fall, said at the time of the conviction that if sentence were to be pronounced at that time he would suspend it on account of the physical condition of the defendant.

While Mr. Fall was convicted of receiving a bribe from Mr. Doheny, the latter, in a separate trial, was acquitted of giving a bribe.

DRUG STORE ROBBED OF $710.

A Negro bandit held up the Mirsky drug store at 130 East 47th street early yesterday and escaped with $710.

Roosevelt Lays High Tax to Ox Cart Government System

Charlottesville, Va., July 6.—[Special.]—In two addresses delivered today before the University of Virginia's institute of public affairs, Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York, discussed cost of government and taxation.

Gov. Roosevelt called upon the people of the country to rise to the responsibility resting upon them to work out for themselves the problems involved in remodeling the forms of government devised by the founding fathers, according to their own excellent and flexible plan, to make it more serviceable to all the people and more responsive to their present needs.

In his speech tonight on the "Excessive Cost of Local Government," he told how a citizen of New York might live under "ten layers" of government, all of which levied taxes on this "ten layer" citizen and he attributed this to the survival of outworn form established in the "ox cart age" of the seventeenth century.

Annual Tax Burden.

With more than half of the country's annual tax burden of $12,000,000,000 being the cost of local government, he said, the only hope for lower taxes or less rapid increase lay in a reduction and simplification of local government and a reallocation of its functions.

The governor's ideal in working out governmental changes to meet present conditions was expressed this morning when he took part in the discussions of the round table on "Regionalism."

No federal plan, "no mere yardstick laid down in Washington," the governor declared, "will give in the long run as good an answer to our present problems as will plans worked out on the principles laid down by Thomas Jefferson, in the laboratories of our forty-eight states."

Shift of Population.

The governor urged the need of nation-wide state and regional planning to deal with the problems presented by the shift of the population from the rural districts, in the interests alike of agriculture, of industry, and of the people themselves, declaring the task to be one "of such interest that young people today seem to me to have the greatest chance that any generation ever had."

In every locality, community, county and state, he said, "we have an opportunity to do what is not merely a good thing to do, but what is a common sense thing for the generation that is coming after us."

Speaking as one farmer to another, he told of the plans now being worked out in various states to form groups of "rural industrialists," or "factory farmers," who can be kept "on the land" by opening up small factories for their industrial employment for cash wages in winter and in the summer "after the hay is in and before the corn ripens."

Gov. Roosevelt told of the experience of New York state with its 4,000,000 acres of abandoned farms and another 4,000,000 acres which he said he hoped would be diverted to other uses following the soil survey now in progress. He explained that the 14,000,000. Remaining farm acres would be all that the state needed for farming and that the rest of the 22,000,000 acres originally included in the farming area would be made better use of as forests or for recreational purposes.

"It will make our whole nation individual and independent," he said. "It will open up vast areas and, at the same time, by state planning, by eliminating the 'marginal' lands, the lands that are left in agriculture will be more useful and worth cultivating."

FRANCE RALLY FOR PRESIDENT NEXT SATURDAY

Baltimore, Md., July 6.—[Special.]—Dr. Joseph I. France, United States senator from Maryland from 1917 to 1923, has completed plans for this summer's preliminary campaign for the Republican nomination for President.

DR. JOSEPH I. FRANCE.

Dr. France and his friends are arranging for a public meeting next Saturday at his Cecil county estate, Mount Aarat Farms. Later, he will probably tour the grain states in the west, to help him get his campaign under way he will have Llyle Rader, "A prominent New York chemist and Bible speaker," and former Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, head of the Republican publicity bureau during the Wilson administration.

Dr. France will tell why he is a presidential candidate and discuss "The grave world crisis and its remedy through the application of the principles of righteouness to economic social and international problems."

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Freeport, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—Franklin Martindale, 23, Shannon school teacher, was killed and Pauline Sweitzer, 20, of Lanark, suffered a fractured skull in a headon collision of two automobiles near Savanna, Ill., Sunday night.

Nevada Has Gold Strike; Ore Assays $6,000 a Ton

Reno, Nev., July 6.—(AP)—Discovery at Fireball camp, 63 miles northeast of Reno, of a "substantial" body of gold ore, assaying as high as $6,000 per ton, was reported today by A. J. Moore, mining editor of the Nevada State Journal.

JUDGE TO BLOCK USE OF TRANSIT FUND ON SUBWAY

$12,910,000 Appropriation to Be Tied Up.

Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday set forth the terms of a temporary injunction, which he said he would grant restraining the city from making expenditures from its transit fund for the construction of subways.

JUDGE LINDSAY.

The injunction will apply to appropriations totaling $12,910,000 for the purchase of land and for actual subway construction work. It will not apply, however, to the allotment of funds to carry forward the preliminary legal, engineering, and survey work now in progress. In view of this discrimination, spokesmen for the city said, the subway program will not be delayed or hampered pending a final hearing of the case.

To Take Effect Soon.

Judge Lindsay indicated that the injunction will go into effect as soon as its technicalities are agreed upon by attorneys in the case. This is expected soon, probably tomorrow.

The injunction has been sought by Attorney Stephen A. Foster in behalf of two taxpayers, Elizabeth M. Bass and August Olson, who contend that the transit ordinance provides for subways and the legislation on which it is based are unconstitutional. Mr. Foster had asked for a sweeping order preventing the city from spending any money from the transit fund pending settlement of the case, while Corporation Counsel Sexton pleaded for the least possible interference with the subway program. Both sides appeared to be satisfied with the terms announced by Judge Lindsay.

Work to Continue.

"We are not at all alarmed," said Mr. Sexton. "We are now enabled to go forward with our field and engineering work and with the State street bridge project without molestation. The taxpayers do not lose any of the benefits of the work so far and we are confident of clearing up our court troubles by the time we are ready to start actual work."

Attorney Frank E. Harkness, law partner of Mr. Foster, who is ill, said that he considered the terms of the injunction fair. He pointed out that it will stop any large expenditures from the transit fund and protect his clients' interests. He said he hoped an early date would be set for a final hearing.

Funds to Be Tied Up.

Appropriations in the 1931 transit fund budget to be tied up by the injunction are as follows:

For construction of river section, State street subway	$3,354,000
For city's share of State street subway construction	7,506,000
For lands needed for State street project	1,850,000
For additional construction work	200,000
Total	$12,910,000

Items totaling more than $1,500,000 for the construction of cofferdams and other appurtenances to the new State street bridge, made necessary by the subway, and for the payment of the entire city staff of draftsmen, designers, engineers, valuators, clerks and clerical workers will be excluded from the injunction.

Judge Lindsay refused to enjoin other courts from hearing litigation in connection with the transit plan. Before Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski there are pending quo warranto proceedings questioning the validity of the transit ordinance, while hearings upon the proposed widening of North State street to make way for the subway are pending in another court.

Corporation Council Sextion said that he had delegated Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Fisher to confer with Attorney Harkness regarding further proceedings in Judge Lindsay's court.

Ex-Cashier, Wanted for $30,000 Forgeries, Seized

Chicago police were notified yesterday that Roy Edwards, 33 years old, wanted here for forgeries totaling $30,000, had been arrested in New York. Edwards was cashier and bookkeeper for the J. W. Snyder company, contractors at 307 North Michigan avenue.

WINS DIVORCE

AURELIA HELEN STRONG.

Reno, Nev., July 6.—(AP)—Aurelia Helen Strong, former Follies beauty, was granted a divorce here today from Kenneth Strong, New York university football star of three seasons and now playing professional baseball with Toronto of the International league. She testified the former half back insisted on kicking her about their home as if she were a football and that there were "any number of times" when he struck her. They were married in New York city, Dec. 12, 1928.

DRIVE STARTED FOR NUMBERS ON ALL BUILDINGS

Thirty days' notice was served yesterday on the owners of several hundred buildings in the city, that unless street numbers are property marked on these properties a fine of $5 for every thirty days' delay will be assessed. This shot marked the opening round of a battle by the city map department to have all buildings, both occupied and empty, correctly and legibly numbered by the time of the World's Fair in 1933.

John D. Riley, superintendent of the bureau, made it clear that persistent action can be expected from the department. Promises of coöperation in the drive have been received from the legal division of the city, he stated, and the city prosecutor is preparing to press charges.

"We have just completed a survey of Chicago," Riley explained, "in which we learned that there are approximately 400,500 buildings in the community. Of this number, a total of perhaps 50,000 are not identified, as they should be, by numbers. This condition we propose to remedy as swiftly as possible.

"Several hundred notices were mailed out today. Several hundred more will follow tomorrow, until all the offending landlords have been notified that action may be expected.

COUNTY TO ASK FOR REHEARING IN BALLOT BILL CASE

The finance committee of the county board voted yesterday to petition the Illinois Supreme court for a rehearing in the case in which the court held that the county, and not the city, is liable for a $245,000 bill contracted by the board of election commissioners for printing of ballots in a countywide election.

The county refused to pay the bill when it was discovered that the charges were approximately twice the prices paid by the county on similar contracts. Attorneys will be instructed to obtain a ruling from the high court on the county's right to audit ballot printing bills before paying them.

The committee referred to County Attorney Hayden N. Bell the offer of Henry J. Lawrence of Oak Park to compromise for $12,000 to $18,000 in taxes which have accumulated over a fifteen year period on twenty-seven acres of land which he owns west of Willow Springs. Lawrence was represented by Attorney Thomas W. Barrett, a nephew of County Reviewer Charles V. Barrett.

CORN PRODUCTS CO. FINED FOR RUM VIOLATION

Springfield, Ill., July 6.—[Special.]—The Corn Products Refining Company of New York was today fined $5,000 and costs for participation in what is known as the Macoupin county conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law.

The fine was imposed by Judge Fitzhenry of the federal court after the company had entered a plea of nollo contendere. Though denying that it was a party to the manufacture of illicitly distilled liquor, the company admitted that its sale of sugar to defendants in the conspiracy case constituted "technical guilt."

The Corn Products company was one of forty-two defendants indicted in 1928. They included not only the distillers but those who furnished materials.

CAR MEN VOTE 6 DAY WEEK TO AVERT LAYOFFS

Members of the Street Car Men's union voted, at a meeting last night in Carmen's hall, to put all members on a six day week, in order to prevent layoffs of the men low on the seniority list.

At present, according to Joseph E. Kehoe, recording secretary of the organization, about 11 per cent of the union surface line workers labor 365 days a year and another 20 per cent are off only one day a month. These are to go to a straight six day week.

About two weeks ago the surface lines, pointing to a falling off in receipts as the reason, announced it might be necessary to lay off about 1,200 men. An order was actually issued for the dismissal of 400, but this was rescinded on June 30 to give the union time to formulate an alternative plan.

William Quinlan, president, and other officials of the union are to resume negotiations today with the surface lines officials for a new wage scale. No change in wage scales is contemplated, it was said, but the company desires to put in economies by cutting out overtime and allowances for lunch periods.

July Grand Jury Sworn In; Car Official Is Foreman

The July grand jury was sworn in yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath, acting chief justice of the Criminal court. Arthur W. Malmquist, 8541 Laflin street, an executive of the Chicago Surface lines, was made foreman.

PICK 4 JURORS TO TRY ALLEGED RIBBON KILLER

Four jurors were chosen yesterday in Judge Peter M. Schwaba's court for the trial of William H. Putscher, 24 years old, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Mildred Helsing. The state is expected to ask the death penalty. On April 1, 1930, Mrs. Helsing's husband, Reuben, returned from work to find his bride of a year lying in their apartment at 5830 West Lake street, strangled to death with a ribbon.

Putscher was arrested on suspicion several months ago and, according to police, confessed killing Mrs. Helsing. When apprehended Putscher was carrying a brief case containing a pistol and several skeleton keys. He is said to have admitted numerous burglaries in the western suburbs and was put on trial for one of these. After pleading guilty he was sentenced to one year to life in prison.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Coy Thompson, murder, sentenced to 100 years in the penitentiary; Kevin Hayes and Joseph Manola, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Robert Haas, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; George Robinson, attempted burglary, sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary by Judge Charles A. Williams.

Frank Tedesco, Angelo Ravenick, Frank Fragola, and Frank Bailey, robbery [charge changed to petit larceny] sentenced to 1 year each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Joseph Burke.

CHICAGO BOY, 12, IS SHOT IN PLAY ON INDIANA FARM

Laporte, Ind., July 6.—[Special.]—Harry Stasila, 12 years old, 1323 North Campbell avenue, Chicago, was shot in the head this afternoon when a playmate pointed a gun at him in play and pulled the trigger. The playmate ran away after the accident and the authorities have not been able to learn his name. The two boys were visiting on a farm near Westville, southwest of here, and the shooting occurred while the Stasila boy was climbing a ladder. The wounded boy was brought to a hospital here. He is not expected to live.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Here is what one of America's great scientists, whom we retained to study LUCKY STRIKE'S manufacturing process, says about the mellowing effect of Ultra Violet Rays which are included in our exclusive "TOASTING" process:

"The effects of this ultra violet treatment on the tobacco have been tested and are found to involve an increase in what is called the 'mildness' of the tobacco."

One of America's greatest writers and editors says this:

"When I visited Reidsville and went through the LUCKY STRIKE plant, I found one explanation for the growth of LUCKY STRIKE. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of tobaccos is a splendid example of achievement. It is the new order of the day."

Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America which offers you the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process—that secret heating process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos, and which includes the extra mellowing benefits of modern Ultra Violet Rays. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple." Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

[illegible] Post Actually Makes Public Speech.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the new nine days' wonders, who went 'round the globe and into history, came today to Washington to lunch with the President, dine with the vice president, and be welcomed by a senator into kinship with those immortals of the air: Lindbergh and Byrd, Wright and Eckener. They liked everything but their own speech. They'd rather fly through a Siberian fog, they declared, than make an after dinner speech.

But tall, pedagogical Senator Bingham, president of National Aeronautic association, smashed a record when he stood short, silent, shy Wiley Post up before the microphone at the banquet which the aeronautics association and the Washington board of trade gave and, literally, compelled him to make a speech.

Loquacious? Well, Hardly.

Slowly, at first, and fiddling with the red, white, and blue ribbon around the diploma of honorary membership in the association, Wiley fumbled out monosyllables.

"What next?" interrogated Senator Bingham, genial but insistent.

"And then," Post found himself saying, "we took off for Moscow."

"And then?" persisted the senator.

So Wiley Post stopped fussing with the ribbon; stopped stopping. He raised his voice. He was all pilot, telling of his trip, unconscious that the telling was really a dramatic speech.

"And the thing about the flight that I am proudest of," he concluded, "is that I chose for my navigator, Harold Gatty, the best navigator in the world."

And one of the first to applaud was [illegible] Putman.

"Ladies and gentlemen," exulted Senator Bingham, "you have witnessed a unique performance. Wiley Post made a speech."

[illegible] Curtis Makes One.

Others made speeches, too. Vice President Curtis, who praised their pretty wives for their heroism, and Harold Gatty, who praised Lieutenant Commander Weems of Annapolis for his instructions in celestial navigation; and the Californian, Carl B. Squire, who praised the plane his firm had built.

It was the end of a day of speech making which began at the White House.

They were pretty silent, at first, when they were ushered into the White House garden and heard President Hoover, who had left a French debt conference to welcome them, say:

"I am happy, personally, to congratulate you on your achievement of flying around the world in the remarkable time of less than nine days."

They smiled as he concluded.

"Your accomplishment is striking testimony to the advancement which has been made during the last few years by American pilots and American engineers. I congratulate you for your courage, determination, technical ability and skill."

Gatty mumbled, "Thank you, Mr. President."

More Congratulations.

Then the group of distinguished luncheon guests crowded around the two flight men. Secretary of War Hurley, proud of his Oklahoma buddy, slapped Post on the back. That air minded pair, Postmaster General Brown and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, captured Gatty. Mrs. Hoover took charge of Mrs. Post, she was the one in pink chiffon, and of Mrs. Gatty, in green chiffon.

It was on the way into the state dining room that Gatty, conversational [illegible], confided:

"Yes, and we'd have made better time if they hadn't hoodwinked us into a banquet in Moscow."

"You bet," Post joined in. "We got there at two in the afternoon and wanted to take off that night. The Russians said it would be dangerous to do night flying. I said, 'Great Scott, we did night flying over the Atlantic; I guess we can do night flying over Siberia.' But they made us stay for the banquet. That, and the mud hole were our only two delays."

After the luncheon, the aviators were reluctant to discuss specifically what had been talked about, although they said they had answered many questions by the President about flying and flying conditions.

So They Talked About Fishing.

Post, who is the humorist of the duet, waved his hand over at Gatty, the more reserved, as he said:

"Gee, that guy there stole all the play at the luncheon. He's just naturally a born seaman and fisherman. Now, I'm lost when it comes to 36 thread lines and stuff like that. So what chance did I have when that guy and the President got started talking about the fish they caught."

"Gatty," somebody wanted to know, "did you catch a bigger fish than the President?"

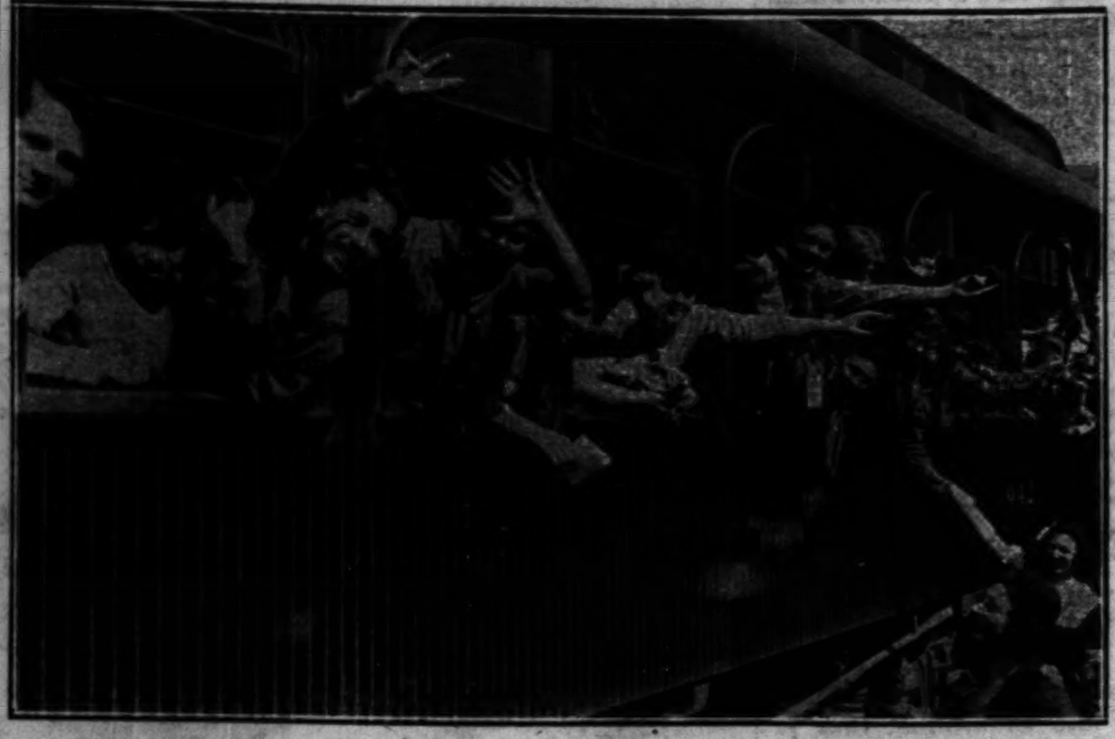
"I should say not," replied Gatty with that same swift tact which made him later reply to a query as to whether he considered Lindbergh's contemplated trip safe:

"If Lindbergh's going to do it, it's safe. He makes excellent preparations."

Questioned as to his preparations, which began about 8 months ago, Post said the most interesting preflight job was the getting of gas out to Nome the first of last March. It had to be got there before the ice breakup.

"And so," he joked, "we had to make the trip. Couldn't let all that gas go to waste."

BOY SCOUTS LEAVE FOR SUMMER CAMPS



Some of the 600 Scouts who started for the Owasippe camps, near Muskegon, Mich., waving good-by to Chicago from Pere Marquette train at the Grand Central station. They are the first of 3,000 Scouts who will visit the six Owasippe camps during the summer vacation.

Golden Gloves Aid

A merry group of boys, 600 in all, climbed on a special train of the Pere Marquette road, Grand Central station, yesterday morning vacation bound. They are Chicago Boy Scouts who will spend two weeks in the Owasippe Scoup camps near Muskegon, Mich.

Among this group were a contingent of boys, Scout officials said, who have had to earn their way to camp, and who otherwise would not have gone because they come from homes overflowing with misfortune. Because of special service to their troops or by regular scout progress, many of the boys earned scholarships offered by THE TRIBUNE Golden Gloves fund. Each scholarship entitles the holder to a two weeks' period in one of the Owasippe camps.

Alfred C. Nichols, chief camp director, said that this summer will see about 3,000 Chicago Scouts as visitors to the camp.

Another train load of vacationers, 400 boys, left yesterday for Mercer, Wis., to Camp Roosevelt.

INTOXICATED DRIVER JAILED.

William Kendrick, 26 years old, 6727 South Winchester avenue, was sentenced to ten days in the House of Correction and fined $100 by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday for driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Laura Ingalls Ready for Solo Flight Over Atlantic

Los Angeles, Cal., July 6.—[Special.]—Laura Ingalls, who hopes to be the first woman to span the Atlantic alone, is scheduled to take off from Los Angeles Wednesday for New York. She has been at the factory of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation for weeks testing a white air express monoplane which she believes will carry her safely to Paris. The plane is powered by a 450 horse power Wasp motor and has tanks for 670 gallons of gasoline. She will fly in an open cockpit near the plane's tail, the space in the high winged monoplane usually taken up with passenger seats being converted into a giant fuel tank.

CONGRESSMEN ON PARK INSPECTION HEAD FOR ALASKA

Follow Traditions and Cooler Weather.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—In keeping with the program once described by Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho], who said he had noticed that congressional junkets always headed north in hot weather and south in cold, it was announced today that members of a subcommittee of the house appropriations committee would extend their present tour of national parks and reclamation projects to include a trip to Alaska.

The subcommittee, which is charged with drafting the interior department appropriation bill, will send the following members on the Alaskan jaunt:

Representatives Murphy [Rep., O.], Byrns Dem., Tenn.], Luce [Rep., Mass.], Hastings [Dem., Okla.], and Smith [Rep., Idaho].

The subcommittee's tour started on June 25 at Rocky Mountain National park, Colorado, and from there the itinerary includes the following visits: Grand valley reclamation project, Colorado; Zion National park, Utah; Boulder canyon project, Nevada; Sequoia National park, California; Yosemite National park, California; Orland reclamation project, California; Klamath reclamation project, Oregon; Crater Lake National park, Oregon; McKinley National park, Alaska; Kittitas project, Washington; Yakima reclamation project, Washington; Grand Teton National park, Wyoming, and Riverton reclamation project, Wyoming.

EXPERT ADVICE HOW WIFE SHOULD ACT AS HUBBY FLIES WORLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—What are the qualifications for an aviator's wife?

Mrs. Harold Gatty, who ought to know, since she is the wife of the navigator of the whirlwind Winnie Mae, today outlined them, so far as she is concerned.

"First of all," she declared, "have confidence in your husband. If you know, as I know, that he's a careful aviator, then for pity's sake don't keep fretting him and advising him about things he knows better than you do.

"Second, have confidence in his plane; in his equipment."

"And third," here she patted her handbag, with its recent message from her three small boys in California, "have some children and you'll be so busy taking care of them that you won't have time to go into hysterics every five minutes."

Mrs. Wiley Post, sitting at the other end of the couch in their hotel suite, chimed in to say that she had no children, but that a wife who keeps house can always find plenty of things to do to keep her from making a scene when she ought to be calm.

Somebody asked them what their plans were.

They laughed.

"That's one thing you never know when you're the wife of an aviator," Mrs. Gatty explained.

"We do what we're told," added Mrs. Post.

TOURISTS GIVE UP OCEAN TRAVEL IN LARGE NUMBERS

U. S. Ships Hardest Hit by Slack Business.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6. — [Special.] — These are tough days down the bay for out of date ocean liners. Some of these old time seagoing hotels are floating in with barely enough passengers to keep one another company, and there is no great bustle on sailing days. Ships of all nations are suffering, but vessels flying the American flag are hardest hit of all. They are among the oldest, and then, too, drinking arrangements are more up to date on foreign flag ships, old and new.

CAPT. CHARLES McALLISTER.

Considering the fact that the flagship of the American group, the Leviathan, is of prewar build, and seeking an answer to whether the traveling public has quit traveling altogether or has just quit traveling on the old timers, a visit was paid to the American bureau of shipping, the shipping board representatives, the United States lines and other smaller American units. It was learned that:

The operators of the American flag ships are doing the best they can with the vessels they have to work with. The curtailment in America's bid for passenger carrying supremacy goes direct to the shipping board, which just is not putting out any more money these days.

New Ships Get the Business.

The ocean carrying trade was never more hard pressed for business than it is today, and the new ships are getting the bulk of that business. Only two first class transatlantic passenger ships are being built in this country, and, although fireproof wood is available, its use is being restricted to fire doors in these ships.

The biggest ocean liners, particularly those ancients flying the American flag, have been operating at a loss for the last six months. In the case of the Leviathan this loss has been heavy. The Leviathan is a prewar liner, but it has been done over and American shipping men insist it compares favorably with such foreign flag vessels as the Majestic, Mauretania and others of similar class. Nevertheless, its owners admit it has suffered heavily because of a decline in passenger business.

A luxury liner in seasons such as this easily loses from $20,000 to $25,000 a week, or $100,000 on a round trip. Super liners today are coming in with total passenger lists that do not represent a third of the cost of the voyage.

Shipping board officials are reticent, but have let it be known they do not intend to take back any of the ships sold to private owners. There has been expressed, however, a willingness to "keep the lines in operation" by a moratorium if necessary.

Coastal Ships Better.

There are indications of improvement in the type of American flag ships in the coastal and South American passenger trade. The United Fruit company is building six fast liners, Grace line has several new and luxurious ships, the export line has built modern, fast ships. This story, however, is concerned principally with trans-Atlantic passenger ships.

"The competition among ship lines of the leading maritime nations for the passenger traffic in the north Atlantic is increasing by leaps and bounds," said Capt. Charles A. McAllister, president of the American bureau of shipping. "The tendency of the time is to emphasize certain characteristics of the competing ships—Pompeian baths, beauty parlor, night clubs, luxurious furnishings are expatiated upon almost ad nauseam — yet with our confessed weakness for luxury and comfort, a close analysis of the public mind in this country will disclose that the paramount desire of the American traveler is for safety.

It was learned in steamship offices here that a big reduction in number of sailings were contemplated. Vessels will begin to be taken off around the end of July. Crews will be cut to the barest minimum. Lines said to be contemplating reduced sailings include United States lines, Canadian Pacific, the Hamburg-American line, the North German Lloyd and Compagne Trans-Atlantique. The Cunarders and White Star it was reported, also would cut their schedules.

Halt Building New Lines.

In the face of a steady reduction in the percentage of passengers carried on American line steamships the postponement of plans of the shipping board to put American ships in the blue ribbon class has been announced. The two proposed super-liners to cost approximately $60,00,000, it has been announced, will not be contracted for "until normal times return."

Last year, according to shipping board figures, 2,500,000 passengers traveled at sea under flags of 24 nations. Great Britain carried 1,054,796 passengers or 47 per cent of the total. The United States carried 605,416 or 27 per cent of the traffic.

35,000 ARRESTED, CARTED TO POLICE STATION IN BARREL

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—A crowd of 35,000 gathered in the back yard of Carl Witzke's home, the Bronx, and caused the police a great deal of trouble today. A patrolman referred the matter to his sergeant and the sergeant called emergency 9, from the Bronx Park police station, six miles away.

The crowd, instead of being dispersed, was placed in a barrel and removed to the police station. The crowd consisted of bees.

Witzke grew apprehensive after the swarm settled in one of the birches in his back yard two days ago, and finally called for official assistance.

The police chopped the tree down, and the bees, sluggish because of the wet weather, then were imprisoned in a barrel.

The bees are now in a cell in the Bronx Park station—and still in the barrel.

FARM BOARD NOT TO SELL WHEAT TILL PRICE RISES

Curtis and Capper Are So Informed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 6.—[Special.]—The federal farm board refused to move from its position on its wheat holdings today, in spite of urgent arguments put forth by Vice President Curtis and Senator Arthur Capper [Rep., Kas.], during an hour and a half's conference with Chairman James C. Stone and Carl Williams, board members.

CHARLES CURTIS.

The two Kansans learned that the board would abide by its policy ununciated July 1, which was that it would feel free to sell up to a cumulative maximum of 5 million bushels of wheat a month for the next year. They also learned what had been clearly stated in the board's July 1 announcement, but what had evidently not been popularly understood, that the board would not sell any of its wheat at the present range of prices.

Mr. Curtis said, following the conference, that this phase of the board's policy "had not been generally understood," but he refused to say that this guarantee was satisfactory.

Refuse to Give Pledge.

Senator Capper explained that the Kansas farmers wanted the board to hold its wheat completely off the market until the price reached 85 cents. Mr. Stone, he said, would make no such pledge.

Upon emerging from the chairman's office, Vice President Curtis read a statement which constituted the answer of the board to their arguments:

"We [the board] reiterate the statement made on July 1, in which we said the sales program will be conducted in such a fashion as not to depress the market. It is not the purpose of the corporation to make any immediate sales, even of this limited amount of 5,000,000 bushels per month, at these prices."

Senator Capper explained that wheat is now selling on Kansas farms at 23 and 25 cents a bushel, and that such prices are below the cost of production.

Curtis Eyes Political Skies.

Mr. Curtis, who has been reported to be scanning the Kansas horizon looking for a demand that he run again for senator, was asked about his political plans, but would only reply, "They'll not get anything out of me for at least three months."

Mr. Curtis' activity in the controversy over the stabilization corporation's wheat holdings has been interpreted as meaning a desire on his part to sidestep renomination to the vice presidency and to run for the Kansas senatorship once more.

"Everything in Kansas is the lowest it has been in years," Senator Capper said later. "Live stock prices have been hit as well as wheat prices. Eggs are selling at 9 cents a dozen on the farm. An emergency exists and, in my opinion, it is the duty of the farm board to protect the farmer by promising to hold its wheat.

Could Send Price Up.

"If the board would announce that it would keep its wheat off the market until prices recovered, wheat would surely go up 10 to 20 cents."

Senator Capper said that the Kansas wheat crop this year probably would total 175 million bushels, the second largest crop in the state's history. The size of the Kansas crop is one of the things the farm board has been citing to show that wheat growers disregarded the board's warning and failed to reduce acreage, thus helping to bring on the very situation about which they are now complaining.

"The large crop and low prices," Senator Capper admitted, "may result in a reduction of acreage, which would be a good thing. The farmers are beginning to realize that they planted too much wheat."

ITALY LAUNCHES VICIOUS ATTACK ON THE VATICAN

Press Assails Pope for His Encyclical.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 6. — Reaction against Pope Pius XI.'s encyclical, aimed against the Fascist regime, took concrete form in Italy today with an outburst of newspaper war against the papal document, which is characterized as a return to medieval conceptions about the respective authority of the state and church.

The view expressed in government circles today was that more weighty and important matters now claim the government's attention, such as debts, reparations and Secretary of State Stimson's visit, but that later on a reply will probably be sent to the pope's latest note, with which, it is now confirmed, the Vatican sent back the latest Italian note, saying that it was not acceptable.

Will Reply to Encyclical.

The next Italian communication to the vatican will be not only a reply to the Vatican note, but will also be a rejoinder to accusations in the encyclical which government spokesmen today said had caused "surprise and indignation" in all sections of Italian opinion.

Despite the apparent gravity of affairs between the state and church and the seeming impossibility that doctrines on youth and education so incompatible as those of the church and Fascism can exist side by side any longer, belief was at the same time expressed tonight that the genius of the Italians for finding combinations will eventually discover a way out of this impasse.

At the same time there are renewed intimations that Pope Pius' obduracy over his stand on education will be followed by an even more drastic step than was his encyclical.

May Condemn Fascism.

There are persistent voices that he intends next to condemn Fascism as an expression of nationalism which uses Catholicism for its political ends, just as he condemned the Action Française as a French nationalistic movement to restore the monarchy through using the prestige of the church. This would imply excommunication and refusal of religious rites to those who refuse to renounce allegiance to the principles objectionable to the pope.

On this, however, there seems to be disagreement in Vatican circles. It was reported today that Francesco Pacelli, Vatican lay counsellor and brother of Cardinal Pacelli, was in disfavor with the pontiff, being held responsible for not having provided a basis for action in complications such as have arisen when he, as Vatican representative, helped frame the terms of the Lateran concordat two years ago.

Ridicules Vatican Action.

The press attacks tonight draw special attention to what is called the absurdity of the Vatican's sending the encyclical out of the country by special courier in order to assure its publication without being tampered with by Fascist censors. The newspaper Lavoro Fascista, in fact, declares that the government knew about the document before it left the country. The Vatican's measure, it is charged, was contrary to diplomatic courtesy and usage.

Msgr. Spellman, American prelate and now connected with the Vatican state department, and Msgr. Vanneuville, French prelate, were named tonight as the two persons who carried the document to Paris. There was a question of the French government's not permitting it to be sent over telegraph wires, according to the press tonight, so the two churchmen then carried the document to London by airplane.

In government circles it is said that no onus is attached to Msgr. Spellman in acting as the pope's messenger, as the trip was the same as that of any other diplomatic courier sent out from the embassy in Rome.

Press Comment Bitter.

The press bitterly comments on the irate tone of the encyclical which, it is declared, practically confirms the Italian government's stand that the Catholic Action society was engaging in politics and anti-Fascist activities.

The Giornale d'Italia, which so far has kept out of this controversy, published a long article of protest tonight headed: "Vatican's esternal appeal to foreigners." The article develops the theme that the Vatican, having lost its prestige through posing the pontiff as a prisoner, now seeks a new appeal in posing him as a martyr.

Wild Riot of Nude Dancers Adds to Troubles of Spain

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BARCELONA, Spain, July 6.—With all available police massed in the heart of town to meet the menace of the strike of the longshoremen and telephone employés, called out by the syndicates, a riot call came tonight from quite another sector.

Cabaret girls along Barcelona's gay Paralelo broke loose and were not tamed until the city's new shock police got into action with their clubs.

Wild Night for the Girls.

It was ladies' night in Barcelona, with "hello" girls ready to attack the telephone offices and "yes" girls saying it with bricks along the quarter mile stretch of brightish lights. The latter, about 125 in all, had a grievance.

Barcelona under the republic has gone gay the way Paris is supposed to be and is not. At combination dance and gambling dives known as the Moulin Rouge and Royal Concert they have been dancing in the raw. Mantillas and castinets, but nothing more. Even the old time western mining towns would have found this unbecoming.

So does the new civil governor from Madrid, and he ordered the two roaring hangouts closed. What with the current unemployment and all, the girls took it tragically enough, but when they heard that the rival fun factories, the Pompeii and Apollo, just down the local Montmartre, were doing business as usual, they did not wait to dress much.

Attack Rival Theaters.

On the theory that the managers of the rival dives had somehow wished padlocks on them, the girls stoned all the windows right out of the Pompeii and Apollo. They then attacked the customers and rival chorines. One Andalusian blond got a brick on the ear where she wore a rose, and one of the attacking party had her hip gashed by a seltzer bottle. The police claim she would not have been hurt had she been properly clothed for the riot act. The police, by the way, are asking new scratch protectors.

Seventy "hello" girls tonight are handling the telephone service for this town of one million. To meet the danger of a power companies' employés strike tomorrow, which it is feared will throw this town into turmoil, the government is rushing a destroyer loaded with electricians from Carthagena navy yard.

Proposed Constitution Published.

MADRID, July 6.—(AP)—The constitutional commission tonight published the official text of the proposed new Spanish constitution, which will be submitted to the cabinet and then to the constituent assembly.

The proposal consists of 104 articles, granting suffrage equality and embracing legislative, social, monetary, and communications affairs, sanitation and the mercantile phases of national life. It also proposes to grant equality of the sexes in matrimonial cases, to protect private property, prevent imprisonment except for crime, and provides for trial within 72 hours after an arrest. It contains provisions for labor, demanding regulations for sickness, unemployment, incapacitation, and death.

Outlines Government.

For the structure of the government it proposes the election of 250 senators by agricultural, industrial, commercial, and labor groups and by the professions, the universities and other institutions. The senators' terms are fixed at four years. For the chamber of deputies it is proposed to elect 4"0 representatives for terms of six years. The deputies would be allowed to vote censure against the government.

The president would be elected by both houses and would serve for six years. Justices of the supreme court would be appointed by the president.

Separation of church and state and freedom of religious worship are also provided.

INJUNCTION PUT ON 24 PLACES AS RUM VIOLATORS

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday granted temporary injunctions against 24 establishments in Chicago and suburbs for alleged violations of the prohibition law. Permanent injunctions are being sought by the government, which result in the places being padlocked as nuisances.

In addition to numerous speakeasies in soft drink parlors, cigar stores, and garages throughout the city, the court action involved rooms in several loop office buildings. Rooms 209, 210, 211, and 212 at 118-120 North La Salle street, listed as the headquarters of the Chicago Gas Fitters association and Drain Pipe Layers' association, were specified in the temporary injunctions.

Temporary injunctions also were issued against rooms 410 and 411 in the same building. These are leased by the Bolster Construction company. Rooms 512 and 1619 in the Ashland block also were involved in the court action.

Military Police Kill 40 Burmese Rebels in Battle

RANGOON, Burma, India, July 6.—(AP)—Forty rebels from a force of 150 were killed and the same number wounded in an engagement in the Shan states, where the Burmese rebellion spread recently. Many weapons were seized during the fight, which occurred while military police were crossing the Nalu ferry Thursday.

BABY BOUNCES FROM AUTO AS MOTHER SLEEPS

Not Missed for 2 Miles; Found Unhurt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Whitehall, Wis., July 6.—[Special.]—William M. Sexton and his family are on their way to Duluth today, following an unusual experience a few miles from here. Mr. and Mrs. Sexton, their two sons, one 18 months old and the other ten, and their mother-in-law, set out from their home town of [illegible], W. Va., hoping to reach the home of Sexton's brother, near Duluth, before their funds ran out. They drove night and day.

Yesterday afternoon as they bumped along route 53 in their wheezy old flivver, Mrs. Sexton nodded and fell asleep. She was sitting beside her husband, who was driving. Her youngest son dozed in her lap.

Baby Missing From Car.

Soon Sexton turned his eyes from the road and was startled to discover the son missing. The mother-in-law and older boy, sitting among household effects in the rear of the car, had not noted the baby's disappearance.

Frantic, Sexton wheeled the car about and retraced his path along the road. Some two miles back the family came upon Howard Van Tassel of Whitehall, sitting at the side of the road. In his arms he held the Sexton infant, who cooed and laughed as though nothing had happened.

Baby Bounces Onto Road.

The baby was taken to Whitehall Community hospital, where Dr. Robert MacCormack treated minor abrasions on the scalp. The only explanation the mother could offer was that the infant had bounced out of her lap and on to the road as she slept.

The sorry plight of the Sextons, due to inability to find work in the West Virginia mills, touched hospital attendants who got up a pool and presented it to them. Mrs. MacCormack, the doctor's wife, and other women, gave the Sexton womenfolk and children some clothes.

SEIZE BREWERIES IN LAKE COUNTY DRY LAW DRIVE

Two breweries were seized and two men and a widow were arrested in dry raids in Lake county late yesterday by Sheriff Lester Tiffany. The breweries were found on farms near Antioch and are believed by Tiffany to have been operated by the Capone organization.

In the first raid deputy sheriffs visited the farm of Bert Bonn, five miles south of Antioch. They arrested Wilbur Hazzard, 33 years old, 2701 Jackson boulevard, and Thomas Miller, 33, of [illegible] Jackson boulevard, both of Chicago. The outfit cost $20,000, according to Sheriff Tiffany, and had a capacity of 4,000 gallons of bottled beer a week. In the second raid, on the farm of Mrs. Laura Yopp, 59 years old, four miles east of Antioch, a brewery of 8,000 gallons a week capacity was seized. Mrs. Yopp was taken to the jail in Waukegan and charged with violation of the dry law, as were Miller and Hazzard. The second outfit is valued at $30,000.

The raids were the newest developments in a drive to mop up Lake county and represented the 18th, 19th, and 20th arrests. Among those arrested earlier in the week were James [illegible], in whose Fox lake resort three gangsters were murdered June 1, 1930, and Mrs. Anna Ponic, mother of Mrs. Vivian Ponic McGinnis, who was wounded in that shooting.

GRACE MOORE.

Jellico, Tenn., July 6.—(AP)—R. L. Moore, Jellico banker, announced today that his daughter, Grace Moore, Metropolitan Opera soprano and movie star, would marry Valentine Parara, wealthy Spaniard, at Cannes, France, about July 15.

The operatic star's father said he received a cable from his daughter announcing the approaching marriage, but said he was not at liberty to give any further information.

Miss Moore attended Ward-Belmont college in Nashville. Later she attended a voice culture school in Washington and then appeared in light opera and went into musical comedy. Afterwards she spent time in study at Paris and made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera house in New York in February, 1927. Later she played in the movies.

SPANKED BY HIS COP MAMA; SAYS HE DESERVED IT

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—A policewoman whose professional duties do not permit her to devote all her attention to her only offspring, a boy of 9, was discharged in Yorkville police court today when arraigned on a charge of whipping him, because of the admission of the lad, a blue-eyed, pale little fellow, that he deserved what he got.

Mrs. Belinda Milatz, the policewoman mother, is assigned to a remote precinct in Staten Island. She is often away from home all night and on such occasions the boy has been committed to the care of a neighbor, Mrs. Anna Sullivan.

On June 24 Mrs. Milatz reached home at 2 o'clock in the morning with the boy Arthur, whom she had picked up at the home of Mrs. Sullivan. Arthur was considerably soiled, so his mother stripped him off and gave him a bath and put him to bed.

The mother awakened a few hours later. Arthur was missing. Mrs. Milatz investigated like a policewoman and deduced that Arthur had abstracted a considerable amount of small change from her purse, put on his clothes and decamped.

She searched for Arthur, found him, took him home and slapped him around to the accompaniment of loud howls on his part. A neighbor complained to the Children's society and the mother was haled to court.

Woman Who Held Baby for Board Bill Is Freed

St. Paul, Minn., July 6.—(AP)—A woman charged with holding a 21 months old baby four days for the mother's unpaid $31.50 board bill was freed today.

The mother, Mrs. Mildred Musseh1, requested dismissal of a charge of improper diversion, the first brought here. The woman held was Mrs. Anna Keasel.

MANY RABBIS OUT OF A JOB, JEWISH ASSEMBLY FINDS

Year's Interneship Urged to Halt Crowding.

Long Branch, N. J., July 6.—[Special.]—Many rabbis are out of employment because the profession is overcrowded, it was disclosed today as the thirty-first annual convention of the rabbinical assembly of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America opened here, with representatives of the Jewish ministry attending from all over the United States and Canada.

"The rabbi, too, also is to be found among the great army of America's unemployed," the Rev. Dr. Israel Herbert Levinthal, rabbi of the Brooklyn Jewish Center and president of the rabbinical assembly, told the delegates in his presidential address.

Two Remedies Suggested.

"With seminaries graduating large classes and the cessation of the organization of new congregations a problem is created that challenges our immediate attention," he said.

Two remedies were suggested by Dr. Levinthal, one of these was that the rabbinical course be extended a year, at least, and the other that after completing his studies the young rabbi should serve a year as assistant to a more mature colleague in the active ministry.

"Other professions expect and demand at least a year's interneship and I believe that this would work out satisfactorily for many reasons besides that of the present economic conditions," Dr. Levinthal said.

More Liberal Interpretation.

The president also pleaded for a more liberal interpretation of the Jewish law and suggested that the assembly's committee on Jewish law should seek new methods of judicial interpretation that would give the canons "new meaning, new construction and thus new vitality."

Quoting the old Hebrew proverb, "The power to permit is superior to that which forbids," Dr. Levinthal said that this must be the guiding principle of the committee on Jewish law.

Judge's Secretary Saves Girl from Death in Lake

Josephine Messineo, 23 years old, secretary to Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court, saved the life of her companion, Marie Palluck, warrant clerk in the State street court, on Saturday, it was learned yesterday. The two were swimming at the Belmont harbor beach when Miss Palluck was seized with cramps and sank twice. Miss Messineo swam to her side, dragged her ashore in a semiconscious state and then revived her. Miss Messineo lives at 852 North Central Park avenue and Miss Palluck at 2662 North Marshfield avenue.

TROTZKY RENEWS WAR ON STALIN AS SOVIET CHIEF

CRACOW, Poland, July 6.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky, exiled from Russia, today renewed his war with Joseph Stalin by demanding abolition of Stalin's "bureaucratic dictatorship" of the soviet republic.

Writing in the Cracow Daily Courier Trotzky declared that scarcely five per cent of Russia's millions are inspired by Socialist doctrines or apply those doctrines to their lives. To pretend that the nation has entered to an era of socialism is to deride socialism, he said.

The exile scoffed at fears raised outside Russia by Stalin's five year plan for economic development. It is absurd, he said, to hold that the entire world's economics may be upset by Russian dumping, for the soviet furnishes only one and one-half per cent of the world's exports. Trotzky warned that the development of Russian industries demanded above all an increase in Russia's exports. Only by boosting those exports, he said, could she avert her "inner economic crisis."

DIES IN BUGGY-AUTO CRASH.

Charleston, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—William Sampson, 50, of Ashmore township, is dead from injuries received when a horse he was driving became frightened and pulled the buggy in the path of an automobile near here Saturday.

PETER ARNO DENIES HE INTENDS TO WED MRS. FLORENCE SMITH

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Peter Arno and Florence Rice Smith came into New York today after their reporter dodging jaunt from the Arno-Cornelius Vanderbilt war front in Reno, had breakfast together in the Biltmore, and then tried to lose themselves.

Arno was located in the Hotel Warwick, where he denied he and Mrs. Smith had been married.

"Let's get this straight," said Arno. "Mrs. Smith and I are just good friends. We're not married, we're not engaged, and furthermore, we have no intention of marrying. In other words, there is no romance between us."

Arno explained that when he and Mrs. Smith disappeared from an overland train near Chicago yesterday they were merely trying to elude newspapermen and not eloping.

BUYS SHOES, THEN ROBS STORE.

A well dressed man walked into Sam Goldstein's shoe store, 4728 West Madison street, yesterday, and was fitted for a pair of sport shoes. Then he drew a revolver and forced Goldstein to turn over $120 from the cash register.

NAVY CONFIRMS USE OF UNIFORM BY DRY SLEUTHS

Philadelphia, July 6.—(AP)—Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard, reported to Washington today that it was a matter of court record that a Philadelphia policeman wore a navy uniform while gathering evidence in a prohibition violation case.

The report was made to Rear Admiral Frank B. Upham, chief of the bureau of navigation, who requested an investigation be made at the orders of Secretary of the Navy Adams.

Admiral Bostwick said he was continuing the investigation and that he would attempt to determine what police official if any, had issued orders to don a navy uniform for the purpose of conducting liquor law investigations.

Recently Admiral Bostwick wrote to the superintendent of police, requesting that the practice be discontinued. Later in a court case, it was brought out that at least one member of a liquor raiding squad used a uniform "similar" to that worn by a chief petty officer. The case attracted the attention of navy department officials in Washington.

Lemuel B. Schofield, director of public safety, said today he had received no complaint from the navy.

GUARD HURT IN JOLIET RIOTS SUES STATE

Springfield, Ill., July 6.—James H. Book, former keeper in charge of the furniture factory at Stateville prison at Joliet, today filed a claim for $15,000 with the State Court of Claims for injuries he alleges he received during the March 18 disturbance at the penitentiary.

Lillie Bell Jones, Chicago, filed a $50,000 claim. She alleges she is losing her voice as a result of a tonsil operation in the Eye and Ear infirmary, a state institution.

Charging a sergeant struck him in the nose with a revolver at Camp Grant, Franklin U. Gayles, Chicago postal clerk and a member of the National guard, filed a $3,000 claim for a broken nose.

John H. Laird, inmate of Veterans' home at Quincy for 20 years, filed a $600 claim, declaring he lost a finger in a food chopping machine while working in the kitchen of the institution.

FOUR HURT IN AUTO CRASHES.

Coldwater, Mich., July 6.—[Special.]—Three persons are in a hospital at Sturgis following an automobile collision east of La Grange last night. Mrs. Elvie Houghton, 54, of Green Bay, Wis., is seriously hurt. Her two companions, James Arter, 70, of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. Arter, 67, are less seriously injured. William Taylor of Chicago was injured when his automobile left the road near Bronson.

Mercolized Wax Gives New Skin Beauty

Dry, flaky skin—the forerunner of tiny age-lines and departing youth,—can best be counteracted by the regular use of pure Mercolized Wax. It gently peels off the thin outer layer of surface skin in minute particles, removing all such blemishes as freckles tan, excessive oiliness and blackheads. Gradually the youthful underskin is revealed, clear, velvety-smooth, soft and radiantly beautiful. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. Refine and refresh your skin by bathing your face daily in an astringent lotion made of Powdered Saxolite and witch hazel. At all drug stores.

IF YOU SMOKE A LOT [AND WHO DOESN'T!]

TRY THIS

On your tongue there are thousands upon thousands of sensitive taste-buds, clustered in tiny groups, known to science as papillae.

It is these delicate taste-buds that give flavor, enjoyment to your cigarette—and to your food.

If at times your smoke lacks zest, don't blame it on your brand. It is probable that your papillae aren't working up to par.

And that's often the reason, too, why there's no savor in your food.

Care for your taste-buds, your papillae. Care for them by avoiding dry mouth, a condition of recognized prevalence. Keep the tongue moist and well lubricated.

If you enjoy smoking a lot—and who doesn't!—chew Wrigley's frequently. Wrigley's between smokes, by stimulating a free flow of saliva, keeps the taste-buds moist and fresh and definitely relieves dry mouth. Thus, scientists say, the sensation of taste is intensified.

If you'd like more enjoyment of your cigarette and your food, keener appetite and better digestion, chew Wrigley's regularly between smokes and between meals.

At the cigar stand, take your change in Wrigley's.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

GETTING READY FOR THE NEXT CONFERENCE.

Americans who cling to the old fashioned notion that our national naval and military policy should be based upon practical consideration of our own national interests will note the appearance at this time of utterances tending to reveal to us the errors of that theory. An example is the recent article by Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond, in Foreign Affairs, an organ at Harvard devoted to the cultivation of what our intelligentsia call world mindedness. Sir Herbert disapproves of battleships. He "can find neither strategical nor tactical reasons for any fighting ship being larger than 6,500 tons."

We have noticed the fall in British regard for battleships in recent years. The existence of an American battle fleet may have some relevancy to this phenomenon; also the interesting possibilities of the diplomatic proceedings known as naval limitation. The abolition of battleships would deprive the United States of the element of naval power which more than any other type "strategically and tactically" permits us to approximate the parity which the British government so graciously and lavishly concedes us, in principle. British policy has pressed steadily in recent years in the direction of limitation of larger types, battleships and cruisers, for in that direction lies the restoration of British naval primacy. The smaller the types permitted us the greater the relative strength of the types in which Great Britain overwhelmingly preponderates and the greater the advantage of her strategic situation. As Commander Kinkaid writes in the United States Naval Institute Proceedings of July: "The present agitation to reduce the size and fighting strength of battleships is aimed at the one type of particular importance to the United States, and is a first step toward the abolition of that type, which is relatively less important to the other powers.

"A fair method of reduction would be a proportionate reduction of each type, not the elimination of one.

"The capital ship is the only type that can take the sea and remain at sea for long periods under all conditions of service and weather. It is less dependent upon a well placed chain of bases. It is the only type that can be constructed to withstand reasonably well the attack of modern weapons. Today the speed of the airplane permits it to overtake any surface vessel, and only the capital ship can be adequately armed, protected and subdivided to survive bombing from the air."

No less an individual than the British prime minister the other day charged that the United States was increasing its expenditures on armament while England was decreasing hers. This assertion will be passed about by our pacifists without correction. We are glad that Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, one of the best informed of our public men on naval and military conditions, has promptly replied to the allegation. He points out that contrary to Mr. MacDonald's misleading statement we have been reducing our expenditure for a decade.

"In 1921 our army appropriation was 494 million dollars and our army consisted of 225,745 officers and men. This was the size of our regular army after demobilization of our emergency war time forces. In the same year our navy appropriation was 448 million and the navy's strength in officers and men 136,950. In 1930 our army appropriation was 331 million and the total strength of our regular army had been reduced to 130,750. Today our naval appropriation has come down to 390 million and the strength in officers and men has come down to 88,785."

Fair comparisons require some important allowances which get overlooked when points are to be made. Senator Reed suggests that American appropriation figures cover the cost of all our regular military force, while in Great Britain the appropriations for the royal air force—a separate service—are not included. Over a hundred million dollars is being spent on that item this year. Also no allowance is made in such comparisons for the greater cost of building in America and Great Britain, 50 per cent more for cruisers, nearly three times as much for destroyers and submarines. They also ignore the fact that army and navy pay is approximately 60 per cent higher.

As we approach the great conference on disarmament, the suggestible American public is going to hear a good deal about our unreasonable notions of our naval needs, our mistaken ideas about the value of battleships and cruisers and our inordinate expenditures on aeronautics. With war outlawed, a world court in operation and the league of nations ready to receive us, we are going to be prepared by intensive methods to reach Geneva in a properly altruistic mood. A special inquiry for Foreign Affairs has assured us that the British bases off our shores are negligible. A British admiral in Foreign Affairs now tells us we really are foolish to bother with any ships over 6,500 tons. In due time we shall have the full formula for a world minded naval limitation policy for Brother Jonathan.

THE ONE ROAD TO TAX RELIEF.

A spokesman for the city administration has announced that expenditures have been reduced by something less than 9 per cent between March and May. This is a good beginning in one of the local governments, but it can hardly be considered as more than that. The work of paring expenditures has only been started. The fact must be faced that the scale of government expenditures still is out of all proportion to the requirements of efficient administration and the ability of the taxpayers.

There is no service which the governor's committee can perform which will be so valuable to the community as an insistence upon the reduction of expenditures. There can be no real tax relief until the costs of government come down. Meanwhile new taxes can only be additional taxes, no matter how scientific the new taxes may be said to be and no matter how august the authorities which recommend them.

The point was well made by Mr. Fred Sargent, president of the North Western railroad, at the first meeting of the executive committee appointed by the governor's conference. "I feel very certain," he said, "that the pay rolls can be scaled down very considerably without any loss of efficiency." Any one who has the least knowledge of the ways of government in this community knows that Mr. Sargent spoke the simple truth. The politicians, of course, will resist any effort to force them to remove deserving lads from the pay rolls, for it is in part by maintaining the pay roll brigade that political machines are kept functioning. But if order is ever to be restored to the chaotic finances of the local governments, the costs must come down.

The costs have increased eleven times as fast as the population in the last fifteen years. Unless the tax spenders restore the balance, the governor's committee can make no recommendations regarding tax assessment and collection that can appreciably improve the present situation.

STALIN RECOGNIZES THE HUMAN RACE.

Stalin's confirmation of the changes proposed for the future of soviet Russia was given in a speech to an industrial conference in late June and now made public. In one concession the dictator recognizes that the incentive of private profit is required. The communistic wage system of uniformity regardless of ability doesn't work. In communistic ideality the skilled and unskilled would willingly share alike. One would produce a great deal more, but he would sink his personal selfishness and work just as hard for the socialist state and for humanity as if he had private gain as an incentive. The worker of less ability would give all he had. If he should be a dumbbell he would get a return nevertheless based upon his needs and not upon his contribution.

Private gain was considered by communism as the evil of society. It produced savage competition, the exploitation of masses by able and unscrupulous men, the concentration of wealth and power and the spread of poverty. Russia was to correct this first by force and then by education and the application of new principles. The Reds destroyed the competent elements of society, trying to exterminate persons of superior intelligence, along with the self-reliant middle class. People who had proved themselves able to rise above the proletariat were doomed because their position indicated superior ability. The kulaks were farmers whose thrift and farming sense had given them superior position in the agricultural lands. They were destroyed.

Now Stalin officially concedes that his system cannot do without the rewards offered by private enterprise. He admits it is "unbearable" that skill and ability should not gain anything for a worker. Profit is admitted into the communistic scheme as a necessary incentive. It is the stimulus needed to get more than perfunctory work out of the workers and into the communistic industrial system. Furthermore Stalin concedes that individual factory management must take the place of committee management.

Individualists will find nothing astonishing in the successive changes in Russian policy. Stalin prefers to retreat again rather than to go smash with communism. He reintroduces some of the rewards of private enterprise, the gains which in such liberty are available to persons with ability to take them. If he keeps on his feet he'll come out with an aristocracy derived from the more pushful proletarians and they for their own protection will dust off the diadem and use it for a new coronation.

LOST SQUASH BEND.

[New York Sun.]

Are American place names too much of a piece? It would seem so when a whole article in American Speech can be devoted to a discussion of the place name Liberty, in Iowa. Allen Walker Read, the writer of the article, has discovered that in 1845, seven years after the creation of Iowa territory, there were forty-four Libertys and seventy-eight Unions in the territory. It was in this same year that a Scottish traveler in the south observed that the name of Liberty had been given to a county in Georgia in which 5,500 of the 7,290 inhabitants were slaves.

Inevitable as the name of Liberty may have seemed to pioneers in a fresh country, it displaced names with more tang and individuality. Liberty, in Clarke county, was once Hickory Point. The postoffice of Liberty disappeared in 1903; the town of 850 inhabitants remains. Squash Bend, in Johnson county, was named for Josiah Crawford, who settled there in 1842 and proceeded to live on a diet of pumpkin and squash. In 1857 a postoffice was established there and the sensitive residents managed to get the name of the town changed to North Liberty.

But for the regulations of the postoffice department forbidding the establishment of more than one postoffice of a name in a state, the abolitionists who settled Iowa would have dotted the state with Libertys. Liberty Center, in Warren county, was settled by abolitionists in 1842 and was known as Liberty until the establishment of a postoffice in 1865. South Liberty was laid out in Johnson county in 1857. West Liberty, in Muscatine county, was founded in 1839; Libertyville, in Jefferson county, in 1840. At one time or another in the forty years that followed creation of the territory twenty of Iowa's ninety-nine counties contained a Liberty. Just before the civil war West Liberty, New Liberty, North Liberty and South Liberty lay within a radius of fifty miles.

The United States mails today carry letters to Liberty Center, Libertyville, North Liberty, New Liberty and West Liberty, in Iowa. Other libertarians dwell in the land of the tall corn and live in villages whose names bespeak their devotion to Liberty, but the postoffice department compels them to get their mail under another name. In the meantime there must be lovers of the picturesque who mourn for the lost village of Squash Bend.

THE CAUSE OF STAMMERING.

STUTTERING and stammering are in no way related to physical defects, peculiarities of the mouth, or any other parts of the speech organs. There is no tongue-tie, cleft, or anything else that is strenuously wrong. Furthermore, stammerers and stutterers use the speech organs, the vocal cords, palate, vault, tongue, and lips just about as other people do.

The same statements hold true as to all other speech defects, with a few exceptions, and those are of secondary importance. For instance, the lispers use the tongue and lips slightly differently from the way others do, and some unusual voice placements result from faulty use of the muscles in the nasal vault region. The trouble with the stutterer and stammerer lies in the brain. His speech machinery is all right, but the engineer who drives it gets mixed up somehow in the doing of his job.

Dr. C. S. Bluemel, long a recognized authority on the subject, says these speech defects result from what is called "speech block." The sufferer knows what he wants to say, but he has difficulty in sending the messages to the muscles which make the sounds required. Realizing that the speech wheels are not turning as they should, the mind goes into what he calls a "tailspin," whereupon speech becomes most difficult and most unsatisfactory. In this designation Dr. Bluemel is taking an old idea and dressing it up into new words. His "speech block" is a very good term with which to designate what others call "a result of fear"; and his "tailspin" corresponds to what has been called "speech panic."

Dr. Bluemel trains stutterers and stammerers out of their speech difficulty by a method that he has described in a book entitled "Mental Aspects of Stammerers" [Williams & Wilkins, 1930]. The method is essentially one of relaxation. He trains his pupils to discontinue the physical trouble which they engage in when they speak.

First, there are lessons in relaxation. The pupil is taught to read with especial reference to the words but with no muscle response on the part of the speech muscles. This he calls "mental speaking." The words are thought, and the speech organs are set for them, but no breath is driven through to make sounds. Not even whispering is done.

The next exercise is reading aloud in unison by a group. Next, the teacher and the pupil read aloud together. If the pupil falters the teacher goes right on and carries across the bridge, the pupil dropping out and then putting in when the fault is passed. Next, the same method is followed with the group, the class associates bridging across the defect.

The aim is to train in relaxation, calm, courage, and self-confidence.

SOMETIMES IT WORKS.

A daily reader writes:

1. I was reading some time ago that it was possible to strengthen weak eyes without the use of medicine or surgery and thus enable a person wearing glasses to discard them. Is this possible?

2. Is glaucoma a serious eye disease? I have all the symptoms and would like to know if I should have it attended to?

3. Will it eventually lead to total blindness?

REPLY.

1. This method has a very limited field of usefulness.

2. It is—very.

3. It usually does. Glaucoma outranks cataract as a cause of blindness of the aged.

TUBERCULAR CHICKENS.

Mrs. L. T. writes:

1. What should be done with a flock of tubercular chickens?

2. Can they be used for food?

3. Can they be sold, or is there a law forbidding this?

REPLY.

1. They should be killed. The premises should be well cleaned and sunned. The approved method of keeping flocks free from tuberculosis is to kill all birds at two years of age or younger.

2. They are safe if thoroughly cooked.

3. If there is any law against the sale of tuberculous chickens I do not know. Of course, it is against the laws of honesty and fair dealing.

WEEDY LOT.

Chicago, July 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there a state, county, or city law which makes it compulsory for the owner to cut the weeds and grass on the lot? I have cleaned the lot a good distance from the sidewalk, but some persons still insist the whole lot be kept free of weeds. M. A. M.

We find no such provision as to weeds other than Canada thistles.

NEW FENCE PROMISED.

Chicago, June 28.—[Friend of the People.]—About two weeks ago, presumably by authority of the board of education, the south fence of the east playground of the Morris school, corner of Barry avenue and Wilton avenue, was removed. This is a high board fence separating the schoolyard from the premises of four different property owners to the south, there being no alley here, and the removal of this fence opens all of these private yards to trespass by both humans and animals, and is a great nuisance. Can you advise when the board of education intends to replace this fence? H. S. G.

The fence posts on the grounds of the Robert Morris school were in a dangerous condition due to decay and the fence was removed to prevent possible injury to children. Our repair department is now advertising for bids on the erection of a new wire fence of the cyclone type.

LANDLORD HOLDS TRUNK.

Chicago, July 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can the owner of a rooming house hold the personal belongings of a roomer who is three months behind in rent? 2. If not, what procedure should one take? E. A.

1. He has no technical right to hold the goods without court proceedings. By such proceedings he can hold the excess above legal exemptions which, in the case of heads of families, amount to $400 worth and in other cases to $100 worth.

2. If you wish to force matters legally you should employ an attorney.

WE ARE SORRY Cal Coolidge is not running his column right now. We should like to hear his summing up of the French attitude towards the moratorium. It might be (notice the might) something like this: "France is hesitating on the debt moratorium. Hesitation is sometimes fatal. Again, it may prove to have been a blessing. France is a great nation, bounded by Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, the Mediterranean sea, Spain, and the British channel. Germany seems to bind it the most. Paris is the capital. They drink wine in Paris. We do not drink wine in the United States. It is forbidden by the 18th amendment."

THE VANDERBILTS are a wonderful family. The front page is seldom without sensational stories of the latest Vanderbilt divorce, but right now all the newspapers are busy with columns and columns about the approaching wedding of another Vanderbilt heiress (pictures on the back page). Yessir, the Vanderbilts never get discouraged. And, besides, if they didn't get married now and then, how could they have all the fun of getting divorced?

THE "HEIMAT" CALL.

We heard the tall trees' whisper, the cry of hill and plain,
"Come home! Come home!" and every luring trail
Has smiled its invitation, "Come back! Come back again!"
And our homing hearts are answering the call.
Have you kept for us, great mother, a place within your heart
As sanctuary from the moil and strife
Where we may tell our rosaries, each gleaming bead a part
Of some dream you cherished for us long ago?
Do you give to us, your rovers, some little meed of love
For the keeping of those dreams throughout the years,
For the luminous ideals world-derision could not move,
Our loyalty, our labor, and . . . our tears?
We have haggled in the market-place with talk of loss and gain,
Now we come like children tired at close of day
For the mother-smile of welcome that is balm for all the pain
And the clasp of friendship's hand within our own.
For we heard the tall trees' whisper, the cry of hill and plain,
"Come home! Come home!" and on the winding trail
Each bird went blithely caroling, "Come back! Come back again!"
And we're here in answer to the "heimat" call.

ETHELYN BRYANT CHAPMAN.

A WOMAN 100 YEARS OLD interviewed on her conclusions in regard to life said: "Men are a great nuisance, but they make a woman happy." The ladies are prone to announce that men are a great nuisance from the time they are about sixteen years old, but they usually do not admit they make a woman happy until they reach the ripe old age of one hundred.

MABEL WALKER WILLEBRANDT has filed a test case in the United States Court of Appeals to find out who owns the air, contending that a land owner does not own the land above his property. Must be somebody up in the clouds Mabel wants to sell her California wine to.

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY in New York harbor is to have her face lifted and some more much needed beauty work done. It seems that during the last few years the passage of many stringent laws has caused the Statue of Liberty such severe pains in the neck that her face now wears a deeply disgusted expression, and she glowers so dismally at the beaming and expectant arrivals at the emigrant station that it's been decided that something ought to be done about it.

EIGHT PERSONS were killed by fireworks over the Fourth, one hundred and eighteen by autos, and one hundred and thirty-nine by drowning. The many years' campaign to keep people from blowing themselves up with fireworks has brought good results. But the trouble with people is that when we shoo 'em away from one danger they promptly turn and jump into another. As Cleopatra once irritably remarked to Marc Antony, "Oh, what's the use?"

HASN'T TIME TO DO ANY WORK

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 7, 1915.

MINEOLA, N. Y.—Frank Holt—now fully identified as Prof. Erich Muenter—who on Saturday shot and seriously wounded J. P. Morgan, committed suicide in the Nassau county jail. It was his second attempt to destroy himself in 24 hours, the first having been defeated by jail attendants. He killed himself by climbing through the opening at the top of his cell door and then plunging to the court below. In his earlier attempt he tried to open an artery in his wrist with the tin end of a lead pencil. Nassau county authorities discovered the place where Holt practiced with dynamite, revolvers, sulphuric acid, and the like. During the day he made a confession which threw some additional light on his bomb attack on the United States capitol on last Friday.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, called on Secretary of State Lansing to lay before him evidence collected by the British embassy to prove there is a gigantic plot engineered by German agents to blow up ammunition factories in this country, together with trains and ships carrying war supplies to the allies.

CHICAGO.—Lincoln park was taken out of the hands of the politicians and delivered into the keeping of a man who was recommended as one of the most gifted and experienced landscape gardeners in the United States. He is Reuben H. Warder, until recently superintendent of Cincinnati's park system. The board named him to the combined positions of superintendent and secretary of the park.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—More than 3,000 residents of Bloomington indulged in the annual fishing festival at Lake Miller, a three acre body of water in which no fishing is permitted at other times. It was Bloomington's "national holiday" and the spectacle of an entire town going fishing was presented. Charlie Smith was the champion of the fish fest. His string outweighed himself—they said.

CHICAGO.—The La Grange Country club voted 45 to 15 against playing Sunday golf on the links of the club. The liberal element is so dissatisfied with the result that they say they will organize a new club.

JULY 7, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Garfield awoke at 2 a. m. feeling much refreshed after several hours' sleep. His pulse is below 100 and the conditions are all favorable. Physicians expressed the belief that he has ten days to live at the least.

The night is intensely hot, but the temperature of the sick chamber has been materially diminished by the adoption of the system of refrigerators substantially as suggested by the Hon. Joseph Medill of Chicago. Woolen curtains are suspended from wires near the ceiling, the bottom of which rest in ice water placed in V-shaped tubs on the floor. The iced water is absorbed and spread over the surface of the curtains by capillary attraction. The President took some chicken broth and the albumen part of an egg at various intervals during the day. He even asked for beefsteak, saying that he was quite hungry, but the physicians refused this request. Dr. Bliss left the White House at 9 p. m. to secure his first night's sleep since the President was shot on July 2. He expressed the belief that the period has passed when peritonitis is likely to occur. Regarding the lodging place of the bullet, Dr. Bliss said: "There are no symptoms or evidence indicating the location of the ball, nor has it been a matter of importance thus far in the treatment of the case. It may be in the substance of the liver or may have passed entirely through the liver and lodged in the walls of the abdomen."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—None of the many officers employed on the case believes that Charles J. Guiteau had an accomplice. Guiteau still remains at the jail and talks readily to all who approach him with the desire to converse and is constantly inquiring after the President's condition.

A DISGUSTING SPECTACLE.

Chicago, July 1.—The writer has been a north side resident for some ten years, and during all that time I have not seen the beach and walks, stretching from Oak street north, covered with so much filth and litter as there is now strewn all over the place. Cannot labor be gotten cheaply enough to remove the shameful stain from so beautiful a spot?

It is time that the commissioners be stirred from their lethargy and devote at least some thought to public hygiene. Would it be too presumptuous to say that if the commissioners mixed some esthetics with engineering it might prove beneficial to this community in health and beauty? A. F.

THE CONTINUATION SCHOOLS.

Chicago, June 22.—During the second half of the present school year the continuation schools of Chicago have been open to those out of work. They have enrolled thousands of young unemployed people and offered them training in various commercial and industrial subjects, such as bookkeeping, accounting, typewriting, shorthand, and others. Now the board of education has indicated that all such students will be limited to one day attendance per week. Whatever the cause of such a ruling may be, the ruling itself is bad and its results are bound to be worse.

To have our unemployed people going to school is of inestimable value from the social point of view. Those people cannot stay at home all the time. They have nowhere to go. By going to school they do not get into the habit of loafing on the street corners where our hoodlums are gathering. Those out of work and their families are given satisfaction and assurance that they are making some progress in spite of being unemployed and that they are increasing their earning capacities, which they will be able to utilize when better times arrive. And, finally, through the wholesome atmosphere of the school environment, they are helped to preserve their self-respect and at least keep on hoping for better times.

Through such services our public schools can be of the greatest value regarding good citizenship. At this time, when charges of graft are heard from all directions, our public schools are the best agencies through which to preserve the ideals of our democracy and to restore confidence in our government. This can be done not only through the instruction given to school children; it can be done even more effectively through the instruction given those who have just outgrown the compulsory attendance period. It can be done best by opening more schools for the unemployed, and not by closing even those that have been open till now.

SIMON TROJAR.

THE SPORTS CONGRESS.

Berwyn, Ill., June 23.—Here is one compliment to THE TRIBUNE on running the Sports Congress Sunday, June 21. I was one of the 20,000 who saw the huge meet of gymnasts and to my opinion it was one of the greatest shows I have ever seen. Only one thing was missing: A handy program listing all the events as they occurred, although everybody was notified through the loud speaker system. JOHN J. KALIVODO.

TWO KINDS OF ECONOMICS.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 22.—She came into the office holding daddy's hand, her round eyes full of curiosity, but with nothing of fear in them, because the office was such a curious place. There were such odd noises and the clack of typewriters and the whir of calculators drove any thought of fear out of her lovely little head. Besides, she had hold of daddy's hand.

But daddy was afraid; that was why he had brought her. She was the last card in his game of getting a job so that baby daughter, the other three children, and the wife who had dressed her so neatly might have something to eat.

He looked like a good man. He probably would make an intelligent, willing worker, once the fear was out of his heart. But how could we employ him? Helping the boys in the shipping room keep up with current literature!

There is something wrong with [illegible] less Herbert, who declares a moratorium of 240 millions to aid foreigners and then talks fundamental economics to men like daddy. Fundamental economics are all right in their place, but to what good the sermon?

There are two kinds of economics: financial and political. Herbert Hoover may be the wizard that war propaganda claimed he was; however, he seems to be the wizard of political economy for starving Belgium and whipped Germany, and the wizard of financial economy for the citizens of the United States.

Give 'em jobs, Hoover. Give 'em jobs before you bring the government of the United States, as at present constituted, crashing around our ears.

STATISTICIAN.

UNPAID ALDERMEN.

Chicago, June 25.—A change that could be made in Cook county that would be of monetary benefit to the taxpayers is to have the position of alderman and county commissioner an honorary one. They could easily hold their sessions at night and do more effective work with high caliber men of industry devoting a few nights a week to the business of the city and county. This, as I understand, is the system that prevails in England for the house of commons.

GARRETT J. [illegible]

AT THE AIRPORT.

Chicago, June 29.—I would like to know what the idea is of putting up that high fence around the municipal airport [illegible] public park. A fence half that high would be enough to keep the people out and still allow them to watch the airplanes. This way you can't see anything, especially when the sun is shining.

MARGARET U. [illegible]

REQUEST FOR FACTS.

Chicago, June 20.—I am interested to know what there is to support the claim that prohibition is responsible for the present business depression. I read this charge every now and then; but I never read of it as coming from financial experts, bankers, or writers on economic subjects. If there is any substance to this accusation against the 18th amendment it would be a contribution to the sum total of human knowledge [illegible] it be printed where we all could understand it. MRS. UNMEN NAMED N 3 ROBBERIES GET LIGHT TERMS

Guilty of Petty Larceny, Judge Rules.

Judge Joseph Burke of the Criminal court yesterday found that four youthful gunmen, who had committed at least three robberies known to the [illegible], were in fact only guilty of petty larceny—a crime defined by the statutes as the theft of any money or goods of the value of less than $15. The four defendants were sentenced to the Pontiac reformatory for terms of one year each while a fifth defendant, who had committed only two robberies, was placed on probation.

Frank Tedescoe, 17 years old, and [illegible] Fragola, 21 years old, were named in three robbery indictments, [illegible] Ravenick, 18 years old, and Frank Bailey, 24 years old, were named in four separate indictments. [illegible] Lococco, 23 years old, who was implicated in only two robberies, was the one placed on probation.

Agrees to Aid State.

Assistant State's Attorneys Abraham Marovitz and Albert Woll, who were in charge of the prosecution, [illegible] the felony in the case of Bailey [illegible] his sentence would be no more severe than that of his co-defendants. The prosecutors had [illegible] to grant some leniency to Bailey because of his disposition to help convict his pals. He promptly confessed when caught by the police and entered a plea of guilty and agreed to be a state witness.

[illegible] Gen. John V. Clinnin appeared as the attorney for Bailey. Attorney [illegible] A. Malato, former assistant state's attorney, represented Lococco and [illegible] O'Hara appeared in behalf of Ravenick.

Despite the fact that all the defendants confessed to their crimes at the time of arrest, all but Bailey told the judge in their pleas of not guilty that they had not committed the crimes charged. Prosecutors Marovitz and Woll made a point of this and said that in view of the fact that the defendants were willing to lie to the courts, if it was possible, they would not consent to any leniency. The defendants, however, did waive a jury trial.

First Trial Voided.

The case was originally tried on Friday and it was indicated at that time that sentences of 1 to 10 years in Pontiac on grand larceny charges would be inflicted on Tedescoe, Ravenick and Fragola. The order, however, was voided, and the case called again yesterday. After a conference in chambers between the lawyers, it was announced that because it was the first offense for the defendants and because they came of good families that they would be found guilty of petit larceny and given the minor sentence of 1 year each in Pontiac. Lococco was given probation.

Under the statutes robbery, which is the theft of any sum or article by force or intimidation—is punishable by an indeterminate sentence of 1 year to life in the penitentiary. For this crime a defendant cannot be sentenced to the reformatory.

One Victim Robbed Twice.

Adolph Berger, 1415 East 68th street, who twice was the victim of the youthful gunmen, appealed to the Chicago crime commission three weeks ago. This was after the defendants had taken a change of venue from Judge Philip J. Finnegan, who has obtained a reputation among the criminal court lawyers and defendants for being severe with criminals. At that time Berger complained that he was "pushed around" by the court officials when he tried to find out who would try the case and when it would be disposed of.

Berger was robbed of $123 on Feb. 7 and on the second visit of the bandits to his delicatessen store on March 28 he lost $87. Maurice Newman, [illegible] Newberry avenue, was robbed of $25 on March 25 and George [illegible], [illegible] East 40th street, gave up [illegible] at the point of a revolver on March 12.

ALCOCK SAYS HE WILL ENFORCE ANTI-STAR LAW

Enforcement of the new state law which prohibits the use of stars on automobiles except by state officers, members of the general assembly and police officers was promised yesterday by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock. An order informing police of the new law will be issued as soon as a copy can be obtained.

A city ordinance prohibiting the use of stars on automobiles by any one except policemen on active duty will go into effect on July 10. This ordinance also will be enforced, Alcock said.

RELEASE 3 SEIZED IN GAME WARDEN DEATH MYSTERY

Authorities Fail in Hunt for Killer.

The murder of Charles W. Eldredge, a state game warden and McHenry county politician, remained a mystery last night. Three men seized early in the day were released and the authorities confessed themselves without a single clew to the slaying which took place Saturday on Mr. Eldredge's island game preserve near Richmond, in McHenry county.

John Wersching, 26 years old, 1637 Burling street, and Michael Andree and Nick Andree, brothers, of 2050 Cornelia avenue, were these in custody for a few hours yesterday. A fishing license issued to Wersching had been found in the dead warden's pocket.

Stopped By Eldredge.

Wersching and the Andree brothers satisfied police that they were innocent of any knowledge of the crime. Wersching said the three of them nad gone fishing June 14. They were stopped at Lake Villa by Eldredge to inspect their fishing license. Wersching produced his license and Eldredge retained it, stating that it had been incorrectly filled out. He gave Wersching a card to allow him to continue fishing and told him to get another license.

The warden was killed by a single bullet while near the edge of a creek on his 40 acre island preserve and had staggered some 300 feet towards his automobile when he died.

Beside his boat was found his own revolver with one bullet fired from it. He had carried the weapon for twenty-four years since his brother, Earl, had been murdered with the gun in 1907. Another revolver was found in his hip pocket.

Seek Clew Through Pistol.

Eldredge's son, William, 30 years old, said he had never seen this other gun and police were tracing the serial numbers in the hope of obtaining a clew.

A thorough search of the ground in the vicinity of the slaying was made by Chief of Police Otto Buchert of Richmond and a group of men, but nothing was found hinting at the identity of the slayer. A suicide theory was eliminated because there were no powder marks on the clothing and no apparent motive.

SHERIFF DEFENDS NEW STARS AND COURTESY CARDS

Sheriff William D. Meyering did not appear before the county board yesterday to explain his incurring a bill for $1,000 for stars without authorization from the board. However, he defended his action and said he would appear before the board whenever invited to do so. He declared he had not been invited.

Sheriff Meyering said there were so many special deputy sheriff stars outstanding from other administrations that he felt called upon to change the design and issue new stars which, by their design, render the old stars useless. He has issued special deputy stars only upon the recommendation of some responsible company or public official, he said, and he did not intend that there should be any abuse of the privilege.

Likewise he defended the issuance of courtesy cards similar to those which caused a few scandals during the régime of former sheriffs. Those receiving the cards are reputable citizens, recommended by persons in whom he has confidence, he said. The special deputies would constitute a reserve group in case of emergency, Sheriff Meyering declared, and no right to violate any laws is conveyed by the courtesy cards.

Husband Throws Pepper; Wife Granted a Divorce

Her husband forbade her bobbing her hair, Mrs. Arthur Bauer, 1310 West 73d street, told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday. When she had it bobbed anyway, he showered her with red pepper on her return from the hairdresser, she charged. She was granted a divorce, and her husband was ordered to pay her $12 a week alimony. Mrs. Bauer was represented by Attorney Victor Frolich.

3 GUNMEN SLAY GANGSTER, ONCE AID OF DIAMOND

Charles Entratta Is Killed at Bottling Plant.

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Charles Entratta, whose duties as a trusted henchman of Jack [Legs] Diamond, gangster, racketeer and beer runner, brought him often into conflict with the law, violated his parole today for the last time.

After his last escape he was put on probation with the stipulation that he must not return to New York City. He could not keep away, however, and this afternoon he was shot and killed by three gunmen in the office of the G. Winkenfeld company's bottle factory in Brooklyn.

Entratta, who usually managed to wriggle through loopholes in the law, had no chance to defend himself when the emissaries of the underworld called to settle their own score with him. He was shot throught the back without warning while chatting with Abner Traub, one of his partners in the bottle factory.

Killers Escape in Auto.

The killers fled in a waiting car and, as in usual cases, the police had many theories but no prisoners. Entratta had made many enemies in his career and the detectives were uncertain which one had the strongest motive for killing him. They leaned somewhat to the theory that the killing was in some way connected with the attempts of Chicago gunmen to "muscle in" on the lucrative Brooklyn beer barons and the determination of the latter to freeze them out.

The name of Al Capone was connected with this theory, and rumors had it that Al had been in Brooklyn recently, lining up his forces for a new beer and gang war.

Since Entratta was acquitted of the murder of Simon Walker and William Cassidy in the Hotsy Totsy Night club two summers ago, he apparently had prospered. When police searched the pockets of his expensive and showy suit, they found $1,000 in cash and checks for a similar amount. He arrived at the place where he was killed in an expensive new sedan driven by a chauffeur in livery.

Shot Five Times.

Traub was sitting behind a desk, facing the door. Entratta was talking to him. Three men entered carrying automatics. Traub dove under his desk as the three opened fire. Five bullets struck Entratta, three entering his brain, but Traub escaped without a scratch.

The latest victim of gang vengeance was 30 years old. He had had a stormy career. In 1923 he was sentenced to serve from 3 to 23 years in Sing Sing for a robbery in Brooklyn. In 1927 he associated himself with Legs Diamond.

CERMAK MOVES TO CUT ROLL OF POLICE CAPTAINS

Orders Survey of Work Done by Each.

Mayor Cermak, continuing his economy campaign, directed his attention to the police department yesterday and threatened that if a survey which he ordered shows that the department has too many captains, the excess officers will be reduced to lieutenancies.

There are fifty-four captains in the department, and only forty stations for them to command. Capt. Matthew Zimmer is temporarily detached from the Maxwell street station to organize the new stolen automobile bureau, leaving Lieut. Philip Parodi an acting captain, so there are only thirty-nine captains actually commanding stations.

Five in Important Posts.

Of the remaining fifteen captains, five beside Capt. Zimmer have what might be termed assignments of major importance. They are Capt. James Allman, who is on a special assignment for Acting Commissioner Alcock; Capt. William Killeen, assigned some months ago to organize the bureau of criminal information; Capt. Joseph O'Connell, in command of the traffic division; Capt. William Shoemaker, in command of the new "Scotland Yard" division of criminal investigation, and Capt. George O'Connor, in charge of the gambling squad.

Four of the other nine captains are assigned to the first deputy's roll, one to the miscellanous division, and four to the detective bureau. All of them are either at stations as substitutes for captains who are sick or on vacations, or are performing duties formerly assigned to lieutenants or sergeants. Neither Chief of Detectives Norton nor his assistant, Lawrence Rafferty, holds the civil service rank of captain.

Asks Alcock to Report.

In the report which he called for the mayor asked Acting Commissioner Alcock to list all of the captains, their age, length of service, when they were made captains, and what their present assignments are.

"There is no bench in the department now," the mayor said. "If we have too many captains, those last made will go back to the rank of lieutenant, and we'll appropriate only lieutenants' pay for them in the next budget."

The mayor also set out to find why sixty patrolmen are assigned to duty in various offices in the city hall and county building. The assignments were largely inherited from the previous city administration.

Clean Up City Hall.

Six of the patrolmen, however, have been assigned at the request of Commissioner of Public Works Sprague to clean up conditions which existed in the city hall when the Cermak administration took office. Col. Sprague found that vagrants from the lodging house districts on the fringes of the downtown district had been permitted to sleep in the city hall.

Many of the men assigned to offices, the mayor said, are performing work as information clerks, doormen or night watchmen which could be done as well by lower paid employés, releasing the policemen for street duty.

Critizes Former Administration.

Mayor Cermak criticized the preceding administration for allowing a large number of city employés to be reinstated on civil service rolls after they had been dropped for cause.

"Under the previous administration," he said, "415 city employés, mostly policemen and firemen, were reinstated after they had been fired by the civil service commission, or after they had been permitted to resign in the face of charges. Many of the policemen so fired and later reinstated faced charges of intoxication."

According to Acting Commissioner Alcock, many of the employés succeeded in getting their jobs back through court action because the office of former Corporation Counsel Ettelson failed to take proper action.

school board $48,220,000, and the county $13,536,000—a total of $103,296,227.

Permits Bond Issuance.

The plan permits issuance of bonds for interest on these warrants, which would add about $6,000,000, making the aggregate bonds of the three governments in excess of $109,000,000, and that amount would not be levied in taxes for these three governments in 1931, according to the program.

The technical and legal phases of the plan are to be explained Thursday evening by William Wilhartz, D. A. Kimbark, M. S. Winning, Hayden Bell, and Harry P. Chandler to the Brittain committee.

EMMERSON IS ASSAILED

William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission, yesterday addressed an open letter to Gov. Emmerson attacking portions of a speech made by the governor last week during a conference called to discuss revenue relief measures. Mr. Malone some time ago announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. As tax commissioner he ordered the Cook county revaluation in 1927.

"How do you, as governor of the state, hope or expect to cure an ailment, the recognized cause of which you refused to admit?" the letter read. "For two years you have tried to protect the board of assessors and board of review of Cook county. For two years, you have defended their official conduct and tried to justify the antiquated system under which they operate. All the while you have known that these boards have functioned with utter disregard of justice and uniformity.

Tries to Shift Blame.

"Now you have sought to excuse them in your message to your committee by attempting to blame the reassessment and state tax commission for the 'unparalleled revenue situation.'

"When orderly methods were being gradually established through the upheaval of reassessment, the public witnessed the spectacle of two members of the degraded board of assessors being appointed by you as members of the tax commission.

A Challenge to Governor.

"Gov. Emmerson, my challenge to you is that you prove your statement that the reassessment order was in any way responsible for our financial chaos. My plea to you is that, even at this late date, you acknowledge the cause of our tax difficulties so that your committee may intelligently and courageously recommend the proper measure to remove that cause."

Reviewers to Start City Tax Hearings Tomorrow

The board of review yesterday voted to receive complaints against the 1930 real estate assessment from Chicago taxpayers for a ten day period beginning tomorrow. Complaints against assessments in the country town areas are now being received.

YOUR INCOME
Can Be Seriously Affected

ASIDE from protecting your health purely for health's sake and all that it means to human happiness there's an important economic factor involved that should engage the attention of every man and woman. Good health is a great economic force in itself. It has much to do with your condition in life, for it is a fact that healthy people earn more and are less likely to be dependent upon others for their support. Social diseases, syphilis and gonorrhea are dangerous menaces to good health. They destroy efficiency (earning power), and seriously affect your income. Millions of dollars are lost to industry and wage earners annually through sickness and disability due to these diseases. This economic burden is shared by every man and woman. It becomes a serious reality when the chief support of a family is disabled. Untreated or improperly treated cases of syphilis and gonorrhea are almost certain to cause serious consequences. This is especially true of syphilis. A frequent result is heart trouble—and heart disease has increased so rapidly that it is now the leading cause of death.

Other possible dangerous results are paresis (a form of insanity), locomotor ataxia, blindness, nervous disorders and serious operations on women. Proper and timely medical care nearly always will prevent these disabling results, for syphilis and gonorrhea can be permanently cured. Experience is a very important factor in the successful treatment of these diseases. Only skillful and reliable physicians who have devoted years to this particular field of medicine should administer the various treatments which medical science has provided. Extreme care must be exercised in selecting the treatment that the patient's condition requires. For this reason persons afflicted with a social disease should seek experienced medical care immediately. Do not attempt to treat the disease yourself, nor let anyone who is not a doctor treat you or direct your treatment. Such treatment is more dangerous than no treatment at all—as it often causes serious complications which greatly increase the trained doctor's problem.

Good medical treatment for either gonorrhea or syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood and other necessary laboratory tests, can be secured within your means from an experienced family physician, or from the Public Health Institute. Treatment also is available through many free clinics for those without funds.

The Public Health Institute was organized more than ten years ago to combat "social diseases" (syphilis and gonorrhea) in Chicago. Every facility necessary for competent and reliable medical service is provided. Members of its medical staff are experienced and are registered by the State. All treatment and advice are given by these men and women physicians.

The fees are within the reach of all. The first examination is only $3.00, and includes Wassermann and Kahn blood and other laboratory tests. Six consecutive treatments in the Urological or Gynecological Department for $4.00. Examination and treatment are available to those without immediate funds.

More details of this subject will be found in Leaflets Nos. 1 and 2, sent free in plain envelope on request.

Announcement . . . This advertisement has been submitted to and been approved by the Medical Advisory Board which has been formed at the invitation of the Trustees. It is published by a health agency established for public service to inform the public of the dangers of "social diseases," of the importance of securing good medical care, and the facilities whereby this can be obtained.

CERMAK AND PARTY SAIL LAKE 3 HOURS ON SHIP NEW TO CHICAGO

Mayor Cermak and a party of Chicago and Milwaukee politicians and business men sailed Lake Michigan for more than three hours last night aboard the S. S. Tionesta, which the Great Lakes Transit company is placing in service between Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, and other ports.

The steamship left Navy pier at 5 p. m., sailing south to a point off Gary, then turning north as far as Lincoln park, whence it returned to its dock. Dinner was served on board and the Tionesta moored at 8:20 p. m.

About 450 men took the trip. Chicagoans included Mr. Cermak, Sheriff Meyering, President Whealen of the Cook county board, State Treasurer Barrett, former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, Collector of Customs Czarnecki, United States Marshal Laubenheimer, Judge Denis E. Sullivan, County Commissioner Weber, and State Representatives John Lee and Raymond O'Keefe.

The Milwaukee party included Ald. John Koerner and Charles O'Connor, K. K. Chalmers of the Kiwanis club, Ted Friedlander of the Association of Commerce, Rudolph Hokanson of the Milwaukee airport, and Norman Kopmeier of the Wisconsin Coal and Ice company.

The Tionesta has been in service on others of the great lakes and is one of the largest passenger vessels sailing them. Two sister ships maintain a service between Buffalo and Duluth.

GIVE ULTIMATUM TO NICKEL PLATE ON HARBOR PLAN

The council committee of harbors, wharves and bridges served notice on the Nickel Plate railroad yesterday that unless the railroad is ready within thirty days to reopen negotiations for the construction of the Lake Calumet harbor and terminal, other railroads will be approached on the subject.

The Nickel Plate reached an agreement with the city on the project in 1925, and an ordinance was passed. That failed of approval by state authorities through an oversight of officials of the last city administration, who misplaced the ordinance in the files of the office of the commissioner of public works. It was not found until Commissioner of Public Works Sprague took office.

FOES IN COUNCIL PREPARE TO FIGHT PHONE FRANCHISE

Draft Amendments for Ordinance.

In preparing to fight against the passage of the proposed franchise grant to the Illinois Bell Telephone company, opponents of the ordinance yesterday were drafting amendments to be submitted tomorrow at the meeting of the city council. The franchise will be brought up for final passage at the meeting.

Objections raised against the ordinance when it was in committee centered on the provisions relating to the amount of compensation to be paid by the company to the city, and relating to the payment of the cost of relocating the company's equipment during the construction of subways.

Proposal Divides Costs.

The old ordinance, which expired in January, 1929, definitely obligated the company to pay all of the relocation costs. In the proposed franchise it is stated that the telephone company shall not be required to pay a greater proportionate part of such costs than the Commonwealth Edison company and the local transportation companies.

An estimate that the relocation costs may be as high as $500,000 a mile has been given to the aldermen. If the telephone company does not have to pay all of this sum, the opponents argue, the city will be forced to divert money from the traction fund for this purpose.

Another point raised by several aldermen was that the company, because of its obligation as stated in the old ordinance, must have set aside a fund to pay for relocating its equipment, and if the company does not pay all the relocation costs the city, in effect, will be making a gift of a portion of such reserve fund to the company.

Called Indeterminate Plan.

The franchise has been characterized by Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady [14th] as practically an indeterminate franchise because of the provision that it shall operate for a period of 23 years and thereafter until terminated by a six months' written notice either by the city or the company.

"If this ordinance passes it virtually confers upon the telephone company a valuable franchise in perpetuity," said Ald. O'Grady. "It deprives the city of revenue that it is entitled to, and it deprives the public of service to which it is justly entitled.

"It also puts the burden of expense upon the city for the relocation and reconstruction of lines and telephone equipment in the event of subway construction, and it does not provide proper compensation to the city for the enormous value which the ordinance will confer upon the telephone company.

Denied Right to Scan Books.

For the fixed period of the ordinance the city will lose $2,221,749 in compensation in comparison to what the company would have been forced to pay under the compensation features of the old franchise, Ald. O'Grady stated.

Another objection raised by O'Grady is that the city is denied under the proposed franchise the right it had under the old to examine the books, accounts and contracts of the company.

$1,052,000 WORTH OF COUNTY BONDS SOLD TO BANKS

Cook county yesterday sold $1,052,400 worth of 5 per cent one year refunding bonds to pay off the balance of the bond issues which it failed to meet when they fell due on June 1. The bonds were sold at par, plus accrued interest, to the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, the First-Union Trust and Savings bank, the Harris Trust company and the Northern Trust company. Those institutions took over payment of the bonds on June 1, to prevent an actual default and consequent loss of credit by the county. The bonds were sold under the act of the last legislature permitting local governments to refund bond issues which they are unable to meet at maturity.

County Board Gets Bids on $253,895 Road Work

Bids on ten highway construction projects involving ten miles of paving were received yesterday by the county board. The low bids totaling $253,895, were referred to the committee on roads and bridges for consideration. The board approved the transfer of $25,500 from the junior civil engineers' appropriation to the laborers' division. The $57,750 appropriation to the latter division for 1931 has been exhausted.

ALBERT DORNE

Roller-skating rinks were quite the thing in the Gay Nineties, but not today. Refrigerators, too, have changed a lot since those days.

Now you can have an automatic refrigerator that has no moving parts, makes no sound—Electrolux

TIMES HAVE changed, and so have automatic refrigerators. Take Electrolux for example.

This refrigerator is automatic without moving parts. A tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water do all the work. Constant, steady cold, but no noise, no wear or vibration. A few cents a day is the total operating cost.

No alternate stopping and starting. Instead, continuous chilling action. Refrigerant hermetically sealed in rigid steel, and needs no renewal. Gas flame completely protected by an automatic shut-off. Installation easy. Connections for gas and water are through concealed flexible copper tubing. And should your Electrolux ever need adjustment, you get the service for which your gas company is famous.

Electrolux prices no higher than those of other makes. The thing to do is to see this refrigerator at your gas company's showrooms. Eleven different household models, 3 cu. ft. to 20 cu. ft. capacity. For complete information just write us or phone Wabash 6000.

BATTLE IN COURT OVER ASSETS OF WOMAN'S ESTATE

Refuse Approval to Gunn-Jones Inventory.

The inventory of the estate of Mrs. Kitty Gunn Jones, 74 years old, listing assets of $160,000, was refused approval yesterday by N. J. Bonelli, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. Approval was denied on the announcement of attorneys, representing relatives of Mrs. Jones, that they will contest the inventory on the ground that it does not disclose assets which they estimate at $437,000.

Mrs. Jones died Sept. 8, 1930. Her will left her entire estate to her second husband, Maj. George W. Jones, 47 years old. Her brother, Charles Oakley, and two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Koch and Mrs. Louise E. Thompson, sought an exhumation alleging circumstances surrounding their sister's death to be mysterious. They also challenged the will as a forgery.

Will Is Held Invalid.

The petition for an exhumation was denied, but Judge Horner held the will to be invalid and appointed the Cook County Trust company as administrator of the estate.

The brother and sisters brought a bill to annul the marriage of Mrs. Jones to her second husband, charging he plied her with liquor and played upon her belief in spiritualism to win her. This bill is pending. The inventory was filed by Attorney Gilbert F. Wagner, representing Jones. It lists as the chief items of the estate $15,400 in Standard Oil Company of California, securities $63,000 in the United States Steel company and $19,000 in cash.

Judge Bonelli advised the law firm of Parker & McDowell, representing the relatives, of the filing of the inventory. They asked approval be denied until it be examined by them.

Kellogg Inventory Filed.

The inventory of the estate of Mrs. Mary Frances Kellogg, widow of the late Milo G. Kellogg, founder of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, was filed before Judge Bonelli. It lists assets estimated at more than $3,000,000. Mrs. Kellogg died May 12, 1930, in Pasadena, Cal., at the age of 82.

The inventory lists stocks valued at $1,156,000, of which $453,220 are in the Kellogg company. Bonds are listed at $680,000, including $350,000 in Liberty bonds, and real estate at 515 South Wells street, 1210 East 47th street, 63rd street and Yale avenue and the northeast corner of Adams and Market streets, at $1,250,000.

Her will left $330,000 outright to each of two sons, Leroy D. Kellogg of Deerfield and James G. Kellogg of Winnetka. The balance was left in trust, one-quarter to each of the sons and the remainder to six grandchildren.

Richard J. Wright, Father of Assistant Sheriff, Dies

Richard J. Wright, father of Assistant Sheriff Frank A. Wright, died yesterday at his home, 1517 East 67th place. He was 73 years old. Until pensioned in 1928, Mr. Wright had been a foreman for the Wabash railroad for 46 years.

FICKLE FAME PUTS BUST OF LEVINE IN SECOND HAND SHOP

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Charles Levine probably knows by now that fame is a fickle sort of thing. And that four years is a long time in these days of nine-day around-the-world flights.

CHARLES LAVINE.

Levine may have been thinking the same thing a few years ago when he called in a sculpton to perpetuate his name and face in bronze as the first trans-Atlantic passenger. A bronze bust resulted.

It's about that bust that the story revolves. For some time it graced his offices at 1819 Broadway. Today the subject of the bust has been "missing" for several months; his planes have been seized and auctioned for nonpayment of hanger rental; his wife has filed suit for divorce; the district attorney would like to question him about some stocks.

But, although Levine is "missing" officially, the bronze bust is not. It is at this moment gracing the show windows of a second hand furniture shop just north of Broome street on the Bowery and is for sale. The store bought the bust at public auction.

4 BRITISH M. P.'S APOLOGIZE FOR COMMONS FIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—The four Labor members of parliament who went to the defense of John McGovern in his battle with house of commons attendants on Thursday when the latter tried to eject McGovern, apologized at today's session.

Prime Minister MacDonald was asked to let the matter drop, and Stanley Baldwin and David Lloyd George, Conservative and Liberal leaders, concurred.

James Maxton broke the ice. He admitted that his actions were "indefensible." L. Kinley, another repentent battler, brought choruses of "oh's" when he pointed out in his apology that the attendants themselves are members of the working classes, which the Labor party is representing. Nothing was said of McGovern, who yesterday made a fiery speech in Scotland and threatened to bring action against the speaker of parliament as a result of his ejection.

TRAIN KILLS LABORER.

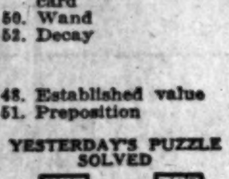
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



HEIRS TO ESTATE OF 850 MILLIONS CAN'T FIND SAME

Search Brooklyn for "Buchanan Riches."

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—An estate of 850 million dollars in central Brooklyn realty which can't be found in the tax records, left by a man who apparently lived and died unrecorded, although said to have been a brother of President James Buchanan, is being sought by a growing number of "heirs" from all parts of the United States and Canada under the terms of a will drawn a century ago which has been carelessly mislaid.

The first "heir" wrote eight months ago to Surrogate George F. Wingate's court in Brooklyn. Some fifty more have written since, and still the number grows.

All assert they are descendants of one George Buchanan, who, dying a century ago, left an estate in Brooklyn realty which was to be distributed to "then existing heirs" in 1932, one hundred years after his death.

The estate, they say, comprised 160 acres in the heart of Brooklyn, parceled out under 99 year leases. But neither will nor estate can be found, although surrogate's court records go back unbroken for 150 years.

A feature of the case is that such a will actually was drawn by President Buchanan, whose Pennsylvania estate, worth millions, sequestered a hundred years, is to be disposed of this year.

"I believe the Brooklyn Buchanan case a hoax perpetrated on members of the Buchanan family," said Chief Surrogate's Clerk John R. McDonald. "Probably some sharper, knowing the terms of the President's will, has been getting money from these people by promising them valuable information leading to wealth."

SISTERS APPEAL IN UPHOLDING OF MORRISON WILL

The decision of Probate Judge Henry Horner upholding the will of Capt. Edward W. Morrison, picturesque figure in Chicago's night life of the gay nineties, who died in 1929, at the age of 99, leaving the bulk of his $3,000,000 estate for the creation of a home for the aged, was appealed yesterday to the Circuit court. The appeal is brought by Mrs. Alice Schenker of Hammond and Mrs. Margaret Beers Brown of Dearborn, Mich., sisters, who claim to be adopted daughters of Capt. Morrison.

The will was challenged by the sisters and twelve cousins, who declared the captain to have been unsound mentally when the will was drawn. Judge Horner held the will valid. The sisters were left $5,000 each on condition they waive all claims to the estate. A trust fund of $100,000 was established for the relatives.

California Traction Man Leaves 58 Million Estate

Los Angeles, Cal., July 6.—[Special.]—Estate of the late Henry E. Huntington, traction magnate and philanthropist who died in Pasadena three years ago, amounted to $58,606,127, the largest estate ever probated in Los Angeles county. The first account and report of the executors was filed today with Probate court, following more than three years work by firms of attorneys and auditors. The report showed claims against the estate aggregated $20,413,022, but that the net to beneficiaries resulted in an appraisal at $42,510,251 with $38,193,105 now in hands of the executors to be distributed.

CICERO COUNCIL APPROVES BOND ISSUE OF $300,000

The Cicero city council last night approved a $300,000 bond issue, part of which, when it is sold, will be used to pay approximately 300 judges and clerks of election who have not received remuneration since January, 1930.

Twenty-three election officials attended the meeting. They were told that as soon as the issue is floated, and the cash comes in, the back salaries will be paid. It is estimated that more than $33,000 is owed to the judges and clerks, virtually all of them women. Each clerk will receive $131, and each judge $101.

For more than a month the unpaid officials have been pressing demands for their salaries. Several stormy mass meetings have been held, and the state's attorney's office was appealed to on one occasion.

WIDOW, 77, TAKES POISON AT GRAVE OF HUSBAND; DIES

Since Kurt Fehrmann died two years ago his widow, Clara, 77 years old, had lived in an attic apartment at 3938 North Whipple street. Yesterday she left her home and went to the Montrose cemetery, where her husband is buried.

Other visitors to the cemetery called police when they saw her prostrate on the grave. She was muttering her husband's name, in a semi-conscious state, when the police arrived. They found a bottle which had contained poison beside her.

She died an hour later at the Belmont hospital. Two daughters, Mrs. Ida Fisher, 2129 Bradley place, and Mrs. Martha Ruenhack, 3828 North Whipple street, survive.

E. C. WESTMAN, ERICSSON LEAGUE FOUNDER, DEAD

Edward C. Westman, organizer and first president of the John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois, died yesterday at his residence at 1547 Chase avenue. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Westman was born at Princeton, Ill., and came to Chicago as a young man. He founded the Ericsson league, a Swedish-American organization, in 1895. He was the owner of Blomgren Brothers, engravers.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow at the residence.

CRASH DERAILS TRAIN; DRIVER OF AUTO IS KILLED

Len Small, 30 years old, of Lombard, was killed yesterday when a Chicago, Aurora and Elgin interurban train struck his automobile with such force that the front coach of the train was thrown over the top of his car.

The accident occurred at the Grace street crossing in Lombard. The train was derailed, but the fifty passengers aboard it escaped with a severe shakeup. Small, a motion picture operator, apparently failed to see the approach of the train.

With no deaths yesterday the 1931 county auto toll remained 575.

Louis Hesser, confined in the "iron lung" at the Frances E. Willard hospital since Saturday night, his chest crushed from an automobile accident, was holding his own in his fight for his life last night. Hesser, 45 years old, 4122 Arthington street, an ice man, was crushed when he jumped from his truck in the path of an automobile at Fillmore street and Kedzie avenue driven by Tony Donata, 5019 Flournoy street.

SHELL FOR PARK CONCERTS TO BE BUILT IN 3 WEEKS

A contract for the erection of the band shell in Grant park, to be used for the presentation of a series of band concerts, was awarded yesterday to McKeown Brothers company by the south park commission. The McKeown bid was for $12,800. According to Supt. George T. Donoghue the shell will be completed in three weeks. The entire cost of the forty concerts, to be given four evenings a week between 8 and 10 o'clock for ten weeks, is estimated at $85,000, with a large part already underwritten by a commission appointed by Mayor Cermak. The Chicago Band Concert association, sponsoring the plan, has a 70 piece band now rehearsing under the direction of Victor J. Grabel.

Hunt in Vain for Husband of Woman Found Slain

Efforts of South Chicago police to locate John Chorak, 51 years old, sought after the body of his wife had been found wrapped in a blanket and hidden in a sewer, were unavailing yesterday. Both husband and wife disappeared during the first week of June, leaving their home at 9747 Houston avenue owing a few weeks' rent. Mrs. Chorak's body was found Friday, having been in the sewer for about three weeks, a coroner's physician said. The police learned that his wife had sworn out a warrant against the husband on May 5, charging nonsupport, but the case was dropped.

Thwarted Robbers Shoot at Imprisoned Victims

Three bandits held up Pixley & Ehlers' restaurant at 1606 West Madison street early yesterday, took $60 from the cash register, and locked the manager, Frank Ryan, together with two employés, in the basement. Angered at failing to learn the combination to the safe, one of the bandits then fired through the basement door, saying, "I hope this kills you, you piker." No one was hit. Three robbers of similar description held up the Raklios restaurant at 801 West Jackson boulevard a few minutes later and took $180 from the manager, Martin Eranson.

FORMER LONDON LORD MAYOR DIES; KNOWN IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 6.—Sir William Waterlow, former lord mayor of London and retired head of the banknote printing firm of Waterlow and Layton, Ltd., died today at the age of 60 after a short illness.

Sir William was prominent in city affairs and in the business world for many years. He was well known in America and had many American friends. He was lord mayor for 1929 and 1930.

During his term of office and after he had resigned as head of the company the printing firm became involved in the famous Portuguese banknote scandal, in which clever Dutch swindlers managed to get the Waterlow company to print and deliver Portuguese money. The bank of Portugal sued Waterlow and Layton for damages and was awarded more than $1,500,000. The firm was never suspected of being involved in the swindle.

WILSON'S WIDOW IN BERLIN; FINDS WARM WELCOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 6.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who came here from Poznan, Poland, where she attended the unveiling of a monument erected to the memory of the late President Wilson on July 4, is enjoying a pleasant visit in Berlin. Because the name of the late President is still anathema to millions of Germans, who believe that he tricked Germany by promising peace without victory and then becoming a party to "peace oppression and hatred," some feared that the diehards might attempt to demonstrate against Mrs. Wilson. However, late tonight friends declared she was greeted with the same spirit and hospitality as other tourists.

Girl, 3, Dies of Burns as Post-Fourth Casualty

Juanita Neeves, 3 years old, died of burns last night at the Little Company of Mary hospital, a post-victim of the Fourth of July. The child and her sister, 10 years old, found a sparkler left over from the holiday in the kitchen of their home at 616 West 61st street Sunday night. The sparkler was lighted. Juanita's dress ignited.

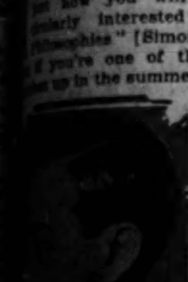
Nathan Gathers Philosophies of iving Authors

ly Two Women Are on the List.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

you are giving your brain a rest now you will not be particularly interested in "Living Philosophies" [Simon & Schuster], if you're one of the many who [illegible] up in the summer time on long deferred reading, it's just the book you'll enjoy. It is a symposium of the personal philosophies of twenty-two outstanding modern thinkers and because of the importance of the men and women included it is a most interesting book.



GEORGE JEAN NATHAN.

Only two women are asked to contribute, which seems strange. A more even division than twenty to two might have been arranged, I think. The women are Julia Peterkin, novelist, and Beatrice Webb, an English woman who has written several standard books on sociological problems. The men are: Albert Einstein, Sir James Jeans, Theodore Dreiser, Irwin Edman, Joseph Wood Krutch, Fridtjof Nansen, George Jean Nathan, Robert Andrews Millikan, J. B. S. Haldane, Bertrand Russell, John Dewey, H. G. Wells, H. L. Mencken, Sir Arthur Keith, James Truslow Adams, Lewis Mumford, Irving Babbitt, Hu Shih, Hilaire Belloc, and William Ralph Inge, known as "the gloomy dean."

The philosophy of Dean Inge is beautifully expressed. It is as though he took a chisel and carved out each word, clearly and sharply, for all time. What he believes, he believes. There is no hazy fumbling about, no compromise in his ideas of life. An evolutionist, he nevertheless believes there are some things that cannot go on evolving because they have already reached a state of perfection. He quotes Rodin's statement that "in art there is no law of progress. Beyond Phidias sculpture will never advance," and says that is true of the perfect character of Christ. "Beyond Jesus of Nazareth man will never advance."

John Dewey, one of America's most famous thinkers in the realm of philosophy, disagrees with Dean Inge in principle and contends that since everything in the history of man has proved that change is the only stable thing, so to speak, then an ideal of life, such as religion so often represents, cannot persist in this moving world. He maintains it is futile to search for the meaning of life and the purpose of the universe, for there are many meanings and many purposes in the situations with which we are confronted—"one, so to say, for each situation." One man, however perfect, cannot sum up all religion for the type of mind Dewey represents.

J. B. S. Haldane, teacher of biochemistry at Cambridge university in England, sets forth his beliefs in such a simple, human, and direct manner that they seem as tinged with kindness as his own kindly, quizzical face. He looks at life from the biological point of view, as biology has always been his rod and staff. He feels at one with all living things, with plants, animals, even with the limestone cliffs of England. "I am a part of nature," he writes, "and, like other natural objects, from a lightning flash to a mountain range, I shall last out my time and then finish. This prospect does not worry me, because some of my work will not die when I do, so . . . I shall regard my life as well spent if I can do a little, by research and education, to make my fellow creatures healthier."

George Jean Nathan has a philosophy and credo that are all his own and that are flung on paper with a pen that is steeled. His ideas are as individual as his method of expressing them. You'll grin when you read what he has to say on the vital problems of mankind. He says he knows it would be good to state that he has the welfare of the whole world at heart, but [illegible] hypocrisy he must confess that he's just interested in George Jean Nathan, his pleasure and happiness.

"To me, pleasure and my own personal happiness—only infrequently collaborating with that of others—are all I deem worth a hoot. . . . I have all that I can do to look out for my own happiness and welfare. And so has any other man, unless he happens to be a multimillionaire, a failure in life who seeks to conceal his failure from himself in devoting himself to worse failures than himself, a seeker of publicity, or a devout lover of God. I happen to be exactly none of these."

[illegible] marriage, he's not going to marry till he's 50, if then. "A wife, however sympathetic, patient, and charming, by very reason of her sympathy, patience, and charm, would be a pleasant and agreeable distraction." Now, Mr. Nathan!

Theater Control Charged in Official Report.

Ottawa, Ont., July 6.—(AP)—A report submitted tonight by Peter White, K. C., to Gideon D. Robertson, minister of labor, charged that a combine controls 95 per cent of the distribution of motion picture films in Canada.

The report, compiled after six months of investigation of the film industry in the dominion, alleged that the combine occupied either a dominant or an exclusive position in the control of theaters in practically all towns and cities of more than 10,000.

The report indicated that prosecutions would be recommended against the parties named by the provincial authorities. The scope of the inquiry has been so great that it compares only with the situation which arose from investigation of the amalgamated builders and affiliated organizations a few years ago.

Mr. White reported the combine was "throttling" independent exhibitors by withholding films, preventing the erection, and, in some cases, the operation of independent theaters, and enforcing improper contracts on exhibitors using films made or distributed by members of the combine.

Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Ltd., dominant in the Canadian film industry; the Paramount Publix corporation, its American parent company, ten of its subsidiaries; thirteen American owned distributing companies, and the motion picture distributors and exhibitors of Canada, were named as principals of the combine. Paramount Publix corporation was pictured as dominating the Canadian industry through control of Famous Players Canadian corporation and two of the distributing companies.

The report declared that "the efforts of the Motion Picture Distributors and Exhibitors of Canada, and the Famous Players to acquire and retain Canada as a field for the exploitation of their pictures, produced in the United States, as nearly as may be to the exclusion of others" was against the public interest.

"The acquisition by Famous Players of many theaters, sometimes by threats of building theaters in opposition to the theaters sought, sometimes by threatening to cause the withholding of a supply of suitable pictures, sometimes by taking steps to actually withhold such supply, and the improper use of Famous Players' buying power and Paramount position in the moving picture business in Canada" were listed among the detrimental activities of the alleged combine.

The Motion Picture Distributors and Exhibitors of Canada was termed an offshoot of the similar organization in the United States headed by Will Hays. It was condemned for professing to represent Canadian exhibitors, while only Famous Players and their affiliates were members. It also was accused of enforcing unfair contracts.

The report charged the combine with practically excluding British-made films from Canada.

Hearings in the investigation were held in Toronto and extended over a period of six months.

France Signs Compact to End Film Quota; Plans Local Control

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—American films may come into France henceforth without restriction as to number, and subject only to an import duty. This was decided today when new regulations were issued after the signing of a new film convention by Under Secretary Petsche of the ministry of fine arts.

The government decided that henceforth restrictions will only be placed upon motion picture films which come from countries where restrictions are imposed on French films.

The new policy on the admission of American films is a free exchange, it was outlined by today's decree.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 6.—[Special.]—John Miljan, who played villains so suave and crooks so abandoned that he has been the steadiest working actor in pictures for the last six years, is now undergoing the whitewashing process that Paramount recently applied to Bill Powell when it changed Powell from villain to star.

M-G-M, which has Miljan on contract,, is turning him into a sympathetic character, probably preliminary to this Dalmatian-American's elevation to station of leading man or star. Miljan is cast for Commander Griffin, Wally Beery's navy superior in "Hell Divers," a naval aviation picture which George Hill directs.

Miljan, whose family name is Miljanowich, was born of Dalmatian parents in the mining settlement at Lead, South Dakota. He enlisted in the marines and served in France during the war. During the split in the actors' ranks over Equity's invasion of the movies two summers ago, Miljan was a leader in the faction opposing Frank Gillmore, president of Equity, and Miljan's faction won out.

He possesses the drive and finesse that caused him to be regarded as one of the best actors in Hollywood for some years, although not the best paid.

Others in "Hell Divers" are Conrad Nagel, Clark Gable, Cliff Edwards, Marjorie Rambeau, Reed Howes, Al Roscoe and Landers Stevens, making a all star cast. The story is an original by Lieut. Com. Frank Wead, U. S. N., with screen treatment by Harvey Gates and Mike Boylan. Beery is tickled to death with his role. He plays a veteran naval aviation cpo and it gives Wally a chance to demonstrate what he can do as an experienced aviator.

The facial gusto with which Herman Bing, German actor, ate an onion won him a permanent stay in Hollywood and a contract. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer imported Bing and others some months ago to play in the German language version of "The Big House."

M-G-M continues to collect Swedish talent. With Greta Garbo already on the contract list and El Brendel, borrowed from Fox's, Victor Potel, another Swedish comic, is back from the New York stage to play in Helen Hayes' "Lullaby."

One day last week was the 18th anniversary of Buster Keaton's first big time vaudeville appearing with "The Three Keatons" in New York, and his playmates, Lew Cody and Sid Grauman, sent Buster a memento—a barrel of old brooms. Old brooms were the principal prop in Buster's stage family act. Two brooms were broken nightly in the knockabout.

Mary Kronman, who played the curly haired girl in "Our Gang" until a few years ago, is now cast for real drama in RKO's "Are These Our Children?" She's 17 now and permanently grown up as an actress.

John Arledge, the youth with the southern drawl who played the college brother in "Daddy Longlegs" and shared with Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter in the comment accorded that film, is going right up at the Fox lot. Arledge is with Eddie Lowe and Lois Moran in "The Midnight Cruise," and has a still better part coming up with Charles Farrell in "Heartbreak." Arledge is a 24 year old Texan.

Salvation Army Camp Will Have 250 Guests

The Salvation Army fresh air camp at Camp Lake, Wis., will be host to 250 Chicago mothers and children during the coming week. The first of the group will leave tomorrow over the Soo line from the Grand Central station, and the rest Thursday. These vacationers have been supervised and aided during the last winter by the Protestant Women's National association, Children's Memorial hospital, Chicago Lying-In hospital dispensary, Evanston charities, and South Side settlement. Brig. Louis C. Bennett is supervisor of the camp.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

I don't see where they get that "3 Who Loved." So far as I could discover there were only two who did. The 3rd was just a cheap chaser, who, though he knew gold from brass, would unhesitatingly and at all times prefer the latter.

This picture is not uninteresting, but it lacks that something which makes a movie click. The three principals engage your polite attention but lay little hold on your sympathy and imagination. After the first couple of reels you find yourself out of patience with the hero for being so dumb; exasperated with the heroine because of her fickleness and disgusted with the chaser, who steals his pal's gal—not because he really wants the lady, but because he's a yellow dog who enjoys being yellow.

Ensuing developments do little to change your attitude, and, though the tale has what I suppose would be termed a happy ending, you are conscious of elation so tepid as to be hardly wirth the name.

Miss Compson, as a newcomer from Sweden, is cute in the first reels. She handles her accent nicely, and is agreeable to the eyes. She plays her rôle throughout with praiseworthy reticence and sincerity. So, I suppose, the rôle must be blamed for her failure to get across with a bang. Mr. Nagel also does his best. This, too, I reckon, may be said of Robert Ames. Bodil Rosing and Robert Emmett O'Connor play small parts with distinction.

Direction is earnest but uninspired. Neither story nor dialogue is anything to brag about. However—

The stage show at the Palace is very worth while this week. Blanche Sweet, winsome as ever to look at, plays charmingly in a skit that's not so good and not so bad.

Among other attractions, there's an intriguing little minstrel act put on by five who call themselves "The Original Honey Boys." If they ARE that, they must be a heap older than they look. But, maybe they've been sitting at the feet of Edna Wallace Hopper.

See you soon!

"TALES OF HOFFMAN" WELL PRESENTED BY CAST AT RAVINIA

In one way and another there appeared to be a more than common desire to put "The Tales of Hoffman" across at Ravinia last night. It went to the point where whatever success the performance attained was due in rather greater part to the performers than to the composer.

There are times in every operatic season where acts of heroism are necessary. They are especially so when former glories of book and score have faded. Sometimes, if not invariably, colors can be revived. If ever there could be a chance of such happy fortune it would be at the hands of the gallant band of artists at Ravinia.

And so one feels like giving three cheers that there is an artist like Mario Chamlee, who can make the part of Hoffman appear, if not entirely believable, at least with some human and many vocal virtues; for Florence Macbeth, as the mechanical doll of the first act, a part in which no one of this generation has ever equaled her; for Yvonne Gall as the lovely hostess of the Venetian night club in the second act and the no less lovely tuberculosis patient of the third; for several others who gave assistance, Mario Basiola as Dapertuto, Leon Rothier as Dr. Miracle, Ina Bourskaya as Niclaus, and so on. It is true that several of the incidents formerly considered amusing by participants and audience had their comic elements quite successfully extirpated, but this is a process sometimes applied to hight art. Prevent Blindness, Plea of Lecturer at the U. of C.

From one-half to two-thirds of all blindness is preventable, Lewis H. Carris of New York, managing director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, declared yesterday on his arrival in Chicago. Mr. Carris is lecturing on the conservation of vision at the University of Chicago this week, where 18 teachers of children with defective eyesight are taking a course in training offered at the university each summer. The university is coöperating in this work with the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness. There are only 300 classes for children of defective vision in public schools over the country, whereas 5,000 are needed, said Mr. Carris.

THE STAGE

William Faversham, who will be one of the stars in the approaching season of the Chicago Civic Shakespeare society, began rehearsals yesterday for a production of Rostand's "L'Aiglon" in Minneapolis, under the auspices of the University of Minnesota. Two performances of this notable post-Napoleonic drama will be given, on July 16 and 17. Mr. Faversham will then establish residence in Chicago to prepare for rehearsals with the Civic Shakespeare company.

His role in "L'Aiglon" will be Metternich, the Austrian statesman. The central character of the "Eaglet," Napoleon's son, will be played, for the first time in its history, by a man—one of the university students. On the French stage the part was acted by Sarah Bernhardt, for whom it was written; and on the American stage by Maude Adams. Edward Fielding and Ernest Lawford, actors of national reputation, will have other principal roles. The rest of the cast will be composed of student amateurs.

Mr. Faversham's rôles in the production of the Chicago Civic Shakespeare society will be Antonio in "The Merchant of Venice," Brutus in "Julius Caesar," the King in "Hamlet," and Cardinal Woolsey in "Henry VIII." Fritz Leiber will appear as Shylock, Marc Antony and Hamlet. Tyrone Power's parts will be the Ghost in "Hamlet," Casca in "Julius Caesar," and the Duke in "The Merchant of Venice."

"Apron Strings!" will end its run at the Playhouse next Saturday night and thus the list of summer playbills will be cut down to two titles. This comedy, with Jefferson De Angelis as the featured member of its cast, will then have been acted thirteen weeks in Chicago. Its manager, George E. Wintz, plans to make other productions in this city next season.

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow," Philip Barry's highly successful play, ended its New York career last Saturday night. Its run began Jan. 13. This drama, which was staged by Gilbert Miller, will appear in Chicago next season under the auspices of the Theater Guild, supplementary to the Guild's own productions for its Chicago subscribers . . . "A Modern Virgin," by Elmer Harris, a comedy of so-called "flaming youth," whose conduct is sometimes sooty as well as heated, also closed its New York run of six and a half weeks. Performances will be resumed in New York at the same theater, the Booth, on Aug. 3.

Alice Brady began rehearsals yesterday in a play called "Manhattan Nocturne," written by Edward and Edna Riley. A try-out performance is scheduled for Asbury Park, N. J., July 20. A New York première in August is contemplated. Miss Brady's most recent acting was done in "Brass Ankle," a tragedy of the deep south by Du Bose Heyward, which a minority of New York critics thought entitled to mention among the "ten best" plays of the year. Zionists Seek Money in U. S. to Meet Deficit

Julian W. Mack Takes Part in Parleys.

BASLE, Switzerland, July 6.—(AP)—Representatives of 34 countries, including the United States, signed an agreement today to create a federation of Zionists which will unite all general Zionists [Centrists] throughout the world.

The first signatories, said the Jewish Telegraph Agency, were Judge Julian W. Mack of the United States and Dr. Leo Motzkin, chairman of the congress presidium and of the Zionist actions committee.

Meer Grossman, English revolutionist and vice president of the revisionist organization, was tried by the congress court for having given to the press the contents of the white paper of October, 1930, before the document was officially released. The decision will be announced later.

The Zionist executive contended that this action constituted a violation of confidence, breaking party discipline and the misuse of an official document. Grossman said in defense that he felt it his duty to publish the contents prematurely because it would have given the British government an opportunity to deny the contents of the premature report and thus cancel or modify the white paper and he wanted to reach the general press first with a Jewish digest of the white paper, in order to proceed the British digest which sought to give the matter an innocent character.

The Jewish agency for Palestine is facing a $4,000,000 deficit, the financial commission reported today to the Zionist congress. Hope was expressed that American Jewry would be able to raise immediately the $800,000 necessary to meet obligations until September.

At a meeting of the financial commission and the American delegates under the chairmanship of Judge Mack, practical financial plans were discussed, the Jewish Telegraphic agency says, and it is possible the entire American delegation will return to the United States immediately after the congress for the special purpose of raising funds.

At the afternoon session of the congress Louis Lipsky, former president of the Zionist Organization of America, defended Dr. Chaim Weismann but criticized the British government in an address outlining what his group in the American delegation believes represents the present situation.

"The mandatory power has contributed nothing substantial to ease Dr. Weismann's unenviable position," Mr. Lipsky said, "It allowed hospitality to grow in the Jewish masses as if indifferent to the consequences. It insured a policy of denial with stolid indifference to the effect of British-Jewish relations. If anything it has become more rigid and more rigorous in the last few months after the MacDonald letter which led the Jews to assume that a change in attitude might be expected."

Mr. Lipsky said his group does not share the opposition of Dr. Stephen S. Wise to Dr. Weismann's policies.

Warning to the Zionist congress to take no steps that would antagonize the Arabs was made today in an official message from Geneva by Sheik Emir Arslan representing the Palestine-Syrian delegation there. The message, says the Jewish Telegraphic agency, emphasizes that Palestine has been an Arab country for fourteen centuries.

BRITISH KING, QUEEN, MARRIED 38 YEARS, GIVE DINNER PARTY

EDINBURGH, Scotland, July 6.—(AP)—Servants of the royal household at Holyrood palace drank champagne today.

It was an old English custom, a toast to the health of their majesties, King George and Queen Mary, in honor of their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary.

The palace and all Edinburgh were gaily flag-bedecked and tonight their majesties gave a dinner party at the palace. Apart from that there was no special celebration.

A cold, wet morning made the king decide to stay indoors, but Queen Mary spent two hours in a tour of Edinburgh hospitals. At one point a detective borrowed an umbrella to shelter her.

The duke of York, their second son, and his duchess were the first to extend congratulations, arriving early in the day for a short visit.

Sunday Swims Are Debated by Methodists

For Some at Camp Have Enjoyed Them.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

May young Methodists at the Des Plaines camp meeting bathe in the new $30,000 swimming pool on Sundays, or must they confine their swimming to bath tubs on the Lord's day? This was a moot question at the old camp grounds yesterday. The youngsters are for the swimming pool, while the oldsters frown or shake their heads even if their objections are not loudly vocal.

The truth is that on the opening day of the pioneer camp meeting—which was Sunday, July 5—the swimming pool was a popular place. Of course, during the camp meeting services swimmers were banished from the cooling waters and shooed into the large auditorium to hear Bishop E. H. Hughes' sermon. But even so, the question "to swim on or not to swim on Sunday" still is in the air.

Director Charles H. Draper of the camp meeting admitted the question to be of importance. The innovation of Sunday swimming, he said, still is experimental and the future policy of the camp grounds in regard to the use of the swimming pool on Sunday will be fixed after the management of the camp has gone into a huddle on the subject.

Conservatives at the meeting were partly won over to a liberalized Sunday as far as swimming is concerned.

It was argued that the young bloods with their fast automobiles will hurry away to other beaches between services if the pool is not opened. The conservatives, however, countered with the opinion that the pool would be overrun by picnickers from the nearby forest preserves. The meeting ground, they asserted, being church property, should not be opened as an amusement park.

It is reported that one of the pioneers of the meeting, Mrs. Olive M. Allison, 73 years old, declared that camp meetings change like all other kinds of meetings. She first attended the meeting in the 'sixties as a babe in her mother's arms.

"There was no time for amusement in the old days," Mrs. Allison asserted. "There were six regular meetings every day with the first one at 5 in the morning and the last at 10 at night. Between these were smaller meetings in cottages and for young people.

"In those days we sat on planks under the trees and bonfires and moonlight were our only illumination. We lived in tents at first and our cooking was done with aid of forked sticks and camp fires."

For the present the ruling stands that bathers may use the pool for at least two hours on Sunday afternoons. Another evidence of a more liberal Methodist Sunday at the old camp meeting was a quiet tennis game between two young women late Sunday afternoon.

But the 73 year old camp meeting has opened what is called by its patrons as the greatest in many years. Dr. J. W. Langdale, book editor of the Methodist Book Concern, has been recalled this year for his second season and will speak each evening this week.

FLOWER OF THORNS

By Marie Conway Oemler

SYNOPSIS.

Sally Rutherford, the last member of an old southern family, lived with her grandparents at Oakleigh plantation, the heart of the Rutherford family pride. The Rutherford ladies "didn't know" the Winsteads, of carpetbagging stock, whose estate adjoined Oakleigh. Samuel Forman Winstead is the only son and heir of his father, Henry Winstead, town banker.

INSTALLMENT II.

AN ONLY SON.

Sam was sent to a boys' school in Charleston, an old school where he wore a uniform and was under military discipline, which taught him that virtue most sadly needed by American youth—obedience. The manly, generous, athletic youngster was greatly liked by the mothers, aunts, cousins, and sisters of his classmates. They thought him a charming boy and made much of him.

Henry Winstead had always let Sam follow his own bent, and Sam emerged from prep with his own ideas of education and business and what he wanted in the way of both. He wished to study agriculture, and animal husbandry and agronomy and economics and such like. He chose to go to friendly and democratic Virginia Tech. Then he traveled over the western United States, Canada, and Europe, studying, observing, and learning. He was young, intelligent, trained, ambitious, and had enough money. He had planned his work. Now he was ready to work his plan.

"Our place is eating its head off," he said to his father as they sat smoking after dinner one night a few weeks after his return. "I've been looking things over, and I find we've got some mighty fine land lying fallow—just the sort of land I'd buy—if I had to buy land. I want to put that land under the plow."

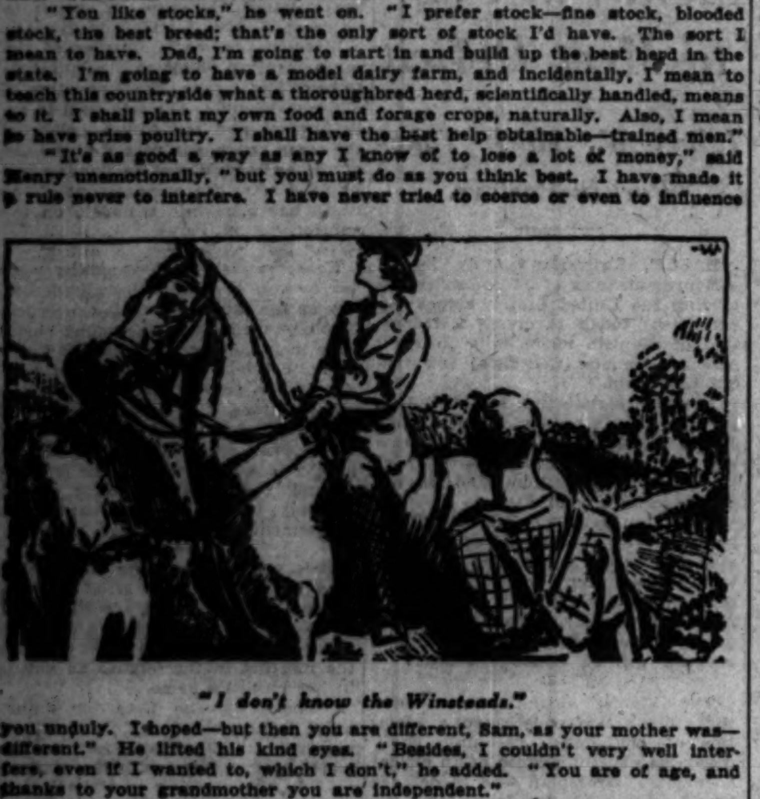
His father studied the cigar he held in his fingers. After a somewhat lengthy pause, he said wistfully:

"You really mean that, son? I'd hoped you'd come in the bank with me. In a little while you'd know the business. You'd be very influential, Sam, if you'd come in the bank and allow yourself to be—ah—guided by me for a while. Ah—hah. To train you to step into my shoes would be a very real happiness. After all, you're my only son."

Sam shook his head. "Dad, I'm sorry," he said regretfully. "We may as well settle the question once for all. I've told you all along that the only bank I'll ever give a hang for is a sand bank—with grass or clover on it preferably. You're a financier, but I'm an agriculturist—a farmer, if you like. I'm horns and hoofer by instinct.

"You like stocks," he went on. "I prefer stock—fine stock, blooded stock, the best breed; that's the only sort of stock I'd have. The sort I mean to have. Dad, I'm going to start in and build up the best herd in the state. I'm going to have a model dairy farm, and incidentally, I mean to teach this countryside what a thoroughbred herd, scientifically handled, means to it. I shall plant my own food and forage crops, naturally. Also, I mean to have prize poultry. I shall have the best help obtainable—trained men."

"It's as good a way as any I know of to lose a lot of money," said Henry unemotionally, "but you must do as you think best. I have made it a rule never to interfere. I have never tried to coerce or even to influence you unduly. I hoped—but then you are different, Sam, as your mother was—different." He lifted his kind eyes. "Besides, I couldn't very well interfere, even if I wanted to, which I don't," he added. "You are of age, and thanks to your grandmother you are independent."



"I don't know the Winsteads."

He had so wanted Sam to come into the bank with him! But whatever Sam really wanted! His place was to stand by and be ready, if necessary, to help. The boy saw the struggle, the surrender, and he cast upon his father a glance of affection and understanding—just as Katje had looked at him, so long ago. Sam said quietly:

"What I want to do first is to turn a lot of our fallow land under the plow. Crops. Forage. Pasture. Then for the stock—the best stock I can buy, nothing but the best. I mean to have a model place. I mean to supply town and county with pure milk, fine butter, fresh eggs. My cows will be champion milkers and butter producers; my hens will be champion layers."

"Go ahead and do what you please, son. It's your money you're spending, not mine," said Henry. "You'd have a better social standing and less physical labor, though, if you'd chosen my bank. What will all your college friends say—what d'ye think our neighbors, the Rutherfords, will say . . . to the milkman? They'll say you've gone back to the Pennsylvania Dutch you started from." Henry, it will be remembered, had been born and raised in South Carolina.

"Yeah? They can all say what they dam' please, so long as they say they'll patronize the Winstead dairy products because they're the best on the market. Don't you worry about my college friends—they're good sports. As for the Rutherfords, I never knew they knew we were neighbors of theirs."

"I know Col. Rutherford very well," said Henry. He spoke defensively. You saw that Henry admired the colonel.

"And you like him? I mean, aside from admiring his appearance?" asked Sam idly.

"I have found him a very fine man, though a worse head for business I have never seen. Aside from having no business sense whatever, he's all right—indeed, he's very likeable," said Henry. He disliked to have any one know that he secretly admired Col. Rutherford extravagantly, looked up to him, maybe even envied him a little, wistfully.

"Why don't you advise him to leave his ornamental head home during office hours?" asked Sam with youth's gay disrespect.

"I have strongly advised him against certain investments—I considered them unsound. On one or two occasions I have strained a point and begged him to avoid them, unless he could afford to lose a great deal of money without being injured—and I knew he can't do that."

"Good Samaritan! Did the old boy heed?"

"Col. Rutherford is very self-willed. I might almost say he is incapable of accepting advice that is contrary to his own wishes. Several times, for instance, I advised him against mortgaging Oakleigh so heavily. At least, one of his legal friends, learning something of his affairs—Sinclair—agreed with me. But Col. Rutherford was bent upon having his own way."

"So the old place is mortgaged! Too bad! Do you hold the mortgage, dad?"

"If I didn't, somebody else would," said Henry matter of factly. "I met his wishes, with Oakleigh as security, though I advised him against such a course. He wouldn't listen. Of course he lost. He has had to borrow repeatedly. As things are now, the place is carrying all he can stagger under."

"I certainly hope you lose the bet, dad," said Sam. "I'd hate to see that girl come a cropper, though I didn't have a pleasant experience with Miss Sally myself," and as Henry looked up surprisedly Sam said musingly, "You remember old Mandy's mulatto boy Jake—how he and I used to hunt and fish and trap together? Well, Jake and I used to run rabbits down and bowl 'em over with a stick—we thought it great sport. We were running down a big fellow one day, and we were so excited that when he got over on Oakleigh bounds we went right over the fence after him.

"Sally Rutherford happened to be riding by and saw the whole thing. She was thinking more of the rabbit than of us, I reckon, for she stopped her horse and asked us haughtily what we meant by poaching. I knew who she was, but I didn't think she knew who I was and that we were neighbors. So I apologized for having crossed her boundaries and told her my name. She sat up there on her horse and looked down at me, and she said in a voice like ice water, 'I don't know the Winsteads. But whoever you may be, I do know you're trespassing on our land, so you get right off and you stay off, too. I won't have you poaching on Oakleigh!'

"I got hot in the collar then, and told her she gave me a pain and that she was rude and silly and to climb down. She was a beautiful child, I thought, but proud as the devil and altogether too high and mighty."

"Maybe you can hunt all you want on Rutherford land some of these days and Sally Rutherford won't be in a position to order you off," said Henry tentatively.

"My gosh, dad, I hope not! I don't want Oakleigh and that girl does. They've had their place longer than we've had ours, and I know how I feel about ours. The girl is still at school, isn't she?"

"Yes. She's been going to Europe with a crowd of girls these last two or three summers, so she hasn't been home any more than you have. The colonel is mighty good to her; gives her everything."

"The Winsteads do as much for me, dad," said Sam with his quick smile. "I'm sorry to hear that the colonel is in difficulties, but he oughtn't to swim out of his depths. Why will people be so stupid? This isn't pleasant news."

"There were certain real estate men after him that I didn't want him to get in with," said Henry. "They'd skin him alive. I thought I'd better safeguard Oakleigh myself. After all, I'm his neighbor."

"Do you think the Rutherfords will appreciate that touch of pure feeling on your part?" asked Sam. "I wonder if I would myself, if I were in their shoes? However, what must be, will be. I don't want Oakleigh. So let's talk about what I want to do. I want a dairy farm."

A FRIEND IN NEED

Could Use a Cultivator.

"We rent a ten acre farm just outside Chicago. My husband hasn't worked for a year and we want to try to earn something by selling vegetables. We are in need of a cultivator, however, and can't do much until we get one. I wonder if some reader has one no longer in use.

The truck farmer who has a surplus of equipment or is planning to invest in new machinery may be able to help these people. It would mean their living, probably.

Question Mark May Supply Individuality to Summer Coiffure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's funny what a little touch of individuality will do to identify a person. A guest who was being waited for, and not too patiently, since she was holding up the dinner hour, was explained as "that girl with the question mark on her brow you saw at X.'s the other night."

You know what the question mark is. Made of a thin strand of hair and looped at the end, resembling an inverted question mark. One cute thing I saw recently gave her amusing personality the right accent with one of these q. m.'s. She had a high forehead; no hair on brow at all except this one elongated q. m. worn over on the left side.

Sometimes a half row of them will appear in succession from the center forehead over. And there's a double question mark hair trick with one end curling up and the other laid in the opposite direction, both worn over to one side. I expect you have to use a setting lotion or a bit of brilliantine to keep them properly laid, for they must lie flat and the rest of the hair be flatly arranged.

It's encouraging for those who love their bobs the way the short length hair holds its popularity. It's no wonder it does, though, what with the transformed thing it has become since all women went ga-ga on one particular style.

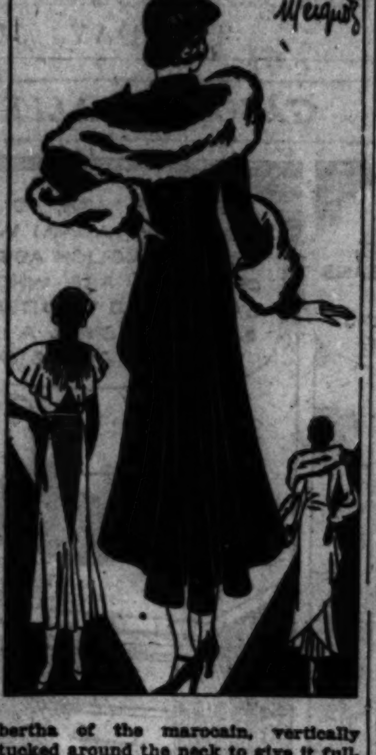
If you want to give your bob one of the latest touches, bring it away from the forehead in an upward movement so that with the full front view you offer a well exposed brow. And try the full line in the back instead of the tapered. The hair has to be shaped somewhat back there, but the drift is toward a more rounded line at the lower end.

One hair artist was trying to use geometrical lines on a bobbed coiffure. But somehow, unless the lady is seated in the midst of ultra-smart, modern furnishings and wearing a geometrically designed frock, the kind of coiff just mentioned doesn't seem to belong. It indicates, however, what the future may hold in store for us. Our hair may be cut out yet, blocked, squared, and pointed, to match the low flung modernistic chair or the higher flung but equally modern lamp shade.

Long Haired Furs for Smart Fall Costumes

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—For several seasons now flat furs have usurped the foreground of Paris furry fashions, for trimmings, as well as for coats and jackets. Of course, a certain number of women clung to their silver fox scarves, but in general much more ermine, broadtail, and astrakan was seen in fashionable circles. Paris midseason collections, however, point to the reinstatement of long haired furs for fall; fox, fisher, and lynx, all being shown in considerable quantities by the leading couturiers. And fox trimmings are beginning to be worn by some of the leading Paris élégantes for dressy occasions.



The late afternoon ensemble, sketched today, made by Lucien Lelong for Mme. Serge Wittouck, owes much of its charm to its original fox trim.

The coat of black crêpe marocain is fitted to the figure in back by gores that flare toward the hem, which rises in a cutaway line toward the front, where it crosses in a flaring point at the left side. The blue fox trimming starts on the left shoulder, continues around the back in the effect of a capelet and spirals down the left sleeve in the effect of a puff. Another fox does a similar spiral for the right sleeve. The front of the coat is shown on the small figure at the right.

The frock, also in black crêpe marocain, appears at the left. It is trimmed with four pointed incrustations of the marocain, horizontally tucked. A bertha of the marocain, vertically tucked around the neck to give it fullness, forms the upper bodice, and the short sleeves. The black marocain belt ties in a bow in the back.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

LINCOLN PARK BANTAM SHOW.

Both parents and their children who are looking for a pet of a little different sort will be interested in the announcement that a lawn show of bantam chickens is to be held a week from Sunday, July 19, in Lincoln park.

This novel attraction is being staged as a free event by the Greater Chicago Bantam club, an organization of poultry fanciers who are gathering a galaxy of specimen birds for this initial event of its kind in Chicago.

Heavy set cobby birds with feathered legs; trim, racy, stilty shanked birds with fire in their eyes; glossy coated, beady eyed little bantams from the orient with tails sixteen feet long; monstrous combed, high tailed little birds without legs—these and other varieties will be on display. Two silver trophies are offered by Harvey Wood, of the Chicago Coliseum Poultry show, one of the best feathered and one for the cleanest legged bird shown. Louis Paul Graham will judge.

Bantams, because of their size and domesticity, are said to be especially suited to the city dweller who has never completely forgotten the "little red rooster" of childhood days, the one who licked every dog or big fowl in the neighborhood, yet was the pet of all the household. They eat little, making upkeep cost low, and thrive in confinement. The show should prove a novelty and an education to the crowds that see these "banties" in the Lincoln Park Lawn show. V. Wischover, 9411 Champlain avenue, Chicago, is in charge of the exhibits.

Food Talk.

Fruit, and an abundant supply of it, is essential to a good diet. Some people, however, forget that it should be eaten every day. Of course, a visit to the market will remind one that a great variety is available and the mere sight of fruit will whet our appetites for it.

But even now one is not always likely to see a choice lot of fruit and, if one has been dietetically conscientious during the winter, remembering the saying of Dr. H. W. Wiley that "The entire withdrawal of fruit from the diet, even if the nourishment it supplied be provided in some other way, would work great damage to health," one is inclined to relax a little during the warm months, feeling that the quota of fruit will be supplied without conscious effort.

Sometimes it is difficult to eat fruit, hard to get it in the proper stage of ripeness and deliciousness. One must still provide for its consumption in the diet of everyday foods to insure one's continued state of normal fulness.

Here are some delicious combinations of fresh and canned fruits. can always get the canned fruits gested in these recipes and the fruits suggested are obtainable anywhere in this season of the year.

PINEAPPLE BROILED WITH BANANAS.

Drain sliced canned pineapple arrange on a broiler, a slice for serving. Peel bananas and cut rather thick slices and arrange circle on top of the pineapple. Squeeze over a little lemon juice until the bananas are a nice brown. Serve as a meat accompaniment.

FRENCH FRUIT CUSTARD.

Beat four egg yolks slightly, 1-3 cup sugar and 2 cups scalded and cook in a double boiler, constantly, until mixture is creamy and coats the spoon. Cool. Add teaspoon vanilla and chill in the box. Hull one pint ripe strawberries and cut in halves. Drain one 10 can of figs and cut in pieces. both fruits ice cold, arrange in sherbert glasses, and pour over the custard.

Yield: 8 servings.

COCOANUT MACAROONS.

1 egg white
1-1¼ cups moist cocoanut
1-3 cup thick condensed milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat the egg white until stiff, fold it into the mixture of cocoanut and condensed milk. Add the flavoring. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet and shape into cakes. Bake in a slow even (250-300 degrees F.) until lightly browned.

rtha Palmer, .T. Lewis Are Engaged

significance of the foregoing announcement, which was wired from Potter Palmers' summer estate at Bar Harbor, Me., is apparent to every one familiar with the history of Chicago. Miss Palmer, a member of the generation of that famous family, has been prominent in Chicago society since her debut in the winter of 1928—the year the old Palmer mansion on Lake Shore drive was sold to Vincent Bendix. Her debut tea and ball and several other affairs given by her parents that winter in the old house were memorable events, recalling the days when her grandmother, the first Mrs. Potter Palmer, entertained celebrities of world renown during and after the World's Fair of 1893.

Miss Palmer attended Concord academy and studied for a year in Paris before her official introduction to society. She made her first public appearance in Chicago in the Service club show of 1928. She there created a sensation as Katinka in a lively Russian song and dance number. She is, I believe, one of the few Chicago debutantes who did not endeavor to join the Junior league.

She and her mother were presented last year at the court of St. James. They were presented to the British sovereigns under the special auspices of their cousin, Princess Cantacuzene, and Maj. Gen. Sir John Hanbury Williams, marshal of the diplomatic corps and father-in-law of Mrs. John Hanbury-Williams, the former Princess Cantacuzene.

Mr. Lewis was graduated this year from Princeton. His stepfather, Philip S. Chancellor, was a Chicagoan who moved several years ago to California. His stepbrother, Philip Chancellor, resides at the Racquet club of Chicago in the intervals between his expeditions to the south seas in search of rare flora and fauna for the Field museum.

It has not been decided when or where Miss Palmer's wedding will take place. The family will be at Bar Harbor until fall. They usually spend the early part of the winter in their Chicago apartment at 1301 Astor street and after Christmas go to their place at Sarasota, Fla.

The Santa Paula team arrived Sunday and the Old Aiken players are expected tomorrow.

Lake Forest Women to Get Ideas on Gardening.

Lake Forest women expect to absorb a lot of new and fascinating ideas this week from the Garden institute, which opens today and continues through Friday. Ralph Griswold, who has come from Pittsburgh to conduct the institute, is to be the guest of the Walter S. Brewsters during his stay here, and Miss Hannah [illegible] of Cleveland, who is to give lectures, will be with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Scudder.

This afternoon the Garden club members will visit Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson's gardens, which are now at the height of their midsummer glory; Mrs. Tiffany Blake's floral borders at the house of her father, Albert Day, and the Alfred E. Hamill garden with its modernistically treated [illegible].

Tomorrow they will go to see Mrs. [illegible] H. Schweppe's perennial garden, and to the adjoining places of Mrs. T. Philip Swift and Mrs. Gilbert Porter III., who have developed a joint garden scheme.

Thursday's program includes visits to the Walter S. Brewster estate, with its miniature aviary and lake; the [illegible] T. Chase old fashioned garden, which Mrs. Chase has superintended, and the Wallace Winter place, [illegible] by Mrs. Charles W. Hub[illegible].

Friday they will see the estate of the Misses Jessie and Catherine [illegible] on Lake road, the small garden of [illegible] Knight Cowles, and the more [illegible] of Mrs. De Forest Hulburd.

Intelligent Parent Helps Her Youngster Over Rough Ground

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Here is an interesting example of the public school being much more progressive than the private school. Also, it is an instance of a public school teacher, with her larger classes and under more exacting conditions, being more understanding of individual child nature and more intelligent, from the educational standpoint, than a private school teacher.

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: It is with the greatest interest and pleasure that I have been reading your articles in the paper, but your subject of arithmetic is certainly of untold value to me. I have a daughter—now nearly 13—who for several years went to a private school. During her fourth and fifth years she simply couldn't manage arithmetic. In her other subjects she got along well, but her marks in arithmetic ruined her general average.

"At the end of the fifth year she failed. The principal insisted she couldn't go on. I found this particular teacher had made my little girl use her history period (which she loved and found most interesting) for arithmetic. In fact, my child was a mental and physical wreck, and so was I, as, naturally, it was a matter of great concern to me.

"On the advice of my family physician I took the child to a psychiatrist and after an extensive test he told me she was well able to handle all fifth grade work—in fact, was above the average. He advised immediate withdrawal from that particular school, as he said the child had developed an inferiority complex, due to the constant nagging she had undergone.

"I placed her in the public school. They allowed her to go into the sixth grade, and she has done splendidly—in fact, is an honor pupil. The teacher was an understanding person and with a little outside tutoring my child forgot her fears and came along with the rest of the class. In fourteen months she gained 25 pounds and became so even tempered and active we didn't know her.

"The object of this lengthy letter is primarily to tell you what a help your article would have been to me at that time, and I only hope some other mothers will be saved from undergoing what I did."

Here, too, is an example of the intelligent mother getting right down to fundamentals; of the wise family physician who knows when to call in the psychologists; of the psychiatrist who is skilled enough to know how to diagnose and how to give correct advice. The result: a healthy, happy child and a happy mother.

Freckles— How to Fade Them Out

By Carolyn Haines

Freckles are so unsightly, and so stubborn too. Women who are troubled with them will be delighted to learn of this new facial pack that contains the pure juice of whole lemons, and magnesia, together with other secret ingredients.

It is so mild and so lovely, takes but ten minutes to apply and yet accomplishes simply marvelous results in fading out freckles and whitening dark, sallow skin many shades. It also removes fatigue lines, wrinkles and blemishes.

It is called Boncilla Lemon-Magnesia Pack. You can buy it in one-dollar size tubes or jars, containing many facials, at any good drug or department store.

I am glad to recommend it, and advise that you try it at once. The dealer will refund your money if you are not delighted.

YOUNG BASEBALL FANS WRITE SALLY ABOUT THEIR HEROES

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If yesterday's mail is any indication the number of baseball fans in and about the city must run to an amazing figure. We are fairly swamped with letters from boys and girls who are eager to be invited to my party at Wrigley field a week from Thursday to see the Chicago Cubs plays the New York Giants, and since I may take with me only one hundred of you, I expect to have a difficult time choosing my guests.

Did you see how our old friend, Hack Wilson, staged a comeback on Sunday in that exciting battle with St. Louis? He proved himself the hero of the day and a crack baseball player when he won the game for his team with a last minute single. It must have been a thrilling experience for the spectators for our boys' opponents were none other than the St. Louis Cardinals, who hold first place in the league's standing. I'd like to prophesy an equally exciting game when we see the Cubs play the Giants on July 16.

In order to occupy one of the box seats which Mr. Veeck is reserving for our party you'll have to write me a corking letter—one that shows clearly you are a real baseball fan. If you've never been to a major league game I know you'll welcome the opportunity to attend one and if you have you'll have plenty of reasons for wanting to repeat the occasion.

You have only today and tomorrow in which to write these winning letters, for they must reach me no later than Thursday morning, so you had better begin them immediately if you haven't already done so. Don't forget those all important rules. I don't like having to discard good letters just because the writer neglected to follow them. Here they are: Each boy an girl must write his or her own letter and must not ask for an invitation for any one else. It must include your name, address, and age, and should reach me no later than Thursday, July 9.

Children Sell Cool Drinks for Ice Fund

The lemonade venders, those energetic children who drape drygoods boxes with bunting and crêpe paper and sell delightfully cool drinks, are at it again this summer. It is good news to THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, which looks each year to these small boosters for aid in placing free ice in underprivileged homes.

"We are happy to send this contribution to your fund. Sally Guyol and Frances McFarland conducted a lemonade stand at 97th street and Vanderpoel avenue from 1:30 to 6 o'clock. We hope the $2 will help to buy ice for some poor family," read one communication in yesterday's mail.

Another note declared: "Lois Johnsen, Barbara and Priscilla Wolfner, Doris Coleman and Marjorie Mackananie earned the money, $1.45, by having a lemonade stand. They are all Beverly Hills girls."

Still another letter with $2 for both ice and Camp Algonquin funds came from Ruth and Lois Treulich, 8 and 6 years old, respectively, with directions that the money be used "to do good for other children."

Cool pleasant weather over the week end brought a respite from last week's torrid wave to dwellers of stuffy tenements. The visits of the ice man are erasing that worried look from hundreds of faces of mothers. Free ice delivered regularly means healthier babies because milk can be kept fresh and sweet. But the fund, handicapped by constant depletion as more and more families are put on the free ice roll, cannot hope to do more than its bank balance. Therefore gifts are gratefully welcomed.

George F. Harding Sails; Plans Air Tour Party

New York, July 6.—(AP)—George F. Harding of Chicago, former county treasurer, sailed today to Europe, where his six passenger plane, shipped a week ago, awaits him for a six months' air tour. With Mr. Harding were William S. Brock, pilot, and Mrs. Brock, Miss Jessie Katz and Miss Catherine Lennon. F. R. Coe, mechanic, went with the plane. The party sailed on the steamship Europa. He plans to fly from Southampton to London and Paris, later making a tour of the continent, visiting Berlin, Amsterdam, Prague, Brussels, Lisbon, Vienna, and Budapest.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. William Boyce Thompson sailed on the Paris to pass the summer in France.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Godfrey Leslie, who were married at Glen Cove on April 18 and went abroad on their wedding trip, have returned to pass the summer at Craigdarroch, the Glen Cove estate of her mother, Mrs. Howard Whitney. Mrs. Leslie was Miss Caroline Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. Whitmarsh of the Plaza sailed tonight on the Europa for Paris and will pass the summer abroad.

Mrs. Marion M. McMillin and Miss Margaret C. McMillin, who arrived from Europe recently, have left for their summer home at Nantucket.

Miss Daisy Fiske Rogers sailed today on the France for a brief visit in Paris and later will be at St. Jean de Luz and Biarritz.

Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan and Miss Rita Dolan have gone to Newport. Their yacht, Seahawk, is in commission.

Salary Earning Wife Duty Bound to Face Room and Board Bill

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In one of the current monthlies Mary Roberts Rinehart courageously lays down a rule applicable to the wage-earning wife. After commenting on the tpye of working wife who "draws all the profits," as Mrs. Rinehart puts it, and meaning the wife who retains her full salary, or income, for her own personal and private use, the famous writer says:

"The wife's ratio of the costs of the home should be in precise rlationship to her earning power as compared with her husband's. What remains over and above that, and only what remains, belongs to each partner to spend or to save."

If Mrs. Rinehart's suggestion is accepted in the happiness-saving sense in which it is offered, I can see where domestic friction is going to be appreciably reduced. In this particular phase of modern marriage, wage-earning wives project an unconscionable amount of misery for themselves. Though modern enough to demand the right to work if they want to, I find women constantly rebelling at the idea that they should contribute to the upkeep of the home. This, in spite of the fact, that their absence from home may mean the expense of a servant or servants.

It just is not in line with our so-called modern honesty and frankness about facing domestic situations.

On the other hand, it is true I hear just as many complaints, maybe more of them, about the injustice of husbands who fail in their share of financial responsibility. But we will have to get one thing straightened out at a time. It is because I know for a fact that there are working wives whose jobs are an actual additional expense to the husband that I tackle the woman's part first.

And another thing, if the new marriage venture is talked out, worked out on a sound financial basis, and the woman is smart enough in the beginning to hold the man to his share, there will be less of the injustice just referred to. Women have this shaping of the financial status in their hands right in the beginning. But they must have a plan, a plan not too sacrificial, neither selfish nor exorbitant, to start with. And they simply must face 1931 economic conditions and not try to drag up 1831 ones when women earned the right by direct home management to be under the wing of the male provider.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Not a Nice Trait.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am keeping company with a girl who seems to care for me, while at other times she seems to ridicule me in the presence of my friends. UNDECIDED."

The next time she offends let her know your feelings have been hurt, that she may be more careful in the future. If she persists you can only assume it is intentional.

Farm Beauties to Wear Full Dresses in Contest

Baltimore, Md., July 6.—[Special.]—Bathing suits are barred and sunbonnets and unrevealing dress required in beauty contests planned by the Maryland Farm bureau in each of the twenty-three counties this year. The girl who donned two square feet of bathing suit and her "war paint" to contest for a silver cup proclaiming her "Miss Somebody—or other" will have no place in the farm bureau's shows. Instead, homespun dresses will be worn and rouge and powder banned.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The skirt of this dress is gored at the front and is circular across the back—a clever means of making the figure appear slender. The cowl neckline, short sleeves finished with small bows, and the narrow belt ending in a bow and ends, worn at the center front are all good points. Flowered chiffon, eyelet embroidered batiste, crêpe de chine, and voile are among the suitable materials.

The pattern, 3040, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material with 3⅛ yards of ribbon.

Washing dirty handkerchiefs is no job for a woman

KLEENEX

New, disposable tissues to be used once, then destroyed... less expensive than laundering

YOU don't like to wash handkerchiefs. Neither does anyone else. And lots of women stopped this disagreeable task the moment they learned about Kleenex.

There's no washing with Kleenex. And no using a dirty handkerchief over and over.

Kleenex is a gentle tissue, that costs so little you use it just once. Then you destroy it. Nothing to launder. No germs to store away in your pocket or in your laundry bag. No damp handkerchief to irritate, as does the ordinary handkerchief during hay fever or colds.

Doctors advise Kleenex

Think how much more healthful these new tissues are. There's no self-infection, as with a handkerchief used many times.

Children especially need the protection of Kleenex—because they are so careless with handkerchiefs. And they prefer it, for its softness, and because they need not fear losing handkerchiefs.

So many uses

Use Kleenex for removing face creams, as authorities advise. Its great absorbency assures thorough cleansing of the pores.

Motorists like to keep a package in the car. Mothers find Kleenex useful in the nursery.

Kleenex comes in tints as well as white; in Cellophane-wrapped packages to keep tissues absolutely fresh and clean. The convenient package permits easy removal of tissues with one hand. At all drug, dry goods and department stores.

HAY FEVER VICTIMS

You'll appreciate the softness and absorbency of Kleenex.

If you have hay fever . . . if you know one who suffers . . . invest in a package of Kleenex at once. It is impossible to describe the greater comfort of these dry, gentle, absorbent tissues. Do not put up with damp, irritating handkerchiefs another day. (And, remember, Kleenex costs less than laundering.)

FEAR CHINA WILL AVENGE SLAYING OF 66 IN COREA

TOKYO, July 6.—(AP)—Fears were expressed here tonight that sanguinary clashes of Chinese and Coreans in Corea and Manchuria might lead to demonstrations against Japanese authority in Corea and widespread Chinese attacks upon the half million Coreans in Manchuria and Mongolia.

Dispatches to Japanese newspapers said numerous attempts to turn riots into an anti-Japanese, or independent movement, were made by Corean mobs, who killed 66 Chinese and wounded several hundred others in Corea yesterday.

Residents Are Arming.

Japanese residents in various towns took measures to protect themselves, despite reassuring statements of authorities.

The Japanese dispatches pointed out that the movement against Japanese caused the Corean rioters at Chemulpo, near Seoul, to attack Japanese police stations with stones.

The outbreak of Coreans against Chinese at Chemulpo was the most serious inter-racial clash in recent years, the rioters numbering 6,000 to 8,000. The Corean mob killed 37 Chinese and injured hundreds. Corean attacks upon Chinese took place also at Pingyang, Corea, last night, the rioters killing 29 Chinese and wounding more than 300. Two of those hurt were Japanese policemen who attempted to aid the Chinese.

To Ask Aid of Troops.

Japanese civil authorities at Seoul were expected to ask for military aid, should further outbreaks of Coreans occur.

The Corean attacks were in retaliation for assaults by 500 Chinese upon 200 Corean irrigation project workers at Wanpaoshan in the Kirin district of Manchuria Wednesday. The Chinese wrecked a dam and destroyed a number of Corean houses.

Fear Chinese Reprisals.

The killing and wounding of large numbers of Chinese in Corea, it was felt in Tokio official circles, may cause Chinese in Manchuria and Mongolia to wreak vengeance upon the 500,000 Coreans in those poorly policed provinces.

Although Coreans at home may not be particularly loyal Japanese subjects, they are entitled to and demand Japanese protection abroad. If the Chinese in Manchuria should retaliate on Corean settlers, an extremely difficult problem would arise, because the Chinese authorities could not police these sparsely peopled areas. The Japanese government, on the other hand, if only because of its position in Corea, could not afford to remain passive while Coreans were being attacked.

Charge Japan Aids Riot.

SHANGHAI, July 6. — A report from the British Reuter's News service tonight stated that rioting occurred in practically every town in Corea where Chinese communities exist. The Reuter message alleged that there is considerable evidence that the Japanese made little effort to restrain the rioters.

The Nanking government has not yet made a statement on the situation, but an officer of the Chinese government's news service stated that the Japanese consul general at Mukden demanded that Chinese authorities indemnify Corean settlers for damages caused in the Wanpoashan district of Manchuria, where Chinese farmers recently destroyed the Corean irrigation works.

Chinese Refuse Demands.

Chinese officials flatly refused to consider the matter, in view of much more serious damage suffered by Chinese communities as a result of the Corean rioting within Corea.

A Chinese report alleges "the Japanese are deliberately exploiting the situation in order to force the issue of the right of Japanese and Coreans to purchase land in the interior of the Manchurian provinces."

ANCIENT RITUAL OF OPEN AIR PARLIAMENT HELD ON ISLE OF MAN

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, July 6.—(AP)—In accordance with ancient custom, the annual open air parliament of the Isle of Man, believed to have been instituted by Viking rulers of the island more than 1,000 years ago, met today at Tynwald hill in the center of the island.

In a procession from the neighboring parish church to the hill, Lieut. Gov. Sir Claude Hill, in state attire, walked behind his sword bearer who carried the twelfth century Manx sword of state. In line with immemorial usage, his path was strewn with rushes.

Thirteen new acts were promulgated. Summaries of them were read in English by Deemster Lamother, senior Manx judge, and in Manx by the archdeacon of Man.

TWO HELD AS GUN TOTERS.

Joe Cainski and George Larson were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court on charges of carrying concealed weapons. They were released on $2,500 bonds.

4,000 PERUVIAN SOLDIERS TRAIL REBELS IN ANDES

Cuzco Revolt Goes On, but with Little Fighting.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, July 6.—Somewhere in the mountains 600 or 700 miles to the southeast from 6,000 to 7,000 soldiers are deploying through Andean defiles engaged in revolutionary warfare. As far as Lima is directly concerned, such warfare might be in Tibet or Turkestan. Business in Lima, in the ports, in the rich agricultural valleys along the coast and in industrial centers of the republic goes on as usual.

The Cuzco revolt, now a week old, has virtually been confined to that city and area, with a possible 2,000 armed men comprising the rebel forces. Against them are moving two distant forces totaling from 4,000 to 5,000 men .

Rebels Hard to Find.

The largest force is moving from garrisons at Puna, Juliaca, an d Arequipa along the southern railway line toward Cuzco. The only opposition this force is meeting is an occasional sharpshooting encounter and the destruction of relatively small bridges along the railway line.

The second force is moving from Lima, Oroya and Huacayo over the central railway of Peru. No action whatever is reported on this "front." Like a paper of needles in a giant series of haystacks, the few thousand armed rebels are lost in the south and central Andes.

North and south along the coast, Peru is reported quiet.

May Use Airplanes.

The only chance of livening up this more or less 500 mile battle front rests with a squadron of six or seven battle planes from Lima, which are now reported to be based at Juliaca, but the greatest enemy of this small air force will be the snow clad 20,000 foot peaks among which they must seek revolutionaries to attack.

Meanwhile, Lieut. Col. Sanchez Cerro's arrival at Callao, marked by nothing more than a few broken heads among overzealous supporters, has been accepted quietly by Lima. The former revolutionary hero is now residing unostentatiously in a modest residence in a Lima suburb, presumably engaged in fabricating his presidential campaign plans.

Brazilian Indians Go on Warpath and Kill Six

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6.—(AP)—Dispatches from Maraba today said that Cayapo Indians had gone on the warpath between the states of Maranhao and Goyaz. The dispatches said the Indians had attacked the town of Nazareth Dos Patos, killing four men and two children, and had caused much property damage at the town of Alcobaca, in the state of Para.

IF SCHMELING BUYS HIMSELF A MONUMENT—

Where'll He Put the Thing?

Max Taxed $17,546

CLEVELAND, O., July 6.—(AP)—Max Schmeling will have to give Uncle Sam $17,546 on his share of the gate in his title bout Friday night and may have to pay an additional sum to his native Germany.

Schmeling's income tax was computed by the internal revenue bureau here on the basis of $106,-[illegible], which Promoter Dick Dunn said was the champion's share. Tax officials said Schmeling will have to pay the difference in the event the German income tax exceeds that of this country.

Young Stribling, Schmeling's victim, will be assessed $3,116 of the $[illegible] he received.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—There has not been a successful heavyweight championship prize fight in the state of New York since Jack Dempsey knocked out Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo grounds eight years ago. Therefore, the unwillingness of the New York prize fight commission to recognize Max Schmeling as champion should be a matter of terrific unimportance to Schmeling, who sailed for Germany tonight on the Europa.

He will be recognized everywhere else and even by the customers in New York, so the worst the New York commission can do to him is to refuse to permit his name to be chiseled on the shaft of the Tunney-Muldoon tombstone which stands in the lobby of Madison Square Garden.

There are worse fates than that and, moreover, now that he is a champion himself, Schmeling, if he really must have his name on a tombstone, has a full right to purchase one of his own to be called the Schmeling-Clinnin tombstone, for example, and engrave it with any names he happens to prefer.

Tunney's Pal, Muldoon.

Tunney established his monument as a delicate tribute to old Mr. Muldoon of the New York prize fight commission. As I recall it, Mr. Muldoon was a member of the New York commission which refused to let Tunney fight Dempsey for the championship in New York and otherwise hindered the young man in the pursuit of his ambitions. But after Tunney had succeeded in spite of the commission, it developed that Mr. Muldoon had always known he had it in him, and they became fast friends.

Schmeling might wish to pay a similar compliment to Gen. John V. Clinnin of the Illinois commission, who was one of the first persons in the ring at Cleveland after Max had stopped Willie Stribling. Gen. Clinnin presented him with a belt on the spot.

In establishing a monument, however, Schmeling might have some trouble finding a suitable lobby in which to erect it. Naturally it could not be received into the lobby of the Madison Square Garden of New York because he is not the champion here and it would be impossible to set up a monument to rival Mr. Muldoon's monument in Mr. Muldoon's own territory.

Max Won't Fight for Year.

But neither could it be placed in the lobby of the Madison Square Garden of Ohio, Illinois, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, or Florida, as they are all insubstantial or hypothetical edifices with imaginary lobbies. On the whole, if Max must have his name on a tomb-

BAN SCHMELING IN N. Y. UNTIL HE FIGHTS SHARKEY

Seattle, Wash., July 6.—(AP)—James A. Farley, chairman of the New York state boxing commission, today declared Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, "never will meet another boxer in New York as long as he refuses to meet Jack Sharkey again."

Schmeling, awarded the title after he was fouled by Sharkey and who successfully defended his crown Friday night at Cleveland with a technical knockout over W. L. Stribling, is under contract with the Madison Square Garden corporation for a title fight Sept. 17.

"We think Sharkey is the best fighter in the world," Farley, here for the annual convention of Elks, declared. Continuing, Farley said the boxing commission, although it gave Schmeling the title, does not consider him the champion.

ENKE, MADIGAN JOIN ROCHESTER COACHES' COLONY

Rochester, Minn., July 6.—[(AP)]—The coaches' colony at Rochester hospitals was increased to three today with the arrival of Fred Enke, football and basketball tutor at the University of Arizona, Tucson. He is undergoing a checkup, physicians said.

The others here are Edward Madigan, football coach at St. Mary's college, California, and Heartly Anderson, senior football coach at Notre Dame. Madigan also will have a physical checkup.

Anderson is recovering from an attack of meningitis and is expected to be in condition to teach a coaches' school in St. Paul next month.

TWENTY GRAND INJURED; MAY MISS CLASSIC

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Twenty Grand's chance of becoming the greatest money winning horse in the world, a distinction gained last year by Gallant Fox, was dimmed today following the announcement at Aqueduct that the son of St. Germans and Bonus had strained or wrenched a muscle. James Rowe, trainer of Mrs. Payne Whitney's colt, made the announcement.

The $90,000 Arlington Classic was Twenty Grand's next objective, but now it is highly improbable that he will start in that race, scheduled for July 18. Twenty Grand is the three year old champion, the greatest money winner of the year, and has been following in Gallant Fox's footsteps.

He was second in the Preakness, which Gallant Fox won last year, and now if he misses the Arlington Classic, which also went to the Belair stud star, his chances of surpassing the total of the greatest son of Sir Galahad III. are poor.

Wrenches Side Muscle.

Rowe's statement on Twenty Grand's condition follows:

"During the running of the Dwyer on Saturday Twenty Grand strained or wrenched the lumbar muscle on his right side. He came out of the race apparently in good condition and showed no signs of distress until he was being cooled out. Sunday night he showed improvement and this morning he is very much better.

"The injury is one from which he will recover within a comparatively short time, although it is impossible to tell until the next 24 or 36 hours whether it will be two or three days, or ten days to two weeks."

How Twenty Grand gets through tomorrow will be the deciding factor, as the work he should put in this week is important, and if missed will keep him out of the Classic.

Stable Mates to Arlington.

Some twenty stable mates of Twenty Grand owned by Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney are ready to be shipped to Arlington but their departure was delayed until it was definitely learned how serious Twenty Grand's injuries may be.

Trainer Rowe declared they would be sent to Arlington Park not later than Thursday.

Ben Chapman of Yankees Marries Birmingham Girl

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Ben Chapman, outfielder of the New York Yankees, today married Mary Elizabeth Payne, 19 year old Birmingham, Ala., girl. The ceremony was performed in the Little Church Around the Corner. Dusty Chooke and Bill Dickey, fellow Yankees, attended.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

SHARKEY'S STATUS.

JACK SHARKEY of Boston, who perhaps was the logical opponent for Champion Max Schmeling, will remain as a title challenger until Max meets him or Sharkey is bumped out of it by some other opponent.

Sharkey already has muffed two great opportunities. One was when he lowered his guard to protest an alleged low blow by Jack Dempsey whereupon Jack hooked a left to the jaw for the count. The Manassa Mauler then secured a second match with Gene Tunney at Chicago. The other time was when Sharkey fouled Schmeling in New York after having had the better of the milling up to that point.

The Boston Lithuanian also has a ten round decision over Young Stribling whom Schmeling just defeated. Sharkey's margin in this bout was not as convincing as that of Max Friday night, but it was ten rounds instead of fifteen. Schmeling is such a persistent boring-in-type of miller that it does not seem any one is likely to outbox him for fifteen rounds.

In fact, it was because Stribling, having a point advantage in the early rounds, did not inflict more punishment that caused his followers to revise their estimates of his ultimate victory. Sharkey in the bout in which Max won the title hit the German oftener and far harder than did the Georgian.

The Wake does not think Max himself has fear of Sharkey or any wish to avoid him. Manager Joey Jacobs, however, is a shrewd pilot. He may find others, with logical claims to a match, whom he deems "safer" until Sharkey grows gray hair. If Max does not meet Carnera in September, as various contracts prescribe, it may be a year hence. Other challengers will arise in the interval. Meantime Sharkey is growing older. Right now, he has the best claim to a shot at the championship.

More Practical Golf Needed.

Harve: I note with several varieties of interest the intimate sketches of a number of our prominent golfers' wrist and finger manipulation in the delicate, if not exactly difficult, art of properly teeing a golf ball, published in a recent magazine article. What would really help would be some deft but inconspicuous means of improving the lie out on the fairway or in the rough.

There Is a God.

There is a God beside us
Whoever he may be,
To comfort and to guide us
In our perplexity.
There is a God to mark the deeds
Of all our work and play,
To hear our prayers and fill our needs
Each hour of the day.

There is a God who knows us
And all the things we do,
Who watches and who shows us
The way to start anew;
There is a God who frowns when we
Do wrong without regret,
Who thinks of us tenderly,
Forgives when we forget.

There is a God demanding
A just account of life,
Yet ever understanding
Our struggle and our strife—
He is the God to whom we must Return the gifts He gave,
When we descend into the dust
Of our eternal grave.

New Zealand Recognizes Marks of Simpson, Rothert

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, July 6.—(AP)—The New Zealand Amateur Athletic association today recognized three new track records set by George Simpson and Harlow Rothert of the United States on their tour last summer. Simpson's mark of 9 4-5 seconds for the 100 yard dash, and Rothert's 144 feet 6½ inches in the discus, and his shot put of 51 feet 1 inch were credited as New Zealand standards.

New Figures on Reno Bout Give Dempsey a Profit

Reno, Nev., July 6.—(AP)—Revised figures today showed that the total gate receipts for the Baer-Uzcudun fight here Saturday were $79,666, enough, according to Jack Dempsey, to enable him to make a small profit. Paulino Uzcudun received $18,060.60 for his share of the purse, and Max Baer got $14,045.50. Dempsey, who promoted the show, also refereed the main bout.

FRASIER CHECKS BROWNS AS SOX WIN 5-3 BATTLE

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—Vic Frasier was the main man in this afternoon's laudable White Sox enterprise, the business of making it two straight over the impudent St. Louis Browns. The score was, Chicago, 5; St. Louis, 3.

Vic held the St. Louisans to five hits, three of which came in a row with one out in the sixth. He fanned nine batsmen and walked only one man. Two of the five hits were homers, one by Goslin with one out in the fourth, which was the first hit off the young man, and another by Melillo, with Schulte on base, which accounted for the Browns' scoring.

If young Mr. Frasier got any inspiration in his splendid performance from Manager Bush, it was given by remote control, for just before game time the Sox manager received word from the American league headquarters that his old Detroit Tiger infield pal, Umpire George Moriarty, had caused him to be suspended for three days as a result of an exchange of compliments in yesterday's Chicago victory over the Browns.

Moriarty Tells Teacher.

It seems that the two old Tigers became reminiscent about certain happenings during the eight years the two played together for the glory of Detroit, and Moriarty told teacher, possibly omitting some of the things that the umpire is alleged to have said to the Sox manager.

Of course, Frasier's penchant for pitching home run balls would have ended in disaster if the Sox hadn't gone in for a little baseball socking on their own. Blue scored a run after walking in the first inning, drove in one with a triple in the second, and scored after a single in the fifth. Appling singled and scored on Tate's triple in the second, and it was Tate who registered on the aforementioned Blue triple.

Thomas to Hurl Today.

The teams will play the final of their six game series here this afternoon, and Thomas and Stewart, who had been slated to hook up today, will fight it out tomorrow.

The White Sox jumped off to a 3 to 0 lead in the first two innings. Blue walked to start the game, paused while Sullivan fanned, went to third on Reynolds' single to center, and scored while Levey was throwing out Fonseca.

Appling opened the second inning with a single, went to second on Kerr's out, and scored on Tate's triple to right. Tate held third while Coffman threw out Frasier, but walked home on Blue's triple to right.

After Schulte had walked to start the St. Louis offensive, the Browns

Vines and Gledhill Take National Clay Court Title

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—(AP)—A pair of Californians, Ellsworth Vines Jr. of Pasadena and Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, late this afternoon won the national clay court men's doubles tennis championship by defeating Berkeley Bell of New York City and Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., in the final round at the Triple A club here, 6-3, 7-9, 10-8, 9-7.

ROETTGER AND COLLINS DOUBLE TO DECIDE GAME

Smith's Hard Luck Still Present.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Bob Smith's lack of luck is rapidly becoming traditional. With only one out to go he had the stage all set for a Cub triumph yesterday. Then things happened and the first place Cardinals, who previously had whittled down a four run handicap, scored twice to nose out the Cubs, 6 to 5. It was the Cards' sixth victory over Chicago in eight attempts this season. The ninth inning jolt lowered the Cubs to five and one-half games from the top.

The unhappy ending took place all because Smith started the ninth by handing a pass to Sparky Adams, who had been a nuisance all afternoon. The next two batters were set down, one because Riggs Stephenson put on a burst of speed to grab a short liner. But an instant later Jim Collins doubled to left and Sparky carried across the tying run. Then Wallie Roettger doubled to score Collins and the game was over except for the Cubs' futile effort to get back into a tie in their last attack.

Hack's Almost Hero.

It was Hack Wilson who almost made a hero of himself at the last moment. Except for two passes Hack had been helpless all afternoon before an assortment of Cardinal pitchers. He didn't let his previous failures annoy him in the least when he stepped up in the ninth with one out and Cuyler on first as the result of a pass. Hack swung into one of Jess Haines' tosses and the ball sailed high and far toward right, but it came down just far enough inside the fence to let Watkins grab it. Then Cuyler staged a desperate attempt to steal second, but failed, and the 12,000 attending folks went home.

The Cubs did well enough in scoring of runs, but their hitting was nothing to speak of. They drove Stout to cover with two runs in the first and did the same to Lindsey in the third. That's how the four run lead was gathered, but most of it went away in the fourth. Then the Cards tied it in the seventh, only to have the Cubs come back with one run in their half off Tony Kaufmann. A single by Riggs Stephenson did that and it was one of only two hits notched by the north siders in the six concluding innings.

Double Header on Tap Today.

Another large package of trouble confronts the Cubs this afternoon. They will be called on to face the Cards in a double-header. Hornsby says he'll have to stage a guessing contest with himself this morning before he can decide on his pitchers. He may be forced to nominate Root and Bush, who are a day shy of rest. Grimes and Hallahan are due for the Cardinals and that is not pleasant for the Cubs to contemplate.

The idea of doing a little scoring in the Cubs' first half originated with Jurges. He planted a two bagger in the neighborhood of the right field flagpole. English tried to sacrifice, but fanned. Cuyler bounced to short and Jurges was thrown out at third. Cuyler stole second to make room at first for Wilson, who walked. Hornsby slapped a single over short to score Cuyler and Wilson ran home on Stephenson's single off Stout's shin.

Cubs Score Two in Third.

Adams led off in the third with a double to left, but didn't score. In celebration of this the Cubs drove in two runs in their half. With one gone Cuyler singled to right. Wilson walked for the second time. Hornsby hit the top of the wall near the corner of the bleachers in left center. Cuyler scored, Hack halted at third

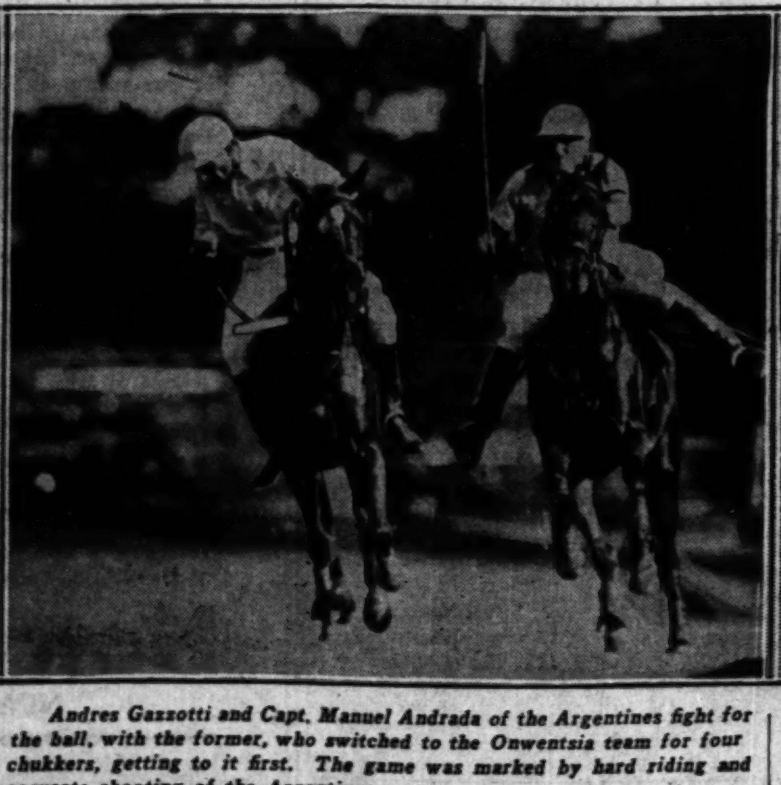
SOCKING THE BALL—IN POLO AND GOLF

In pursuit of the ball. Jose Reynal of the Santa Paula polo team of Argentina, which meets Old Aiken Saturday at Onwentsia, and Simmons of the Onwentsia four override the ball during practice game yesterday. The Argentines won, 12 to 8. [TRIBUNE Photo.]



Andres Gazzotti and Capt. Manuel Andrada of the Argentines fight for the ball, with the former, who switched to the Onwentsia team for four chukkers, getting to it first. The game was marked by hard riding and accurate shooting of the Argentines.

Fringed by a gallery of several hundred, Eddie Loos drives from the first tee in the North Shore open golf tournament at Sunset Valley. Archie Compston of England, with pipe, and Al Espinosa await their turns to sock the ball.

Leading Chicago professionals make bid for North Shore open prize, but yield to coast star. Bob McDonald is playing off the third tee while Jock Hutchison, at the right, wonders whether or not he will get as much distance.

PARKS HAVE EYE ON TEAM TROPHY IN TRIBUNE SWIM

Junior A. A. F. Champions to Compete.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

California Park, winner of the junior A. A. F. team championship, will be a strong contender for the team trophy in THE TRIBUNE 100 yard swimming races Sunday afternoon July 26. P. C. Bushman, instructor at California Park, already is picking the squad which will compete in the ten divisions of the events at Lincoln park lagoon.

The team trophy, a statue of a swimmer mounted on an ebony base, will be awarded to the playground, park or club which scores the most points. First place will count five points, second place three and third place one point. All ten events—five for boys and five for girls—will count in the scoring.

Age Limit 11 Years.

All races will be 100 yards free style. The list of classes follows:

Class A—11 and 12 years of age.
Class B—13 and 14 years of age.
Class C—15 and 16 years of age.
Class D—17 and 18 years of age.
Class E—19 years of age and over.

Last year only boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 15 were permitted to participate. However, this year all 11 years of age and over may compete. Contestants who are 16 or over must be registered with the Central association of the Amateur Athletic union. The registration fee of 25 cents may be mailed to Roy E. Davis, 528 South Clark street, or it may be paid on the day of the races to A. A. U. clerks at Lincoln park.

California Park has arranged a dual meet with Ilgair Park next Sunday at 2 o'clock at Ilgair Park. Jimmy Rederer of Tilden High school, city high school high and low board champion, will compete and so will Charles Erlenbaugh of Roosevelt High school, who placed second in the state swimming meet.

Geraldine Patterson Again Enters.

Geraldine Patterson, 205 West 71st street, who was one of the first to enter last year's meet, also had her entry blank in the first mail yesterday for the sprint races July 26.

"Although I didn't place last year," Miss Patterson writes, "I hope to do much better this year and win a medal for the south side." Geraldine will compete in Class B.

Warner Turriff is another who is seeking a 100 yard championship for the second year. He lives at 219 North Second street, Highland Park, and will compete in Class C. Warner also enclosed a note with his entry, the gist of which indicated that he is a much better swimmer than a year ago.

Entries close July 20. All letters received bearing that postmark will be accepted even if they arrive a day later.

Donie Bush and Umpire Moriarty Renew Old Feud

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 6.—The ill feeling between Umpire George Moriarty and Manager Donie Bush, which yesterday resulted in the three day suspension of Bush, is said to date back to the days when Moriarty was playing third base for Detroit and Bush was the shortstop. They were teammates for eight years.

According to one version of the feud, Moriarty, who has been a librettist for many years, while a member of the Tigers charged that Irving Berlin and George Gershwin, then achieving their first success, were stealing their hits from him. Moriarty, is is said, had never met either Berlin or Gershwin, but in lieu of this slugged a little Jewish piano player on general principles.

When Bush seeks to irritate Moriarity, it is said, he simply says something about "that little piano player."

According to players who heard the repartee between Bush and Moriarity just before the final put out in the second game of yesterday's double header, pet names exchanged by the two old teammates were equally pointed, with Moriarity having the edge, if anything.

FRASIER CHECKS BROWNS AS SOX WIN 5-3 BATTLE

went out in order until one was out in the fourth. Then Goslin knocked the ball over the right field pavilion.

The Sox got their fourth run in the fifth. Blue singled to center and went on to third when the ball got past Schulte. Lu scored on Sullivan's liner to Schulte.

Browns Get Rough.

In the sixth the Browns wanted to play rough. With one down, Schulte got the second hit of the afternoon off Frasier, a single to center, and Melillo followed with a homer into the left field bleacher, Schulte scoring ahead of him. Goslin then doubled to right, but Fonseca backed against the left field wall and made a leaping one hand catch of Kress' drive.

Reynolds' rather clumsy two base muff made a nervous affair of the Browns' eighth. Kimsey batted for Coffman and fanned. Then Reynolds dropped Schulte's easy fly and Schulte pulled up at second base. The pressure was relieved when Appling picked up Melillo's grounder and threw to Jeffries to get Schulte, but the situation became tense again when Goslin dropped a Texas leaguer into short right center, Melillo making third and Goslin going to second on the throw in. Frasier then fanned Kress for the third out.

Blaeholder took over the pitching chore in the ninth and was greeted with a double by Kerr. Johnny held second while Tate flied to Goslin, but came home when Frasier singled to right.

Rexinger, Harris Win Opening Matches in State Net Meet

The Illinois tennis championships at the Chicago Town and Tennis club got under way yesterday afternoon with 72 players attempting to wrest the state crown from George O'Connell, present titlist.

SCOTT REXINGER.

The early first round matches saw favorites in all divisions winning their contests by topheavy scores.

Scott Rexinger and Jack Harris, both seeded players and tournament stars, breezed through their opening round matches. Harris defeated Marshall Dudley, 6-0, 6-0, while Rexinger, Big Ten singles champion, eliminated John Burns, 6-0, 6-1.

Hayes Has Close Call.

Walter Hayes, former national clay courts champion, representing the home club, was pushed hard by Wade Storer of Chicago, but won 6-1, 5-7, 10-8. George O'Connell entered the first round in defense of his title by trouncing L. J. W. Lammers, 6-0, 6-1.

Bruce Barnes and Ted Burwell, southerners, who were seeded first and second in the draw, did not see action yesterday, but will play their opening round matches this afternoon.

Interest in the doubles competition waned a bit yesterday when it was announced that Luke Williams, intercollegiate star, was forced to withdraw by a boil. Louis Thalheimer, his partner, is now paired with Jack Harris, veteran Chicago player.

Parker Stands Out.

Frank Parker, youthful Milwaukee player, who is entered in both the boys' and junior divisions, turned in the best performance of the day when he decisively won two matches, one in each class, and both by scores of 6-0, 6-0.

Play in the women's singles and doubles division in all classes is not scheduled to get under way until today. In the feminine tournament Mae Cuervorst, Kansas star, is conceded the best opportunity to take the title.

CARDINALS SCORE TWO IN NINTH TO DEFEAT CUBS, 6-5

and Hornsby at second. Stephenson was passed purposely and while Adams was throwing out Hartnett, Hack scored. Then Grimm was passed intentionally so that Smith could be the third victim. He was.

Smith's effectiveness and a good bit of his four run lead, began to vanish when High opened the fourth with a hit. He was forced by Martin, after which the bases were filled on passes to Gelbert and Orsatti, who batted for Lindsey. Adams grounded into a forceout at second, Martin scoring. Then Jim Wilson did some real damage. He hit the left field wall for two bases, scoring Gelbert and Adams. Smith fanned Watkins.

Cards Tie Cubs in Seventh.

After J. Wilson's potent double in the fourth Smith didn't give up another hit until the seventh, when the run that tied the score at four all went across. Adams opened the inning with his second two bagger into left field. J. Wilson attempted to sacrifice, but popped foul and Jurges grabbed it. Jurges also took care of a popup off Watkins' bat. But Collins didn't pop up. He lined to right for two bases, Adams scoring.

Kaufmann showed his one time Cub mates a large order of pitching for three innings, but lost control in the home seventh and that brought on a one run lead for the Cubs. English walked for a starter and Cuyler sacrificed. Wilson was tossed out on a grounder and Hornsby walked. Then Stephenson ran the count to 3 and 2 before shoving a single through short on which English scored.

Smith took care of his slim lead in the eighth by bowling over three men in a row, including two pinch hitters, Hafey and Frisch. But he wasn't quite that good in the ninth.

SHARKEY STARTS TRAINING TO FACE WALKER JULY 22

Pompton Lakes, N. J., July 6.—[Special.]—Jack Sharkey will start training here tomorrow for his 15 round battle with Mickey Walker at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, on Wednesday, July 22.

Sharkey declares that he has been in light training for the last three weeks and is all set for the grind that will begin tomorrow afternoon at Dr. Joseph Bier's farm.

Again the U. S. Open is won with the Spalding Ball

Again Spalding Cushion-neck clubs score a major triumph

Billie Burke, retained as a member of Spalding's Field Advisory Staff yesterday, won the U. S. Open playing a Spalding Golf Ball and Spalding Cushion-neck Steel-shafted irons.

With but one exception, the Spalding Ball has been played by the winners of this famous event every year it has been held since 1913. It happens too often to call it luck. The answer is that it is the one ball that assures the maximum in controllability, uniformity, and distance!

And today, Spalding Cushion-neck Steel-shafted Clubs are as favored by the Champions as is the Spalding Ball. Try them. They are the only clubs in the world that offer uniform, controlled torsion—and the straighter and longer shots it makes possible.

COAST PRO WINS IN NORTH SHORE OPEN; ROUSE 2D

Morrison Turns In 141 for $500 Prize.

[illegible] Morrison, professional at the [illegible] Hills Country club, Culver City, [illegible] stopped off in Chicago yesterday [illegible] his way home from the national [illegible] long enough to win the fourth annual North Shore open at Sunset Valley with a score of 71—70—141 for 36 holes. A cash prize of $500 went to the winner.

The Pacific coast star, who in 1929 won the Southern California open, beat a strong field yesterday including members of the British Ryder cup team and many of the leading pros and amateurs of the Chicago district. Two hundred competed and 80 qualified for the final 18 by scoring a 79 or better for their morning round.

Rouse Second with 143.

[illegible] Rouse, of Highland Park, winner of the event two years ago, finished second two points behind the winner. He had a card of 71—72—143. Both were tied for the morning 18 with 71, but Morrison turned his afternoon round in 70, two under par, while Rouse was taking a 72.

Al Espinosa, last year's champion, and George Dernbach of Flossmoor had 144 to tie for third. Abe Espinosa of Medinah and Harry Hampton of Beverly were tied in fourth position with 145. Abe had a 35—34—69 for his morning effort, but he wavered on the home nine in the afternoon taking [illegible] for a total of 36—40—76, four over par.

Chick Evans, Edgewater, led the amateurs with 73—77—150.

Britons Leave Early.

The British Ryder cup contingent withdrew in a body at the close of the morning round in order to catch a train for the east. Archie Compston led his compatriots with a 74 and Abe Mitchell, veteran English star, had a [illegible].

Morrison shot under par figures for 36 holes. He equalled par with a 36 on the first nine and took the next nine in 35 for a 71, one under par. He sprinkled five birdies along the route. He was one under par figures on the third, ninth, twelfth, fourteenth and seventeenth. He shot his best golf on the out nine in the afternoon, which he traversed in 33, three under par. He had birdies on the second, third and ninth and equaled par on the other holes. He grew lax on the last nine, however, taking a 5 on the par 4 tenth and being over par on the twelfth and sixteenth. Birdies on the fifteenth and seventeenth enabled him to complete the journey in 37 for a total of 70. The scores:

MOON MULLINS—MR. RUBBERNOSE GETS AN EARFUL

WITHOUT ME HA! ONLY OVER MY DEAD BODY YOU WILL, WILLIE MULLINS.
MAYBE YOU COULD MAKE MAMIE CHANGE HER MIND, RUBBERNOSE.
YES, JULIUS, YOU GO TALK TO THE LITTLE WOMAN. SHE WON'T LISTEN TO ME, BUT TO A MAN OF YOUR POSITION, SHE'LL BE PLEASED TO GIVE YOU A EAR—
WELL JULIUS, WAS I RIGHT?
YES, IN A WAY YOU WERE, WILLIAM— AND I'M AFRAID IT WILL LOOK LIKE A CAULIFLOWER FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE.

LARGE PANAMA HAT AND A CIGAR IDENTIFY BURKE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toledo, O., July 6.—When Billy Burke received the National open silver championship cup and its accompanying check for $1,750 from Hebert H. Ramsay, president of the United States Golf association, tonight, he was beginning a year which should bring him profits in testimonials and personal appearances estimated at $50,000.

This boy, who changed his name from Burkowski to Burke a few years ago, started his golf career toting clubs on the courses of his native Naugatuck, Conn. He was just another good golfer until 1924 when he went down to Florida and created quite a stir in the winter tournaments there.

Big Cigar Part of Makeup.

Burke also had held the New York state open title, probably his greatest achievement until now, but it was during the recent Ryder cup matches that he really attracted the attention of his fellow professionals, so much so that many of them picked him to win the open before it started.

Throughout the first 72 holes of the tournament here, he went along with his inevitable cigar screwed into one corner of his mouth and a big panama hat flopping about his head, playing a cautious game of golf. Then came the playoff with Von Elm and Billy showed himself for the gambler that he is, attempting to hole out 40 and 50 foot approaches, and completely neglecting his putter at times. When those long ones didn't quite go in, when they twisted over into a trap or on the lee side of a bunker, he maintained his poker face, recognizing the law of averages and the fact that you can't win them all.

Worked in Steel Mill.

The only time he evinced any distress occurred this afternoon, when he found himself without a cigar. Somebody happened along with a couple, however, and Billy was ready to go on after more birdies and pars.

The new United States open golf champion, was born in 1903, and is of Polish extraction. He developed his present sturdy frame by working as an iron puddler in a steel mill. He is married, and his wife, one of the smallest women on the course, saw him play every one of those 589 strokes.

MRS. MARSHALL MEDALIST IN CITY GOLF WITH 74

Mrs. Rose Marshall's 74, six strokes better than the nearest of her rivals and only eight strokes over men's par for the Marquette park course, won medal honors yesterday in the annual city parks golf championship. Mrs. Marshall, who was runner-up last year, shot rounds of 36 and 38. Par for men is 33-33—66.

Mrs. J. McNeal, of Marquette park, was runner-up with 39-41—80. Mrs. F. Ricketts, of Jackson park, was third.

Match play begins today and continues throughout the week.

Mrs. Lillian Zech, of Edgebrook, who won the city parks title last year, did not defend her championship.

Burke Beats Von Elm by Stroke to Win Longest Duel for National Open Title

into the weeds at the left, but Burke's iron was on the green, about 25 feet beyond the pin. Von Elm's second shot was short and after chipping up, he took two putts for a five. Burke tried for a birdie three on the dangerously sloping green, but the ball grazed the cup by an inch, and he took a four. Both played the fifth perfectly, taking par fours, where others of the mighty in the tournament had required six. Burke had a chance for a birdie on the sixth when his iron play brought his ball ten feet from the cup, but like Von Elm, he had to be content with a four.

Burke evened the count at the dog leg seventh, where Von Elm attempted to duplicate the shot he succeeded on yesterday by taking the short cut to the green, but he found his ball nestling on the bank and out of sight of the green. He chipped on and took a five after his fourth shot rimmed the cup. Burke played his drive on the fairway and approached to within 30 feet of the pin. Here he repeated his great shot of the first playoff round, putting uphill for a birdie three.

Off Putting Form.

The fact that both were putting slightly off their regular form became evident at the eighth, where each reached the green on their drives, but took three putts to get down. Burke knocked down his third birdie in consecutive rounds on the ninth, when his chip shot from the fairway fell four feet away from the flag. Von Elm, too, putted for a par five, giving Billy a stroke margin at the turn.

Burke went two up at the tenth, which Von Elm three putted while Billy was playing it in regulation style. Von Elm regained that stroke at the eleventh, where both were on in two with the Detroit golfer's ball lying 16 feet off the pin. He holed it for a birdie, while Burke took a four.

Burke played the twelfth much as he had yesterday, finding the rough twice before his fourth shot. That shot didn't produce a birdie as it had before, however, for it rolled past the cup and took a pair of putts to get down for a six. Von Elm's attempt for a birdie four circled in and out of the cup, but he gained a stroke with his par, and the score was tied.

Cameraman Bothers Von Elm.

Burke's drive to the thirteenth was on, but Von Elm's tee shot found a sand trap to the left, and the click of an amateur photographer's camera so disturbed him that his explosion shot bounced over the green and into a similar difficulty at the right. He chipped into the green's edge, and took two putts for a five, two over par. Burke two putted and was two strokes ahead as they headed for the fourteenth. This they divided with par fours.

Burke took his third six of the round on the fifteenth. His drive struck the side of a bunker at the left and bounded up into the scrubby grass at its crest. He hooked his second shot over the creek into the weeds bordering the adjoining fairway. His effort to reach the green also was a failure, the ball landing in the rough off the green. He finally got on, but took two putts. Von Elm played for a par four and got it to square the count.

Von Elm Leads at 18.

Burke wasn't through yet, however. Their second shots landed on the 16th green, but Burke holed his ten footer for a birdie three and a one stroke lead, while Von Elm took a four for the hole. Bill lost his advantage at the 17th, his second reaching the rough and two putts gave him a five, so that they were even going to the home green. Von Elm gained his one stroke lead for the round by playing safe for a par four instead of his usual birdie, while Burke dubbed his iron shot and two putted for a five.

Starting out one stroke down in the afternoon Burke played the 392 yard first hole in orthodox fashion for a par four. He had a good drive on the second, 388 yards, laid his mashie shot twenty feet from the pin, and holed out for a birdie three, tying the score. They had par threes on the 146 yard next, but Billy took a No. 2 iron on the 431 yard fourth for his second shot, one of the finest of the tournament, and the ball dropped two feet from the pin for another birdie. Billy went three strokes ahead when Von Elm missed a short putt for four and took five. There it was that the gallery of more than 2,000 sensed that Burke was head for the title.

Von Elm Regains Stroke.

Billy found the rough on the 430 yard fifth, chipped up and two putted for a five, while George was taking a four and regaining a stroke. They halved the sixth, 350 yards, in fours, but Billy lost another at the seventh, when he completely missed his explosion shot out of a trap. He redeemed this on the next green with a startling drive to the pin, 210 yards away. For a while it appeared that he was going to make a hole in one, the ball whistling straight for the flag and then dropping a foot away for a birdie deuce. Von Elm three putted the hole and Burke was again three strokes ahead. George rallied at the long ninth, 492 yards, by outdriving, as he had been doing throughout the round. It was a birdie four for the business man and a five for Burke, who overshot the pin on his chip. Burke had made the turn in 34, one under par, while George had 36.

Billie Finds Trap.

George proved he wasn't through at the 348th yard, where he holed a 25 foot putt against Billy's par four. They both drove the fairway on the eleventh, 380 yards, but Burke's second shot was short of the green. His approach halted on the edge of the cup, and he matched Von Elm's four. Both second shots found the hill which dropped off abruptly in front of the twelfth green, which is 516 yards from the tee, and Burke's chip was nearly twenty feet past the pin on the tilted side of the green. He gauged it correctly, and the ball, after swinging down the green in a two foot arc, curled into the cup for his fourth birdie of the round. Von Elm took a par five, that peculiar putter of his refusing to deliver again.

Billy's ball turned up in a trap at the 146 yard thirteenth, but an explosion shot brought him a four, while Von Elm showed he was still in the fight by getting a par three. On the 416 yard fourteenth, for the first time during the day, George failed to outdrive Billy, the ball going off into weeds at the right. He played safe, chipping out to the fairway and laying his third shot ten feet off the pin. Billy's iron was short of the green, but his third shot again reached the lip of the cup before stopping. The putter turned on George again, and he took five, to go one down.

Both drove in the fairway on the 441 yard fifteenth, but Burke's second shot bounded along near a group of spectators along the edge of the green. Both were down in par four.

They were on the sixteenth green, 398 yards from the tee, in two, but George looked as though it would give him great pleasure to hurl his putter into the Maumee river when he took three putts to get down in five, giving Billy a three stroke lead. Burke's second shot to the 404 yard seventeenth was far off, but his approach brought the ball down inches from the cup.

Von Elm was in a position to pick up a stroke at this point, his second having landed eight feet from the pin, but he took two putts. Then came the eighteenth, 325 yards long, and with it sighs from the Toledo hotel scouts for whom this has been a boom week.

CADDY BETS HIS LAST DOLLAR ON BURKE AND WINS

BY BILLY BURKE.

[Copyright: 1931: By the Associated Press.]

Toledo, O., July 6.—(AP)—Well, I won the national open golf championship. But I earned it.

George Von Elm gave me the greatest fight in the history of golf, a fight that lasted 144 holes and wasn't decided until the last hole. I knew I was in for a bitter battle with that fighter of fighters, but little did I realize that he had the stamina, the daring and the great fighting heart that he proved himself to have.

Inspired By Caddy.

Why I won, I do not know, as there are so many breaks in the game, but I believe I had one thrill of inspiration that made me go on and on.

When I came up to the tee, one shot behind, for the start of the afternoon round, a caddy about 15 years old tugged nervously at my shirt sleeve. I stopped and asked him what he wanted.

"Aw, Billy," he pleaded, "I've got my last dollar bet on you. Go on and win for me."

Hears Him Cheering.

I slapped him on the back, promised to win, and started. I heard him whoop above the tumult when I squared the match and saw him smiling and then frowning, anxious-faced, as the up-and-down fight went on its way. He got his dollar and if I can find him I'll give him another. He helped me fight that much harder to win.

ALEXANDER AND HOUSE OF DAVID TO PLAY DUFFYS

Grover Cleveland Alexander brings the House of David baseball team to Shewbridge field to meet the Duffy Florals Thursday night.

In their first meeting the Duffys scored a 2 to 1 victory over the whiskered team.

Alexander, who pitched the first three innings of that game without being scored on, probably will start the battle under the lights.

Burke, Von Elm Still Would Be Tied in Match Play

If the National open golf title had been decided on a match play basis, Billy Burke, the new champion, and George Von Elm still would be battling for the crown. At the end of their 144 hole contest the cards show a draw in match play.

They were even on the first nine of the tournament proper. Von Elm was 1 down at the end of the first eighteen. He was still 1 down at the 27th, but finished at the thirty-sixth 4 up when he turned in 69, two less than par, for the round.

The next 36 saw Burke fight his way back to even the count in match play at 72 holes.

He continued his pace and had George 2 down on the first nine of the extra holes. Von Elm got one back on the next nine, and added another his next trip out, only to have Billy square in match as well as medal play, at the 108th. Billy was 2 up at the 117th, but they were even again at the 126th. On the final eighteen, where Burke won the title, they played an even match game.

BURKE CONVINCES MOTHER GOLF'S A GREAT GAME

Naugutuck, Conn., July 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Peter Burkowski, mother of Billy Burke, winner of the National Open Golf championship, said, "I'm the happiest mother in the world tonight," after she heard the announcement of her son's victory.

Billy's father hurried home from work at the iron foundry tonight to "listen" to the broadcast of the final holes in the championship match.

Mrs. Burkowski, who never saw her son play golf, said she would at the next opportunity.

"I didn't like it when Billy first started to play golf," she said, "but he was such a hard working boy and he got so much fun out of those clubs that I left him at it. And now he's champion.

"I never knew so many people liked golf. There must be something to it if 6,000 persons will follow Billy around to see him win the championship. I'll have to see for myself when he comes home."

ROCKET GLARE, BATTLESHIP WIN ARLINGTON RACES

Favorites Fail the Largest Weekday Crowd.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Horses that like to run a mile came together in the Nashville and the Mobile purse races, which held the high spot on Arlington's racing card yesterday, and the folks who play the favorites were grieving when the races were over.

Battleship, a big chestnut son of Man o' War from Walter J. Salmon's stable, won the Nashville fairly easily from the favorite, Sunny Lassie, and Rocket Glare, at $33.90 to win in the mutuels, was first in the Mobile purse. Trailing him came the heavily backed William T., with Uluniu third.

There was another upset in the Duluth purse for 2 year old fillies, many of which are entered for the Lassie stakes tomorrow, when Colonial Belle, a daughter of Sweep On Breese Gard, was the winner by a nose from Seven Veils, a three-quarter sister of the famous Anita Peabody, owned by Mrs. John Hertz. Colonial Belle won in the final strides and her margin was so narrow it looked as if the decision could have been given to either filly.

Colonial Belle Surprises.

Colonial Belle's victory was quite a shock to several owners of high priced fillies who expect to win the Lassie tomorrow which will be worth about $25,000. Colonial Belle isn't eligible for the stake, but all the others are, and it is possible that if the Lassie candidates hadn't been looking forward to that hard race on the morrow, Colonial Belle might not have galloped to her victory.

As it was, she had a terrific time beating Seven Veils, which was away fast and made all the pace until Colonial Belle conquered her in the last few jumps. White Flier also showed a good race and so did several other royally bred fillies which no doubt will do better when the Lassie stakes is run.

Seven Veils Improves.

Seven Veils' performance was a remarkable improvement over the race she ran when she made the first start of her career last week. She ran the same distance yesterday a second and a half faster. If she shows similar improvement in her next start she must be considered dangerous in the Lassie stakes.

Seven Veils is a daughter of Luke McLuke-Salome II and just before she ran her good race Egypt, another daughter of Salome II but a year older than Seven Veils, had won a six furlong race from a smart band of 2 year old sprinters. Egypt also showed fine early speed and jumped into the lead soon after the start. She held it easily all the way. Camp Prince, under a weak ride by Paul Neal, was second and running over horses late in the race, while the best the favorite Silver Lake could get was third money.

In the betting Colonial Belle had strong backing, but paid $13.24. She ran a brilliant race, coming from far back in the stretch and finished like a horse that will like to travel a distance of ground.

Adine, Who Win Weaken.

Ned O and Sunny Lassie were expected to fight it out in the Nashville, but there was an extremely fast early pace with neither of them able to keep up with Adine, Battleship, and Who Win, that were making it. When Adine and Who Win weakened, Battleship went right on about his business and didnt' let the others even get close to him in the late stages.

Rocket Glare outran his field in the Mobile from start to finish and Jockey R. Jones only had to let him have his head down the stretch to beat William T. by three lengths with Uluniu finishing third. Sister Zoe didn't show her usually fleet dash in the stretch and was badly beaten, as was Sun Falcon, on which there had been a last minute tip which drove his price down.

The biggest week day crowd of the Arlington season was on hand to see the program, and favorites were in eclipse all afternoon.

BREVERE WINS $5,000 GRAND CIRCUIT RACE

Cleveland, July 6.—(AP)—The tenth renewal of the $5,000 Rainy Day sweepstakes feature on the seventh day's grand circuit program at North Randall track, resulted in a split heat race, which was won by Brevere, chestnut colt owned by W. N. Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., and driven by Ben White, of Lexington, Ky.

Brevere won the first and third heats, dropping the second to Hollyrood Robin from the J. L. Dodge stable, driven by Harris Stokes. As the field neared the finish in the third and what proved to be the final heat, White got into a pocket and displayed a great piece of horsemanship in squeezing through a small opening and going on to win by a neck. Brevere ruled odds on favorite at 30 to 100 in the auctions. It was White's fifth Rainy Day stake victory.

Dr. H. M. Parshall of Urbana, O., sprang a surprise in the 2:17 pace, scoring a straight heat victory with Napoleon Grant, a son of Pop Geers' old pupil, Napoleon-Direct. The gelding paid $183.50 for a $10 result ticket.

But for a break at the wire in the second heat Tommy Berry undoubtedly would have scored a straight heat victory i nthe 2:10 trot. The winner of the 1930 Travern stake here scored in the first and third heats handily. The victory in the 2:10 trot. The winner of second heat when to Calumet Annette, from the Calumet farms of Lexington, Ky.

Sep Palin and the Danville, Ill., owned trotter, Peter F. J., had no trouble smothering their opposition in the 2:18-22 trot.

TopFlightReaches Arlington Park for Lassie Stakes

Top Flight, daughter of Dis Donc and Flyatit, declared by the veteran trainer, Thomas Healy, to be the smartest 2 year old of either sex he is training for Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, if not the best in the country, arrived at Arlington Park yesterday. Top Flight is to start tomorrow in the Lassie stakes, Arlington Park's big special for 2 year old fillies.

William A. Harris, who brought the steeplechasers of Rigan McKinney from Belmont Park to Arlington, was at one time one of the greatest amateur riders in Ireland.

Elmer Trueman arrived yesterday from Aqueduct with the stable of Ral Parr of Baltimore, the bright star of which is Her Grace. Her Grace is too old for the Arlington Oaks, which will be renewed next Saturday, but she will make the Matron handicap, a dash of one mile for mares 3 years old and over, July 22, and possibly the Arlington Cup and the Arlington Handicap.

James Simpson Sr., chairman of the board of directors of the Marshall Field corporation, has been elected a member of the Post and Paddock club at Arlington. Mr. Simpson's son, James Jr., one of the accomplished amateur steeplechase jockeys of the country, is maintaining a stable of cross country racers and doing some thoroughbred production at his place near the Onwentsia Hunt.

Mate, the Preakness and American Derby winner, is to arrive at Arlington Park on Thursday. There are also several 2 year olds and a few jumpers in the shipment James W. Healy is bringing here.

WHAT SCHMELING NEEDS NOW IS A GOOD MONUMENT

stone, perhaps, it would be best to make it a hypothetical affair, because then the boys could not defile it by writing rude and disparaging remarks as they have done on the present one.

It is doubtful that Schmeling will fight again before next summer, for it has been accepted as a fact since 1910, that heavyweight champions are delicate artists who cannot stand the strain of fighting more than once a year. The customers are pretty rugged, but even so they cannot stand the strain of the ballyhoo or the expense more often than that.

It may be that Schmeling has agreed to fight Primo Carnera in New York in the fall, but contracts mean nothing in prize fighting and Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, was saying just before the fight in Cleveland that he was going to break with the Garden firm again as soon as the bout was over.

Schmeling, himself, probably has full confidence now that he could beat Jack Sharkey, who is, on his record, the toughest of the challengers at this time. Having seen most of Sharkey's important fights and Schmeling's, too, I am inclined to believe Schmeling would beat him, even though he might have to take punishment in the early rounds.

Max Learns as He Goes.

There has been no prominent heavyweight with the exception of Tunney who showed so plainly a capacity to observe and learn during the progress of a fight. Stribling was reaching Max with his left hooks and jabs in the first five rounds at Cleveland. But, like Tunney in the course of his fights with Greb, Schmeling studied the problems, decided what it was that he was doing wrong, and learned to evade or block the punches that had been causing him inconvenience.

Sharkey is a more spectacular puncher than Schmeling, but with his proven courage and strength, Max, I think, would solve him, discourage him, and knock him out in 15 rounds. Schmeling has been consistent in all his fights. His style is plain and sound, he wastes no motion, and it is evident now that if Sharkey had been a good fighter he would not have fouled Scott and Schmeling.

Carey's on the Spot.

Will Carey, the president of the Garden firm, will come under pressure now. Ever since he succeeded Tex Rickard he has found himself outmaneuvered in the competition for the best matches and even jockeyed into such a position that his firm produced bouts at a loss or with very little profit as mere ballyhoo for his principal rival, the New York Milk Fund. He lost money in Cleveland and he is likely now to discover that he bought out a champion in Schmeling at great expense only to create an attraction for the Milk Fund show of 1932.

BETTY DERR WINS TRIAL FOR $10,000 LATONIA OAKS

Latonia, Ky., July 6.—(AP)—H. P. Gardner's Betty Derr, a daughter of Sir Gallahad III. and Uncle's Lassie, qualified handsomely for her engagement in the $10,000 Latonia Oaks when she defeated a select band of sprinters in the Gibson Root purse today.

Betty Derr gave her backers little cause for concern at any stage of the six furlong dash, leading throughout to beat Baylor Hickman's Agincourt and Theodore Mueller's Cayuga. She covered the three-quarters in 1:13 2-5, excellent time considering the cuppy condition of the racing strip. She returned her backers $5.20 for each $2 investment.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE CURB DISCOVERED

New Blood-Purifying Method Eliminates Pressure-Raising Poisons

Doctors nowadays consider high blood pressure a symptom rather than as a disease. Furthermore, many of them say positively that in a majority of cases high blood pressure is caused by dangerous blood-borne acid body poisons. These poisons, which are beyond the reach of cathartics and laxatives, are also said to be at the root of not less than 29 serious common chronic ailments.

Today, however, sufferers from high blood pressure have found a new and effective way to get rid of the acid body poisons which cause and aggravate their condition. This is a wonderful mineral discovery known as Sleepy Water. Sleepy Water is found only in two springs, both in the Arkansas hills. Peculiar natural forces here have put into Sleepy Water a certain balanced combination of alkaline minerals. These balanced minerals not only act to neutralize the acids, but they soothe and activate the kidneys—the only organs that can thoroughly drain off the poisons. Because it carries off wastes so quickly, doctors call Sleepy Water a "kidney laxative." By eliminating the poisons which contribute to hypertension, Sleepy Water, as many sufferers say, often absolutely normalizes blood pressure.

Tear out and mail the coupon now for details of the wonderful 30-minute test which will demonstrate to you how Sleepy Water works to drive out poisons and purify blood. Let us show you how you can make this 30-minute trial. If you prefer, simply phone Kedzie 1228, the Chewaukla Mineral Springs Co., 3330 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago.

Argentine Polo Stars Win 1st Test, 18 to 2

Polo as played in Argentina by hard riders trained as cattle men on the pampas brought thrills to the spectators at Onwentsia yesterday afternoon as they watched the Santa Paula team, here for the coming international matches with Old Aiken, swamp an Onwentsia four, 18 to 2.

The South Americans rode horses which have not been in service since last winter when they carried their owners to victory in the Pacific coast championship, but after the opening period there was no doubt as to their superiority.

One of the features of the game was the tremendous length of the shots by Capt. Manuel Andrada, eight goal man and leader of the Argentine team. Andrada has been playing polo for 25 years. Juan Reynal drove in three goals. His brother, José, accounted for two, and Andrada, who busied himself in placing the ball in advantageous positions and protecting his teammates, scored one.

Kenneth Fitzpatrick and Dick Simmons scored for Onwentsia.

The Argentines open a three game series with Old Aiken at Onwentsia Saturday.

MORGAN RETURNS TO TOP OF BIG LEAGUE BATTERS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Eddie Morgan, Cleveland first baseman, is back on top of the big league batting heap today with a mark of .383 in sixty-one games, a single point better than Babe Ruth of the Yankees. Morgan got two hits in three times up yesterday to gain four points on Ruth, who was idle. Virgil Davis, Philly catcher, vaulted from third place in the National league to first when he hit three out of four against Brooklyn.

FLAMBEAU RIVER IS IDEAL STREAM FOR FISHERMEN

BY BOB BECKER.

For the fisherman, camper, or canoeist who wants a real he-man river, surrounded by miles of beautiful forests, the Flambeau, recently traveled by THE TRIBUNE'S annual Boy Scout canoe expedition, represents pretty nearly the ideal stream. It is fast enough and has so many rapids that it gives you an adventure or two to step up your heart movement.

It offers excellent muskalonge and pike fishing in spots. It has numerous springs along its banks so you can drink cool pure water in your camps and there are no long portages around dangerous rapids. In addition, the country is wild, deer are plentiful, and you really get away from civilization.

Some Becker Recommendations.

After canoeing down this stream from a point above Park Falls to Ladysmith here is our recommendations for a trip down the Flambeau, which steps along so rapidly it gives every hooked fish an extra 10 pounds weight advantage.

For comfort in navigating the stream and for ease in transporting luggage take a flat boat instead of a canoe. You can rent a big, safe boat for almost nothing. In one of these you can shoot the rapids in fine style. Also take a guide with you. The expense is slight, they know all the camp sites, all the springs, all the best pools for fish, and can handle the long push poles so well that they will hold a boat in the middle of fast water. In this way you can cast a certain eddy or pocket for a muskie.

Dams Above Park Falls.

If you want a fairly long trip you can start in above Park Falls, but there is a long haul around three dams which cost a few dollars. For a shorter trip you can get a flatboat at a point below Park Falls where the river makes an enormous bend. It is known as the oxbow in the river. From that point to Big Falls the water is magnificent and the fishing excellent with plenty of rapids and long deep pools where the pikes and muskies hold forth.

Right now the mosquitoes are bad. There is no dodging this fact. Heavy rains have produced a big crop of these insects. Later the insect pests will give one little trouble. In fact, during September one is free from all the bugs that prey on campers and the weather and fishing are delightful. All in all, the Flambeau is a prize bet for the camping fisherman who loves river travel, wilderness and beautiful scenery.

BANKS HERE IN GOOD POSITION, CALLS DISCLOSE

Cash Resources Up; Loans Reduced.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chicago's banks that have withstood the difficulties of the last few months are in stronger position than ever. It is no secret that the last three months has weeded out most of the weak banks. Nor is it any secret that the remaining banks have placed themselves in an unusually sound condition because of public unrest resulting from numerous bank closings.

These facts are strikingly shown in midyear statements made by all banks yesterday in response to calls for reports on condition as of June 30 issued by the controller of the currency and the Illinois state auditor. Naturally, the banks show some decline in deposits compared with three months ago, but this probably is attributable about as much to withdrawals for the purpose of paying belated taxes on real estate as to withdrawals because of depositors' fears.

Loans are Reduced.

But it is notable that the banks have reduced their loans to a greater degree than deposits have declined. This results in the banks, as a whole, increasing their cash resources and, therefore, being in an even stronger position than last spring. It also is notable that savings deposits, which are usually most affected by disturbed confidence, show a comparatively moderate decline. This recession has been less than 9 per cent in spite of generally unfavorable employment conditions and the Chicago tax situation.

The consolidated statement for all Chicago banks reveals that they held total deposits of $2,499,947,000 on June 30, compared with $2,614,781,000 on March 25, the date of the last previous statements. This marks a decline of $114,834,000, or 4 per cent. But loans and discounts totaled $1,481,459,000, compared with $1,701,148,000, a decline of $219,689,000, or 13 per cent. Cash resources totaled $575,126,000, compared with $517,521,000, an increase of $57,605,000, or 11 per cent. Savings deposits totaled $542,390,000, compared with $591,623,000, a decline of $49,233,000, or 8 per cent.

Interesting Changes.

Data for the two banking groups, national and state, show some interesting changes, although consideration must be given to the fact that the big First National-Foreman State merger occurred within the last month. The state banks, which as a group were most affected by suspensions, show a much stronger condition than three months ago.

Cash resources of the state group totaled $663,976,000 on June 30, compared with $604,071,000 on March 25, an increase of $59,905,000, or nearly 10 per cent. Their total deposits were $1,704,997,000, compared with $1,763,062,000, a decline of $58,065,000, or 3 per cent. Their loans and discounts totaled $1,079,951,000, compared with $1,187,202,000, a decline of $107,251,000, or 9 per cent. Their savings deposits totaled $490,997,000, compared with $524,654,000, a decline of $49,233,000, or 8 per cent.

The national banks as a group show a very slight decline in cash resources, their total being $211,150,000 on June 30, compared with $213,450,000 on March 25, a decline of $2,300,000, or 1 per cent. Their total deposits were $794,950,000, compared with $851,719,000 a decline of $56,769,000, or 6 per cent. Their loans and discounts totaled $401,508,000, compared with $513,946,000, a decline of $112,438,000, or 21 per cent. Their savings deposits totaled $51,393,000, compared with $66,969,000, a decline of $15,576,000, or 23 per cent.

Comparisons of the current figures with those of a year ago are valueless because of the number of bank closings and mergers in the last year. Within the last three months 39 state banks and 4 national banks have suspended, while there have been 7 mergers.

Record as to Closed Banks.

The state banks closed in Chicago since March 25 number 39, as follows:

Armitage State, Auburn Park Trust and Savings, Boulevard State Savings, Brainerd State, Bryn Mawr State, Builders and Merchants' Bank and Trust, Chatham State, Cheltenham Trust and Savings, Chicago Lawn State, Columbia State Savings, Commerce Trust and Savings, Cragin State, Diversey Trust and Savings, Elston State, Fullerton State, Garfield State, Humboldt State, Immel State, Industrial State, Italian Trust and Savings, Lincoln State, Lincoln Trust and Savings, Montrose Trust and Savings, Noel State, North Town State, Northwestern Trust and Savings, Ridge State, Ridgeway State, Second Humboldt State, Second Northwestern State, Sheridan Trust and Savings, South Side Savings Bank and Trust, State Bank of Beverly Hills, Stony Island State Savings, West Englewood Trust and Savings, West Highland State, West Lawn State, West Town State, and Roseland State Savings.

Four national banks closed, as follows:

Albany Park National, Austin National, Inland-Irving National, and Washington Park National.

Seven banks consolidated with other banks as follows:

Commercial State, Foreman-State National, Foreman-State Trust and Savings, Old Dearborn State, South West State, State Savings Bank and Trust, and Twenty-sixth Street State.

Discusses Recovery Signs to Be Found in Bond Market

BY SCRUTATOR.

The bond market is being watched with much interest these days because it is generally regarded as being a pretty good business barometer.

Bond price averages have been rising since early in June, the biggest gains last month being shown in second grade industrial and railroad issues. If this rise should prove to be the beginning of a general trend upward it should be an indication that business is on its way back to normal.

In ordinary times the difference in yield between high grade and second grade bonds is around a half of one per cent. During periods of economic depression, when investors seek the utmost in safety and liquidity, the prices of second grade issues drop and the spread between the yields of the first and second grade bonds widens. At present the spread, instead of being half of one per cent, is about one and a half per cent on the average.

Sees Returning Confidence.

The National Bureau of Economic Research has published an index covering the period from 1880 to date, showing that rising prices for high grade bonds have generally forecast business recovery several months ahead and that the bond market has continued its advance until business recovery has proceeded for some months.

"The improvement in the past month," says the National City company in its July bulletin, "may be significant of returning confidence with respect to less secure investments."

In the past the advance of the bond market has been a fairly reliable indication of recovery from business slumps. After the panic of 1893 business touched its low point in June, 1894, but the advance in bonds began eleven months earlier. In 1908 rising prices of bonds presaged business recovery four months before actual revival set in.

After the depression of a decade ago the recovery in second grade bonds lagged more than a year behind that of the first grade issues.

Special Influences.

"Aside from historical precedent," says the National City bulletin, "there are certain special influences at the present time that appear to favor the long term outlook for good bonds. One is the limited supply of such issues now available, due to the fact that many corporations retired substantial amounts of bonded indebtedness during 1928-29 from the proceeds of stock subscriptions, and because additional capital flotations since that time have been subnormal."

The market for highest grade obligations, including issues falling in the class known as "legals," has been going strong since last summer and at the close of June prices were around their highest levels since 1928.

As soon as this activity begins to extend into the market for second and third grade issues there will be good reason for business generally to take encouragement.

GOLD CONTINUES TO PILE UP IN FEDERAL RESERVE BANK VAULTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—[Special.]—Gold continued today to flow into the already swollen stores in the vaults of the federal reserve banks through the medium of their member banks receiving the metal from abroad as the Chase National bank received $1,200,000 from the National Bank of Argentina.

This makes the total receipts of gold in this country thus far this year more than $358,000,000, compared to a total of $309,000,000 in 1930.

The only use to which these receipts seem to be put is to increase the reserve balances of the commercial banks on deposit at the reserve banks. This, of course, enables the member banks to increase their bonds, deposits, and investments if they can find what they consider safe use for additional credit.

Money for call loans was again freely offered at the stock exchange desk today at the renewal rate of 1½ per cent. It is estimated that the amount of call money available at the 1½ per cent stock exchange rate is fully $75,000,000. Between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 was offered today at 1 per cent in the outside market and $5,000,000 was available at ¼ per cent below the stock exchange renewal figure. There was little demand.

State Auditor Closes Roseland State Sav. Bank

Following recent heavy withdrawals the Roseland State Savings bank, 11431 South Michigan avenue, was closed yesterday by State Auditor Oscar Nelson at the request of the board of directors. Capital of the bank was $200,000 and the surplus was $200,000. Deposits at the closing date totaled $1,800,000.

Silver Looks to Future in Arts and Industries

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—The United States leads the world in the use of silver for arts and industries, and the chief hope of the silver industry for revival from depression hinges on the comparable advance of such utilization of the metal in other parts of the world, merchants and dealers in precious metals indicated today.

Silver is passing rapidly out of fashion as a coinage metal. The gold standard has won almost universal acceptance. Even in India and China gold is the standard, though in these two countries there is no immediate prospect of gold actually being used in place of silver.

In the United States the mint has not been making silver dollars for some time, and in 1930 only 6,000,000 fine ounces were used in small coinage, such as dimes, quarters and half dollars.

Amount Used in Industry.

Arts and industries, on the other hand, used 29,500,000 fine ounces in 1930, and in 1929, when business was booming, this utilization of the white metal accounted for approximately 37,000,000 ounces, according to a compilation made by Handy and Harman, precious metal merchants.

Coinage still uses about 75 per cent of all the silver consumed, according to figures issued by the common metals division, bureau of mines, department of commerce. This bureau is now engaged in a survey of silver uses in this country, with the particular object of pointing the way to further expansion of the metal industry.

With the huge gains that have been made in art and industrial use of the metal here as compared with any other country, it is believed ways may be found to provide a further substantial outlet for silver.

The chief present uses of silver in the arts and industries in the order of their importance are in the chemical industry, the sterling silverware industry, electroplating, rolled-plate products such as wire, tube, plates and sheets, industrial solders and dental supplies such as amalgam.

Careful investigation and research, it is believed, may place silver as the important raw material for some industry in the way that copper is important to the electric power transmission industry, as tin is to the canning industry, lead to the storage battery business or chromium to the stainless steel industry.

World's Silver Supply.

The world's supply of silver amounts, roughly, to 315,000,000 fine ounces. About 243,000,000 ounces come in annually from mine production, while demonetization, remelted scraps and the like provide the balance of the supplies.

In 1929, a careful examination of the consumption records of all countries failed to account for nearly 30,000,000 ounces of the production that year, which was about 227,000,000 ounces.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE FOUNDERS INCORPORATED

Plan for Systematic Investment

with the Unique Advantage of Complete Administration by the Trustee

THE PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY
FOR INSURANCES ON LIVES AND GRANTING ANNUITIES
PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA
Trustee and Registrar

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The Trustee is one of the oldest banks in the United States (founded in the year 1812). It is Trustee for more than two billions six hundred millions ($2,600,000,000.00) of personal and corporate funds.

The Plan is Based on Three Fundamental Principles:

(1) OPPORTUNITY

to purchase a definite and specific interest in 28 of the leading Corporations of American industry by periodic or installment payment as small as $10 per month for a period of ten years. This is accomplished by investing such funds in CORPORATE TRUST SHARES which constitute a definite participating ownership in the 28 Corporations through their common stocks.

(2) COMPOUND INVESTMENT

providing for the use of the dividends and distributions received from the 28 Corporations to purchase an additional interest in the same Corporations.

(3) PROTECTION

by life insurance (without medical examination) which guarantees completion of the payments on a FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE CERTIFICATE for the benefit of the Investor's estate in the event of death. This insurance becomes effective immediately upon receipt of the first payment and the issuance of the Certificate.

The FOURTEEN POINTS

Created for the Benefit of the Investor

1. All payments by the Investor must be made only to the Trustee.
2. All books pertaining to each Investor's account are maintained and kept solely by the Trustee at its principal office in the City of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania.
3. The Trustee purchases all of the CORPORATE TRUST SHARES and, as Trustee, holds the same as Trusteed Property which it credits to the Investor's account.
4. The Trustee receives all of the dividends and/or distributions paid on the Trusteed Property, and pursuant to authorization from the Investor invests the same in additional Trusteed Property, which it likewise credits to the Investor's account.
5. The Trustee pays all the insurance premiums, on behalf of the Company, from the deductions specified in the Certificates.
6. In the event of the death of the Investor, the insurance company remits the insurance money solely to the Trustee; and thereupon the Trustee uses such money (without any deduction for any purpose) to mature the Certificate, through the purchase of additional Trusteed Property, to the extent of the insurance.
7. In the event that the options specified in the Certificate are taken advantage of by the Investor, it is the Trustee which performs the acts in behalf of the Investor, that is, if the Investor desires his share of the Trusteed Property sold and the proceeds sent to him, it is the Trustee to whom instructions are given and which sells the Investor's part of the Trusteed Property and forwards the proceeds, less taxes, if any, to the Investor.
8. Or, if the Investor desires to receive his specific share of the actual Trusteed Property, it is the Trustee which receives his instructions and sends such Property to him.
9. Or, if the Investor does not desire the Trustee to deliver his specific share of the Trusteed Property or the proceeds thereof, it shall continue to be held by the Trustee until such time as the Investor instructs the Trustee as to its disposition.
10. In the event that the Investor withdraws, his Certificate is surrendered solely to the Trustee, and his instructions to deliver his specific share of the Trusteed Property, or the proceeds thereof, are given to the Trustee only.
11. No Certificate is valid until it shall have been duly authenticated by the Trustee by the signature of one of its Vice-Presidents.
12. The Trustee registers the name of each Investor, together with the number of his Certificate, in its registry books.
13. No transfer of an Investor's Certificate shall be valid until duly recorded upon the registry books of the Trustee and a new Certificate issued.
14. Until issued, authenticated and registered the Trustee maintains exclusive possession of all Certificates.

Your Investment

Certificates issued (with or without life insurance protection) in denominations of $1200, $2400, $3600, $4800, $6000, $7200, $8400, $9600. Obtainable by making monthly payments of $10, $20, $30, $40, $50, $60, $70 and $80 respectively, or by quarterly, semi-annual or annual payments.

At regular intervals, as payments are made by the Investor on FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE CERTIFICATES, the sums received, less the fixed service charges of the Company, will be invested by the Trustee in the shares of a fixed investment trust known as CORPORATE TRUST SHARES (Moody's Composite Portfolio, Rating "A"), the underlying securities of which are the common stocks of: American Telephone & Telegraph Company, Consolidated Gas Company of New York, General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, Western Union Telegraph Company, American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp., American Tobacco (B), du Pont (E. I.) de Nemours & Co., Eastman Kodak Company, Ingersoll-Rand Company, International Harvester, National Biscuit Company, Otis Elevator Company, United Fruit Company, United States Steel Corp., Woolworth (F. W.) Company, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R'way Company, Illinois Central Railroad Company, Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, New York Central Railroad Company, Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Union Pacific Railroad Company, Standard Oil Company of California, Standard Oil Company of Indiana, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Standard Oil Company of New York, Texas Corporation.

Many millions of dollars worth of such CORPORATE TRUST SHARES have been and are being purchased by thousands of conservative investors in all parts of America; over 17½ million Corporate Trust Shares have been sold.

All legal matters in connection with the issuance of FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE CERTIFICATES subject to the approval of Messrs. Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, New York City, Attorneys for the Company, and of Messrs. Saul, Ewing, Remick & Saul, Philadelphia, Attorneys for the Trustee.

The accounts with Investors are audited monthly by Messrs. Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery.

The foregoing is subject to the more complete statements made in the circular, copy of which may be obtained on request.

LET CONTRACTS FOR ADDITION AT STATE-JACKSON

New Method to Save Time and Cost.

BY AL CHASE.

Contracts were awarded yesterday to the Avery Brundage company for the erection of four additional stories to the nine story Maurice L. Rothschild building at the southwest corner of State and Jackson. It will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000, and will be constructed by a new method which, it is claimed, will save approximately 15% in the cost of the frame of the structure and 20% in actual time of erection.

The new method to be used involves the use of a lighter filler block between the steel I-beams, which has been made up in advance. No temporary forms have to be used and no time is lost in waiting for material to set. Plaster can be placed directly on it from beneath and all trades can be at work at once.

"This is in line with the modern tendency in all building, to reduce both waste and weight" said Mr. Brundage.

Completion by Sept. 15.

Steel for the four additional stories is now being fabricated and will be on hand so that work can start within two weeks it is stated. Completion is set for about Sept. 15. Alfred S. Alschuler is architect. His plans call the four story addition to be set back from Jackson boulevard thirty-eight feet. It will be flush with the State street building line.

A new overlapping group system of labor which will quadruple the number of workmen securing jobs will be put into effect, as announced last Friday. The new stories will be used for selling. The women's and misses' dress department will be enlarged and will have an entire floor. The women's and misses' coats also will have a floor.

Novel Lease Adjustment.

County records yesterday disclosed a novel adjustment of the annual rentals in a ninety-nine year lease held by the Michigan-Illinois Building corporation on the property owned by the Tewes Building corporation, at the northwest corner of Michigan and Illinois. While the term rental remains about the same, annual payments are decreased during the next ten years and then increased during the balance of the term.

For instance during the next eight years the annual rental will be cut from $75,000 to $37,500. Then for two years it'll be reduced from $80,000 to $50,000. During the next eight years it'll be increased from $80,000 to $84,137 and during the final seventy-nine years it will advance from $87,500 to $91,637. The property has old improvements. The lessee corporation has no immediate plans for developing the property. It fronts 100 feet on Michigan and 165 feet on Illinois.

JUNE STATEMENT OF WORLD BANK JUST RELEASED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASLE, July 6.—Heavy withdrawals to meet semi-annual inter-allied debt payments to the United States a few days before President Hoover offered his moratorium proposal were reflected in the June statement of the Bank for International Settlements.

The statement shows the bank's resources totaled $342,388,288, which is $66,500,000 less than on May 31. It is, however, $38,000,000 more than the bank had on Dec. 31, 1930, after the previous debt payment.

Although its total resources are now greater than last December, the B. I. S. suffered through these payments a setback of only $57,500,000, or $9,000,000 less than it did in June. Since the payments were the same in both cases—namely, about $110,000,000—this means that the bank's recovery has not been quite as rapid as was expected.

In view of the fact that the world's financial situation in June up to the time Mr. Hoover offered his moratorium plan on June 20 was considerably worse than in December and in view of the fact that the B. I. S. had a heavy load to carry on account of difficulties in Austrian and German banking circles, the bank's recovery during the last fortnight is regarded as quite satisfactory. What it would have been if Mr. Hoover had not made his move is, of course, another question.

Mexican Sugar Mills to Get Indemnity for Closing

MEXICO CITY, July 6.—(AP)—Under an agreement reached by Mexican sugar mill owners for a reduction of 80,000 tons annually in the national output during the next four years, a number of mills will close for that period and receive each year from the producing mills an indemnity of $16.00 a ton on the basis of their production in the 1930-'31 season. The agreement was reached at a meeting of representatives of all of Mexico's 96 mills and plantations. A controlling corporation was formed to handle sales and guarantee the indemnities to the mills that agreed to close.

Mackay Announces Radio Plant Reopening in East

Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company, has announced that the two Newark, N. J., factories now controlled by his company have reopened and a considerable number of employés will be engaged between now and September. These factories formerly were operated by the Kolster radio group. The majority of the additional personnel, Mr. Mackay said, will be engaged in the manufacture of the new Kolster International radio

Woolworth Sales in June Show Gain of 6.1 Per Cent

An increase of 6.1 per cent in June sales was reported yesterday by F. W. Woolworth company, though for the first half of the year a decrease of 0.8 per cent is indicated. June sales totaled $21,978,075, against $20,715,593 in June, 1930, and for six months, $130,276,218, against $1[illegible]213,486 in 1930.

East Texas Crude Brings 10 to 15 Cts. a Barrel

Houston, Texas, July 6.—(AP)—Gulf Pipe Line company withdrew today its posted price of 20 cents a barrel for East Texas crude oil and for the balance of July will pay such prices as it determines are warranted. The Sinclair Oil and Gas company has taken similar action. The Sun and Simms companies are paying an average of 10 cents a barrel for East Texas crude and the Humble and Texas companies 15 cents.

Lumber Orders, Output and Shipments About Balance

Lumber orders, shipments, and production approximately balanced during the week ended June 27, reports from 748 leading hardwood and softwood mills to the National Lumber Manufacturers association indicate. The cut for the week was 219,895,000 feet. A week earlier 812 mills reported orders 7 per cent below and shipments 5 per cent under a cut of 228,471,000 feet.

REPORTS ON SALES.

Sales of Investors Syndicate certificates for the first six months of 1931 were within 2 per cent of the similar period of 1929, when a new all time record in the 36 year history of the company was made, according to a statement by J. R. Ridgway, president of Investors syndicate.

ILLINOIS FARMS NUMBER 214,497, WORTH BILLIONS

According to a bulletin recently issued by the bureau of the census, there are 214,497 farms in the state of Illinois having a total acreage of 30,695,339, and a total value, including land, buildings, and implements and machinery, of $3,496,461,905. These figures are given in detail for each county and each minor civil division within the state. This is the first federal census report to show these figures by minor civil divisions.

Of the total farm acreage 61.8 per cent, or 18,958,337 acres, was crop land on which crops were harvested in 1929; 4.8 per cent or 1,480,423 acres was crop land which lay idle or fallow; and 2.3 per cent or 701,147 acres was land on which the crops failed to mature or were not harvested for any cause. Pasture land with a total of 7,607,035 acres representing 24.8 per cent of the total farm acreage of the state, included 4,091,718 acres of plowable land, 2,009,820 acres of woodland, and 1,505,497 acres of other land. In addition to the land cropped and pastured, the total land in farms included 731,936 acres of woodland not used for pasture, and 1,216,461 acres not in forest, pasture, or crops, including the land occupied by house yards, barnyards, feed lots, lanes, roads, etc.

The total value of farm land and buildings was $3,336,049,028, of which $780,949,079 represented the value of farm buildings, $386,687,848 the value of the farmers' dwellings. The value of farm implements and machinery, including farmers' automobiles, was $160,412,877.

The resources of nonmetallic minerals in British Columbia, and the possibilities for their economic development in greater degree than at present, are to be investigated by the department of mines, according to the Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines.

Thaden Chief Engineer at Fokker Aircraft Plant

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—A quiet but complete reorganization of the Fokker Aircraft company's manufacturing division, it was revealed today, has gone into effect with the installation of Herbert V. Thaden of Pittsburgh as acting chief engineer and general manager. Mr. Thaden replaces Albert A. Gassner, who for several years has been the chief engineer.

Anthony H. G. Fokker, who became director of engineering when General Aviation, virtually controlled by General Motors, was formed about two years ago, will continue in that capacity. Mr. Thaden, who is a specialist in all-metal construction, has made a number of changes in the personnel at the plant, but his coming does not mean that the famous Fokker full cantilever wooden wing will be abandoned, although a number of the new planes being built for military use will have metal wings.

La Salle, Ill., Company in Line for U. S. Tax Refund

Washington, D. C., July 6.—(AP)—The internal revenue bureau reported to the joint congressional tax committee today an overassessment of $88,468 on the income of the Westclox company, La Salle, Ill., for the years 1919, 1920 and 1921. This may be adjusted by a refund, debate or credit.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was dull and irregular today, closing 5 points lower to 15 net higher. The general undertone, however, was steady, largely in sympathy with the firmness of lard, which offset the easiness of cotton and lard. Sales were 900 brls. Prime crude nominal.

Bleachable spot closed 7c; July, 6.95c; September, 6.95c; December, 6.60c, and January, 6.75c. There were no sales in prime summer yellow contracts with closing prices as follows: Spot, 6.80c; July, 6.85c; September, 6.80c; October, 6.50c; December, 6.55c, and January, 6.60c.

SELL AND LOAD KANSAS WHEAT AT FAST RATE

Farmers in Kansas and throughout the southwest are rushing their wheat to market as fast as they can get cars to load it, while Vice President Curtis and Senator Capper were in Washington yesterday engaged in a fruitless attempt to induce the farm board to hold its old wheat from the market until the price gets to 85c at Chicago.

There were 13,000,000 bu of wheat received at leading markets in the southwest yesterday, or 8,636 carloads at twelve points. This is one of the largest runs known. Kansas City alone had 2,119 cars and Hutchinson, Kas., 1,757 cars. St. Joe, Mo., receveid 647 cars. At Chicago there were 510 cars. The Santa Fe railway loaded and moved 13,246 cars of wheat last week, an increase of more than 2,000 cars over the week before, while last year in the same time it handled 15,488 cars.

Wheat prices in the interior of Kansas range from 30 to 45 cents and, above all, depending upon the rate of freight. A report from Hugoton, Kas., which is in the southwestern part of the state, west of Dodge City, said farmers were getting only 30c for their wheat there and that it was being bought and piled on the ground. Railroad officials say they expect to have reports of an unusual quantity of wheat being piled on the ground later in the season when elevator space becomes scarce.

RAILROAD HEADS IN EAST CONFER ON MERGER TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—Executives of the four eastern trunk lines will confer here again tomorrow on the details of the proposed merger of all eastern railroads outside of New England into four systems headed by New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate.

While many details of the proposed consolidations remain to be settled, it is understood that submission of the proposal to the interstate commerce commission may not await final settlement of these points among the executives. Approval of the plan in principle by the commission would constitute a big step ahead, and failure of the executives to reach complete agreement within a short time is expected to be followed by application to the commission.

Consolidation of the country's railroads into a limited number of strong systems will prove of greater lasting benefit than the proposed freight rate increase is the opinion of Walter E. Lagerquist, vice president of the Brookmire Economic Service, Inc.

Unification of the carriers has been subjected to so much delay and discussion that many investors have lost sight of the important advantages to the railroads that will result when the task is completed, he states.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

The main body of Chicago curb stocks worked into slightly lower ground in a dull session yesterday. Declines were well limited in all cases, however, none exceeding a point. Corporate Trust Shares furnished the bulk of the volume, finishing unchanged at 5⅛.

NEW SEARS BANK OPENS DOORS ON THE WEST SIDE

Organized to serve the employés of the Sears-Roebuck company and the neighborhood surrounding the mail order plant on the west side, the Sears Community State bank opened for business yesterday at 3401 West Arthington street. The former Community State bank of 3600 West Roosevelt road was absorbed by the new institution.

Gen. R. E. Wood, president of the Sears-Roebuck company, was the first depositor, receiving book No. 1. A letter from Julius Rosenwald, containing what was described as a "substantial deposit," was also received as the bank opened for business. J. Louis Kohn is president of the new bank and Walter M. Heyman, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, is chairman of the board.

BLAMES KANSAS CITY STAR FOR GOVERNOR'S ACT

Doherty, Cities Service Head, Hits Paper.

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Henry L. Doherty, president of Cities Service company, today sent a telegram to Governor Harry Woodring of Kansas in which he placed responsibility for the action of the Kansas state banking department in barring the sale of certain Cities Service securities on the Kansas City Star.

In the telegram he said the governor had "in some ways been peremptory and arbitrary."

He characterized as "nothing less than vicious," the governor's action in "having your banking department issue without warning and without cause, and impediately after and undoubtedly because we had failed to comply with your demand for a reduction in gas rates, the orders prohibiting the sale of Cities Service securities."

In another telegram to Postmaster General Brown, Mr. Doherty quoted his telegram to the governor and urged the Kansas City Star be barred from the mails.

Mr. Doherty also wired to Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, calling attention to what he called Governor Woodring's threat to throw certain Cities Service subsidiaries into receivership.

He said Cities Service was interested in the building of a $100,000,000 natural gas pipeline to Chicago and other cities, on the construction of which some 10,000 persons were engaged.

The telegram to Secretary Lamont read in part:

"You, as I know, are charged by President Hoover with the responsibility of trying to lessen the stress of the present depression and I think you should proceed against men like Governor Woodring and the Kansas City Star in no unmistakable manner."

Mr. Doherty sent copies of his telegram to Governor Woodring, to Vice President Curtis, the National Better Business bureau, Senator Capper of Kansas, the United States chamber of commerce, the Kansas City chamber of commerce, the American Newspaper Publishers' association and the Kansas City Star.

LOW CRUDE OIL PRICES SEEN OUTPUT CHECK

Abandonment of Small Wells Forecast.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—Low crude oil prices, which have resulted in a sharp curtailment in drilling activities recently in all except the newest flush fields, of which east Texas is a notable illustration, is gradually clarifying the unsound conditions in the oil industry which have accumulated during the last few years as a result of artificial methods used to hold back production, an executive remarked today.

If prices are maintained at a level so as not to encourage drilling operations until the surplus oil resulting from excess drilling operations during the last two years is used up, he believes that the industry will emerge in the soundest condition since the world war. An advance in prices now, especially in the midcontinent and Texas areas, he explained, would in all probability cause a resumption of drilling activties that would undo the progress made during the last few months.

Many Small Wells.

In addition low crude oil prices are resulting in abandonment of a number of small pumping wells, which, he said, are uneconomical sources of crude oil that proration agreements have kept in operation for the last year or two by tending to keep prices at a level where they could operate. It is estimated that there are at least 225,000 wells that are producing an average of less than one barrel of oil daily, which are now operating at a loss because of low crude oil prices. While the owners of these wells will probably operate them for a month or two at a loss in the hope that crude oil prices will advance, the ones showing the greatest loss will gradually be abandoned, it is believed.

A large oil company recently completed a survey of the cost of operating pumping wells in the midcontinent area. This survey showed that for a four months' period the lifting cost for a group of 312 wells scattered in the various fields of that area was 53.6 cents a barrel net production. This is exclusive of administration expenses, depreciation, depletion or any other item excepting actual lifting cost. Prior to the last cut in crude oil prices on June 1, last, the average price of the oil from these wells was 52 cents a barrel, slightly less than the lifting costs. The leases derived some revenue from gas sales, which for the month of May amounted to a net return of $96 for the group. This is slightly less than 1 cent a barrel for the little more than 9,000 barrels of crude oil produced that month.

Averages 29.5 Cents a Barrel.

During June, crude oil produced by this group of 312 wells averaged 29.5 cents a barrel. As the lifting cost was virtually the same, the actual loss was around 24 cents a barrel giving them credit for the gas produced. The actual operating loss for this group of wells in June for lifting costs alone was $1,908. Before these wells would yield a profit, the price of crude oil would have to be doubled and then the profit would be very small.

Another group of 1,010 wells with an average output of 4.13 barrels daily had an average lifting cost of 32.2 cents a barrel in May. These wells were more favorably located than the other group and received an average of 58 cents a barrel for the oil produced in that month. In addition, the gas revenue amounted to $186 a day. During June the oil produced from these wells brought an average of 32.5 cents a barrel, which virtually covered the lifting cost. The gas sales of $186 a day was the only profit realized from this group.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Financial Independence Founders of New York have announced the appointment of the Penn. Co. of Philadelphia, as trustee under their plan for systematic investment. Distribution of this investment plan is handled in the middle west by J. S. Templeton's Sons, Chicago.

The plan for exchange of the common and preferred stock and debenture bonds of the National Water Works corporation for stock and bonds of the recently formed Delaware Valley Utilities company was declared operative yesterday with announcement by the committee of security holders of National Water Works that more than 75 per cent of all classes of outstanding stock has been deposited with the committee's depositary. It is stated also that more than 70 per cent of the debentures have been deposited.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc. and Janney & Co. of Philadelphia have acquired a substantial interest in Independence Shares corporation, depositor corporation of Independence Trust Shares, a fixed investment, trust, and will head a banking group to sponsor and distribute these shares on a national scale, it was announced yesterday.

Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company plans to issue $9,000,000 of 5 per cent convertible notes to finance the acquisition of the National Plate Glass company, subsidiary of General Motors corporation.

Public offering of a new issue of $15,000,000 Federal Intermediate Credit Banks 3 per cent debentures is announced today by Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent for these institutions at New York. These debentures are dated July 15, 1931 and are due in 3, 6, 11 and 12 months.

HAROLD E. WOOD SOON WILL HEAD A. E. PEIRCE & CO.

Harold E. Wood will become president of the investment banking firm of Albert E. Peirce & Co. and also a director of the Central Public Service corporation on July 15. Since July, 1929, Mr. Wood has been vice president of the Foreman-State corporation, security affiliate of the bank of the same name.

HAROLD E. WOOD.

As president of Albert E. Peirce & Co. Mr. Wood will head an organization of 200 employés with offices in Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Milwaukee, and Kalamazoo. The firm conducts a general investment business and is also a principal distributor of securities of the Central Public Service corporation, of which Albert E. Peirce is president.

Because of the affiliation of the two organizations Mr. Wood becomes a director of the Central Public Service corporation, which has total assets of over $364,000,000, and is one of the major public utility organizations in the United States.

MAY OPERATING NET OF 74 ROADS IS $39,750,000

The first 74 railroads to report May results showed net operating income of $39,750,000, a decrease of 35.4 per cent from $61,543,000 reported for the like month last year. In April this year the same roads reported $38,357,000, a drop of 35.7 per cent from the like month last year.

On the basis of reports to date, all class 1 carriers had net operating income amounting to approximately $41,000,000. This would compare with $69,173,723 in May last year.

Railroads reporting their net operating income for May, with comparison with last year, included:

Sees New Natural Gas Market in Weather Making

One of the largest potential and most rapidly developing new markets for natural gas is in "weather manufacture" or artificial refrigeration other than for food preservation, according to a current bulletin issued by Appalachian Gas corporation. "This science, even in its present infant stage, is already saving American industry over $15,000,000 annually," it says.

GETS $70,000 ORDER.

An order for fifteen transformers to cost $70,000 has been received by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company from the Management and Engineering corporation of Chicago. The transformers will be used to increase the capacity of the Indianapolis Power and Light company.

Whiting Corp. to Control Merged Iron Companies

St. Louis, July 6.—(AP)—A contract for merger of the Fulton Iron works here with the Goslin-Birmingham Manufacturing company, Birmingham, Ala., with combined invested capital of about $10,000,000, has been approved by the directors and a stockholders committee of the Fulton company, it was learned today. The transaction is subject to acceptance by Fulton stockholders and creditors.

H. J. Steinbreder, chairman of the Fulton board, said his company and the Goslin-Birmingham concern have entered into a consolidation contract with the Whiting corporation of Chicago, the latter of which will furnish additional working capital and will control it through stock ownership.

A receivership has been pending against the Fulton company which has been troubled by depression in the sugar industry. One of its chief products has been cane sugar mill machinery.

CHICAGO STOCKS MARK TIME IN QUIET SESSION

Traders Await Definite News on Moratorium.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The trading community idled away the hours yesterday awaiting developments from Paris on the debt moratorium question which failed to materialize. The lack of pertinent news resulted in the listless trading session marked by a series of inconclusive movements in security prices.

The mildly optimistic statement issued from Washington around midday bolstered prices temporarily but the trading soon lapsed again into dullness. On the Chicago exchange activity was at the lowest mark in weeks. Some 53,000 odd shares changed hands at moderately lower quotations but the session was lacking in significant changes.

Traders Curtail Activities.

There was some apprehension among traders lest the psychological benefits accruing from the President's debt proposal would be dissipated by the protracted negotiations. It was plainly evident that speculators were curtailing their activities until the foreign financial situation is definitely on the mend. However, there was nothing in the day's market action that indicated a slump was near.

Cities Service shares were easier in common with the general market following the news that the company has obtained a temporary court order restraining the Kansas banking department from prohibiting the sale of the firm's stock in that state. Hearing on the permanent injunction which has been applied for will be heard July 13.

Grigsby-Grunow was steady around its previous price on the report that the company is about to resume large scale production in its refrigerator plant. Trading in the issue was extremely light.

Close to Capacity.

The Chicago plant of the W. H. Hall Printing company continues to operate at close to capacity production according to President Frank H. Warren. The high rate of production is due to the increased business recently obtained through long term contracts, he added. Shares of the company sold yesterday at 16, unchanged from the previous price.

The feeling among brokers yesterday was that the immediate future of the market hinges on the foreign situation. Advice to customers reflected the sentiment with most of the letters advocating side line positions for the time being. The small volume of business both here and in New York showed that this counsel was not unheeded.

Men's Clothing Fabric Market Expected to Gain

Reports in the men's clothing fabric market indicate a slower week's business than was previously the case, but the trade expects the current week to bring in many manufacturers who will start cutting cloth more consistently from now on. Buyers found that they were not readily accommodated with deliveries in every quarter where they ventured. Many sources of supply are reported to have nothing to sell sooner than September, though a number can slip in small delivery lots for favored customers.

Adams Mfg. Co. Votes 30c Quarterly Dividend

J. D. Adams Manufacturing company declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents a share. Heretofore the company paid 60 cents a share quarterly.

Directors of Columbia Graphophone Company, Ltd., declared a dividend of 2 shillings, less British income tax, which amounts to approximately 58 cents on each American share. Last September a dividend of 47 cents a share was paid on the American shares, and in May, 1930, a dividend of 28 cents was paid.

Graham Quits as Willys Overland Sales Manager

L. A. Miller, president of the Willys-Overland company, announced that George M. Graham, vice president in charge of sales for the last four years, has resigned, effective July 11.

STOCKS ON CURB DRIFT LOWER AS TRADE DAWDLES

New York, July 6.—(AP)—The Curb market drifted irregularly lower today in the quietest trading in more than a fortnight. Along with other financial markets, this market merely marked time pending conclusive developments in the debt holiday situation.

Electric Bond and Share lost a point, while American Gas and Electric advanced fractionally. Foreign issues were adversely affected by the further dragging out of the debt negotiations. Brazilian Traction and Ford, Ltd., each lost ⅜ of a point. Woolworth, Ltd., eased fractionally, then recovered, but trading in this week was less active than last week.

Oils were dull and inclined to ease. Gulf was inactive, while Cities Service, Indiana, and Vacuum yielded fractionally. Withdraway of fixed crude purchasing prices by Gulf and Sinclair in east Texas caused a glimmering of hopes for firmer prices in the Midcontinent in the near future. In the mining issues, United Verde pushed up a point in a large turnover, evidently reflecting pool activity.

Industrials in the main were neglected and price tendencies mixed. Aluminum company lost 6 points. Fred T. Ley, which had last sold at 20, appeared at 10, reflecting omission of the dividend. Firmness of Goldman-Sachs and Shenandoah preferred marked the investment trusts, the latter gaining ⅜ of a point.

N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE SHARE VALUES GAIN $4,883,161,902 IN JUNE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—Stock issues listed on the New York Stock exchange appreciated $4,883,161,902 in market value during June. According to the monthly valuation table issued today by the exchange, as of July 1, the total valuation was $47,417,147,581, compared with $42,533,985,679 on June 1, which had been the lowest mark since 1926. Last month's gain was the largest since February, 1931, when an appreciation of $4,992,809,772 was scored.

In May stock values depreciated $5,936,002,806, compared with a depreciation of $4,766,406,010 in April, and of $2,718,371,086 in March.

On July 1 there were 1,297 stock issues listed, aggregating 1,303,489,082 shares listed on the stock exchange. The same number of issues were listed on June 1, when the listed shares totaled 1,304,765,685.

As a result of a decrease of $43,000,000 in brokers' loans and of the increase in the value of stocks last month the ratio of security loans to the market value of all listed stocks decreased from 3.37 per cent on June 1 to 2.93 per cent on July 1. This is a new low record. The average price of all listed stocks on July 1 was $36.38 a share, compared with $32.56 a share on June 1.

SAYS SALES HERE OF OLDSMOBILE GAIN OVER 1930

A substantial increase in the retail sales of Oldsmobile in Cook county over those of 1930 is reported by H. A. Trevellyan, manager of the Chicago zone. Retail sales in June were 33 per cent greater than those of June, 1930, he announced, while the sales for the first six months of this year are 20 per cent more than those of the first half of 1930.

"These figures are taken from the official new car registrations in Cook county," says Mr. Trevellyan. "They indicate a steadily mounting increase over last year's sales, which would presuppose improved business conditions in this area. In addition to registering those gains, Oldsmobile sales for March, April, and June were the highest in Cook county of all cars except Chevrolet and Ford."

CITES INTEREST OF AMERICANS IN SUGAR INDUSTRY

The United States, with no sugar exports, has as great a stake as any sugar producing country in the success of the Chadbourne plan for the restriction of world sugar production, according to the July issue of Fortune, business magazine. American investors have sunk nearly $750,000,000 in the Cuban sugar industry. With sugar prices at present levels these investments are deemed worth only five cents on the dollar.

"During the war the price of sugar was fixed at five and one-half cents a pound. When the restrictions were taken off it soared to twenty-two and one-half cents a pound in the New York market. The Cubans," continues Fortune, "arrayed themselves with silks, wines, perfumes, with motor cars, palaces, race horses, and solid gold plate. From banks they borrowed money to expand the business that was showering them with gold. When the war scarred countries began to raise beet sugar prices began to fall. Cuban banks shut up and American banks were left carrying the load. Reduction of the Cuban sugar crop resulted, but the rest of the world increased production faster than Cuba curtailed it. Cuba was carrying the umbrella while other nations walked in the shade.

"American investors, caught in the sugar maelstrom, bought more sugar properties to the tune of millions, thinking prices fully deflated, only to see quotations plunge to still lower depths. It has been estimated that the total American investment in the Cuban sugar industry is $750,000,000. Thomas Lincoln Chadbourne, leader of the sugar argonauts, is himself a loser of $2,000,000. But world sugar production kept mounting, and last year a world sugar surplus of 4,184,000 tons resulted, of which 1,500,000 tons are in Cuba."

Sell 157,000 Tons of Sugar Above Bond Basis Price

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Some 157,000 tons of the 260,000 tons of sugar segregated by the National Sugar Exporting corporation of Cuba and intended for sale this year already have been sold at a price in excess of the basis on which bonds of the exporting corporation were issued. This was disclosed after a conference of members of the exporting corporation with Thomas L. Chadbourne and other interested parties here. Members of the corporation said there was every reason to believe that the portion of this sugar remaining unsold will be disposed of at a price which will more than take care of the principal and interest of the bonds issued against this year's quota of the segregation.

POWER CONCERN MAY INSTALL BIG HYDRO UNITS

The Montana Power company is seeking the federal power commission's authority to slow down construction of its Flathead Lake power plant and to change plans so as to install the most powerful hydro-electric unit in any American plant.

Instead of three 50,000 horsepower units, the company wants to put in two machines of 75,000 horsepower each. The giant turbines at Niagara Falls, which for years has held the record, are rated at only 70,000 horsepower.

At informal conferences with the commission, representatives of the Montana company said there would be practically no change in the rate of rental payable to the Flathead Indians, who own the power site, during construction, and that the rental after construction would be unaffected. Any change in the Flathead license must be approved by the Indian bureau as well as the power commission, which is expected to act upon the new proposal shortly.

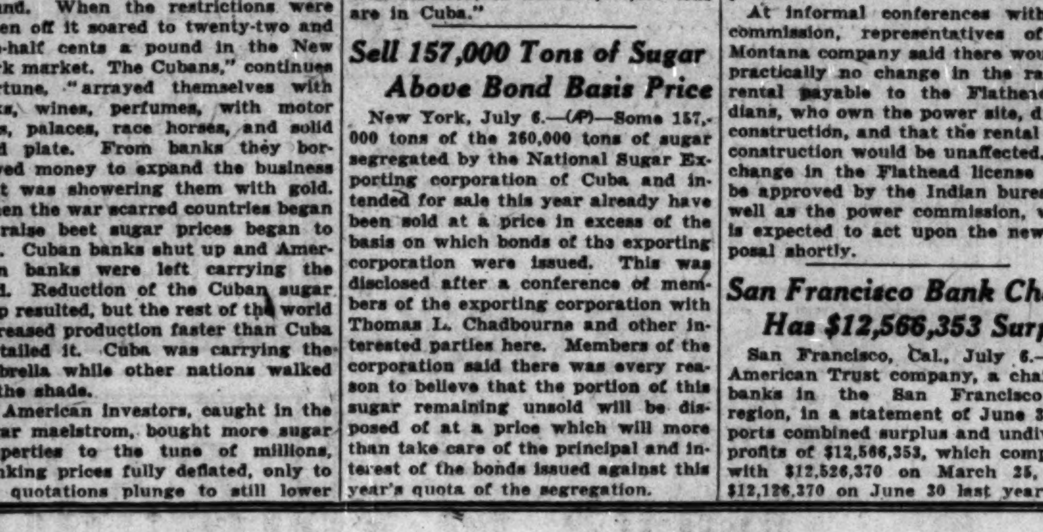
Forty-Niners



No. 1 of a Series of Advertisements, "Seasoned by Time"

IN 1849, Conestoga wagons streamed across Western plains in the gold rush to California. In 1849 throughout the East, gas challenged the supremacy of whale oil in lighting.

Pioneer gas companies operating in that year of the Forty-Niners included Rochester Gas Light Company and Worcester Gas Light Company—both part of the Associated System. Among other Associated gas companies and the years they were founded, are those serving—

Easton, Pa.	1850
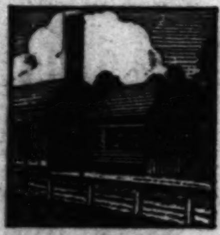
Ithaca, New York	1852
Elmira, New York	1852
Cambridge, Mass.	1852
Corning, New York	1856
Johnstown, Pa.	1856
Owensboro, Ky.	1860

Companies Average 79 Years

These companies are no longer doubtful experiments. Seasoned by time, they have established over an average of 79 years their ability to operate successfully. They stood up bravely during dark days when the gas industry was said to be headed for the scrap heap...they cooperated in research that gave new uses and new youth to the industry...they are ready now to share in the growth that lies just ahead.



1849-Worcester Gas Plant

This expansion lies in domestic uses such as water heating, home heating, refrigeration, and wider use by the commercial field including retail establishments. In the industrial field, where gas supplies the need for accurately controlled heat, it is estimated that gas plants now supply only 10% of the load available.

A Quarter Century of Group Management

Associated properties will be aided in this advance by group management established over a quarter century. The Associated System is one of the first five utility groups organized in the country. Its chief executives average 24 years of seasoned experience with these properties. Group management is enabling gas and electricity to make the swift progress being achieved.

Long records of successful operation by Associated properties combined with the advantages of a quarter century of group management are the best assurances of continued progress by the Associated System.

Top yesterday, $7.50; average, $6.65.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 11,000.

Live stock markets were erratic yesterday, due partly to an uneven distribution of supplies. Chicago receipts of all kinds combined showed a slight increase compared with a week ago, despite the substantial decrease in hogs, while the total at the 23 leading markets showed a decrease of 66,000 head, or more than 20 per cent, compared with last Monday. Cattle ruled steady to 25c lower, while unevenness in hogs ranged from 15c lower to 10c higher. Lambs were mostly strong.

Best light and light butcher hogs showed most weakness yesterday, while extreme weights and packing sows that suffered the sharpest price cuts last week strengthened up yesterday and finished 10c higher. The extreme top and general average prices moved down 5c at $7.55 and $6.20, respectively. Supplies of hogs are far below normal for this time of the year.

Yesterday's arrivals at 30,000 were smallest for the first Monday in July in more than 10 years. During the last nine years receipts for the first Monday in July have averaged 49,100. If history repeats itself traders look for a higher market for good hogs this month. With the exception of three times, top prices at the close of July have been higher than at the opening of the month during the last 14 years. Barring four years, the top prices in July show an advance over June every year since 1898.

Hog Futures Dull.

Trading in hog futures was practically at a standstill yesterday. September light and mediums were offered at $8.00 and heavy grades for the first half of that month were offered as low as $7.75, but no bids were made for these contracts. All weights for next December were offered at $8.00. Today's light weights carried bids of $7.30 on the "to arrive" market.

Chicago handled more than 40 per cent of the cattle receipts at the seven leading markets yesterday and prices held up well considering the increase in supplies here. A total of 19,000 head arrived, against 12,144 last Monday, while all other markets reported smaller receipts. Best yearlings held steady during the forenoon, but weakened some in sympathy with the 15@25c lower market for medium and weighty beeves in midsession and later.

Closing sales were mostly 25c under the general selling last Friday. Choice 900 lb yearlings held the top price at $8.50. Some of the largest shipments of the year came from Nebraska and the Dakotas. One string of 218 head from South Dakota averaged 977 lbs and sold at $8.40. Another shipment of 101 head averaging 1,118 lbs sold at $8.15. Yearling heifers held steady, some of the best selling up to $7.60, while other butcher stock ruled weak to lower. Calves were scarce and steady. Stockers and feeders were firm.

Washington Lambs $7.40.

A string of about 7,500 Washington range lambs, the first of the season from that state, swelled Chicago receipts to 18,000 yesterday, the largest since May 11, while offerings at all other points were smallest of the year for Monday. Steady to strong prices were paid for the western range stock, the "tops" going at $7.00@7.40, with best feeding lambs at $5.00@5.25. Movement from the far northwest is later this year. The first from Washington in 1930 were here June 2.

Strong weight native lambs were sorted at $7.25@7.35, with top to yard traders at $7.50. Yearlings were steady. Light ewes sold for slaughter at $2.50@3.00 and yearlings to breeders ranged upwards to $4.50. There is usually a rather substantial increase in sheep receipts at leading points during July. The average July total for the last three years shows a gain of 18 per cent.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep, against 5,102 cattle, 19,607 hogs, and 9,292 sheep the previous Tuesday and 4,956 cattle, 22,604 hogs, and 11,327 sheep a year ago.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Wabash hauled 66,944 cars during June, as compared with 68,891 in May and 74,330 in June, 1930.

The St. Louis-San Francisco handled 65,260 cars, as compared with 63,588 in May and 77,582 in June, 1930.

The Katy handled 37,322 cars during June, as against 33,381 in May and 41,933 during June, 1930.

The Missouri-Pacific handled 118,982 cars during June, as against 113,077 in May and 132,287 in June, 1930.

The Northern Pacific has joined the list of carriers offering door-to-door pickup and delivery service. On July 10 this new service will be inaugurated between the Seattle-Tacoma territory and Yakima valley, from Cle Elum to Kennewick east of the Cascade mountains. The service will be conducted by the Northern Pacific Transport company, a subsidiary of the railroad.

Downward Trend Checked on Berlin Stock Exchange

BERLIN, July 6.—(AP)—For a time it looked like another black day on the stock exchange today, but the session ended less disastrously than had been feared because of a prevailing conviction that international credits shortly maturing would be extended. Furthermore, no drastic steps were announced to restrict domestic credits or to reduce the gold cover by the Reichsbank.

800 Mile Gasoline Pipe Line Goes Into Service

St. Paul, Minn., July 6.—(AP)—An 800 mile pipe line carrying gasoline from Oklahoma to St. Paul and Minneapolis went into service today with a capacity of 567,000 gallons daily. It is owned by the Great Lake Pipe Line companies.

Bar Silver Prices Sag at Opening of Week's Trade

Bar silver sagged at the opening of trading this week, dropping three-eighths of a cent in New York to 29⅝ cents an ounce, and declining 3-16 of a penny in London to 13 9-16 pence.

MAY FURNITURE BUSINESS DIPS TO LOW FIGURE

New business obtained by the furniture industry during May was poorer than any month since December last year, a survey by Seidman & Seidman, accountants to the furniture industry, says.

"During the month of May," the survey says, "the industry secured only 57 per cent as much new business as during the same month of 1930. When it is remembered that the month of May, 1930, was exceedingly poor as compared with the more nearly normal month of May, 1929, it is not startling to learn that bookings for May this year amounted to only 23 per cent of those for May, 1929.

"For the first five months of 1931 new orders represented approximately 72 per cent of those secured in the same period last year, and 40 per cent of the same period of 1929."

Central Public Service May Sales Gain Over April

Central Public Service corporation reports electricity sales for May were larger than in April, totaling 46,431,725 kilowatt hours, against 46,300,722 last month. The percentage of decrease from the comparable period last year was smaller. May this year was 1.93 per cent behind May last year, whereas in April the decrease from the same month in 1930 was 3.02 per cent. Sales for the first five months of 1931 were 3.40 per cent behind the first five of 1930, and for the twelve months ended May 31 this year were 3.22 per cent lower than for the preceding twelve months, it was announced. Sales for the month were 20.89 per cent larger than last year, contrasted with a gain of 15.64 per cent for the five months period and 6.73 per cent for the twelve months.

Buying of Copper, Foreign and Domestic, Still Small Buying of copper continues small, both in the domestic and export markets. Producers continue to hold at 9 cents, delivered; domestic and custom smelters are asking 8½ cents. Consumers, however, are not anxious to buy and it is reported that some copper has been offered quietly at 8¼ cents. The export price continues unchanged at 9.27½ cents, C. I. F. European base ports.

CROP CONDITIONS

Wheat is heading out short in straw, with uneven ripening resulting in a lowering of grade, due to damaging hot weather over the crop growing areas of western Canada, according to the weekly weather crop report of the Canadian National railway. Rye in many districts is a total loss, and fields have been turned over to live stock for grazing. The Bank of Montreal says drought has seriously damaged the wheat crop over large areas of Saskatchewan and Manitoba and at best only a very light crop can be expected in these districts. Crop and fodder prospects throughout the prairie provinces have been improved by recent rainfall. Crops in Quebec are making satisfactory progress.

East and south from Quincy, Ill., oats are being cut. Quality will be at least normal and yields considerably in excess of last year, says a wire from Quincy to J. E. Bennett & Co. Corn is ready to lay by, and in some cases already is laid by.

Iowa corn can yet make a bumper crop if weather continues favorable, the extreme drought and heat having been temporarily relieved, as reported from Storm Lake. A fair average crop of oats and barley is almost assured. Much will depend on weather conditions throughout harvest.

George M. Le Count reports from Bradley, S. D., to Stein, Alstrin & Co.: "Have returned from a 4,000 mile trip through North Dakota and Canada. Condition in Canada is the worst I have ever seen. Very little wheat is in heaviest acreage in southern Saskatchewan. I believe that production in the prairie provinces will be under 200,000,000 bu. Corn never looked better in South Dakota and is two weeks earlier than usual."

In a trip through Illinois and part of Indiana, H. C. Donovan of Logan & Bryan found winter wheat developed somewhat better than expected. There was some rust damage, but too late to do much damage. Early oats show heat damage in places. Corn good to excellent, with thick stalks and healthy color.

Broomhall reports Australian acreage is certain to be reduced 40 per cent, owing to rains. India has had beneficial rains and harvesting in Rumania is becoming general. In the southern half of Russian wheat territory temperatures reached 106 degrees last week.

Chrysler Announces New Engine Mounting Method

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 6.—Walter P. Chrysler announced today that a new method of mounting an engine in the car frame of an automobile had been perfected at the engineering laboratories of the Chrysler corporation in Detroit, which is called "floating power." The new principle, he said, eliminates reciprocal vibration, long regarded as inevitable in conventional four cylinder cars. He recalled that the inability of engineers to overcome this vibration was one of the chief reasons why most automobile manufacturers turned some years ago to six, eight and more cylinder construction.

TRADING ON WALL STREET SLOWS DOWN TO CRAWL

Most Market Leaders Ease Slightly Lower.

right disgusted over the trend of affairs, internationally speaking, and it doesn't care a red simoleon who guesses it. Its mood is to flout, or at least minimize, any influence the outcome of the pending debt problem may have on share prices one way or the other, regardless of when the result is announced.

Nevertheless, neither faction of the professional groups are showing any disposition to risk any sizeable outlay of the coin of the realm in suiting action to such disdainful talk. Both are sitting tight to see what the boys in the back room are going to do about it when the secret is out. The backroomers have been out of the picture for several days now and there is nothing to suggest that they are in any hurry to move in anew. Wherefore the situation has stagnated to about the dreariest excuse for a stock market, the one time cowpath leading from Trinity church down to the East river has seen in many a long weary day.

Leading Issues Decline.

United States Steel, General Motors, American Can, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, General Electric, and the Standard Oils, stocks to which the market looks for leadership, were lower for the most part. They did stage a mild little recovery around noon and this served to brace up the entire market for a while, but the dribblet of selling was soon under way again and the close found prices from a fraction to a point or so beneath Friday's levels in all departments.

Much of the selling, particularly in the earlier dealings, which beat prices down in the rank and file of leading stocks, was credited to the catching of "limit orders" placed by late buyers of stock on Friday. Some of the more nimble professionals, apparently inspired by reports current throughout the day to the effect that an accord had been reached in the "debt holiday" parley, took on lines of stock, hopeful of profiting by any sharp upturn which such announcement was expected to have brought today.

Limit Their Orders.

Those trying for such a short, quick turn were moved, however, to limit their losses, in the event of disappointment, through the medium of "stop-loss" orders placed a point or two under the market. It was the catching of these protective orders which contributed in no small way to the early unsettlement which the market was never able to entirely overcome.

A few individual issues gave some interest to the market at that. National Biscuit was again weak, selling to a new low for the present shares. The recent election of Frank C. Lowry as president of the corporation was done with a view to strengthening the management, but it was said that this change could not be interpreted as foreshadowing any change in the company's policy. Sales of the company have fallen off somewhat this year, with the result that unless an improvement takes place in the sec- " half the corporation will be hardly able, it is understood, to show the same earnings a share as it did in 1930, when they averaged $3.40. The decrease is ascribed to the general business depression.

Gold mining shares enjoyed intervals of activity and strength, Alaska Juneau moving against the trend for a gain of nearly two points.

Gold Mining Shares Active.

Automobile shares fared a little better than some other groups on reports that sales figures on the first half of the year may be a little better than had been anticipated.

In the merchandise division, Woolworth moved up for a gain of a point or so in the forenoon, but lost it later. The Woolworth company, in marked contrast to the drop in sales reported by the mail order companies for June, enjoyed an increase of 6 per cent and today's activity in the shares was in response to that showing. Mail orders reflect largely conditions in the agricultural districts, while the 5 and 10 cent chains deal largely with large urban communities. Hence their better figures.

Gross income amounted to $395,955.59, which compares with $406,099.95 for the year ended May 31, 1930.

CROWN WILLAMETE PAPER.

Consolidated net profits aggregated $1,946,321 for the fiscal year ended April 30, 1931, according to the annual report released yesterday. These earnings include the operations of Pacific Mills, Limited. After dividends on the preferred stock of Pacific Mills, Limited, there remained a profit of $1,893,631 available for dividends on the preferred and common stocks of the Crown Willamette Paper company.

BREAK IN COTTON

Cotton markets were depressed yesterday by disappointing news regarding the French settlement, selling by houses with Liverpool connections and also by local and other traders. After a good break prices rallied 10 to 12 points in New York, only to weaken and close at almost the bottom, with net losses of 23@24 points in Chicago, 21@25 points in New Orleans, and 19@24 points in New York. Spots lost 20 points, New York being 10.15c, New Orleans 9.95c, Galveston 10.10c, and Houston 9.90c. Liverpool was weak and closed 8@10 points net lower with sales 5,000 bales, including 3,000 bales American.

The American Cotton Crop service estimates a reduction of acreage 10.4 per cent, with a condition of 74.2 compared with 71.8 per cent last year, indicating a crop of 12,400,000 bales to 13,400,000 bales. Fossick's bureau says the present condition of the crop is not far from average for the date. The plant is small but is squaring freely and beginning to bloom quite generally. July and August are the crucial months and insect damage in the event of wet weather are the most prominent dangers ahead of the crop for the next 2 months. Weevils are increasing in the Atlantic and souther nbelt areas westward. Textile sales for June were said to be 156 per cent of production. Prices follow:

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

[illegible]oolworth Moves Up.

F. W. Woolworth continues a strong feature among the merchandising shares. It moved up rather spiritedly late in the day in response to the publication of its June sales report. The figures of last month totaled $21,978,-[illegible], an increase of 6.1 per cent over those shown for the corresponding month last year.

[illegible] Shares Active.

The recent heavy trading in the shares of American and foreign power on the stock exchange has stirred up sympathetic activity in the warrants of the company on the curb. Issued in connection with the second preferred stock: Each warrant entitles the holder to purchase one share of common stock at $25, payable in cash or in second preferred stock taken at a value of $100.

Fails to Respond.

Rumors, current in the financial district for some days past, that Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. plans shortly to begin making package bakery products at its own plants have failed to give much of a fillip to trading activities in the shares of the nonvoting common stock.

Merger Terms Expected.

Official announcement of the terms of the proposed Sinclair Prairie merger are expected within a comparatively short time, but it was not possible yesterday to confirm Tulsa advices quoting Harry S. Sinclair as saying that the plan will be promulgated in four to six weeks' time. It is said that audit of the two Prairie properties has been completed by accountants representing the Sinclair interests. The basis of the proposed merger is a moot point, but is indicated by relative market values of the shares of the companies concerned.

Inland Steel.

I shall appreciate knowing whether you consider Inland Steel company first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds due 1978 as sound for investment purposes.—A. H. N.

Inland Steel company is the second largest producer in the Chicago district. Gross for 1930 was $51,756,846, against $68,585,431 in 1929. Interest was earned 6.89 times in 1930, 11.25 times in 1929 and 9.77 times in 1928.

For the first quarter of 1931 net earnings before fixed charges were $1,785,590, against $4,098,424 for the like period of 1930. Depreciation and depletion were $649,317 and bond interest totaled $427,500. For the like period of 1930 depreciation and depletion were $724,356 and bond interest was $330,750.

On June 24, 1931, a press dispatch stated that current operations were about 40 per cent of capacity. This is in line with general conditions in the industry.

The $28,000,000 of first sinking fund 4½ per cent bonds, series A, were offered in 1928 to retire the 5½ per cent debentures due 1945 and the 7 per cent preferred stock and for other corporate purposes. They are secured by a direct first mortgage on all fixed assets of the company. Additional bonds may be issued subject to certain restrictions in the indenture.

In January, 1931, $15,000,000 first mortgage bonds, series B, due 1981 were offered. On Dec. 31, 1930, giving effect to the sale of these bonds, net tangible assets available for funded debt amounted to $105,000,000, of which $40,000,000 represented current assets. There were no notes payable. Funded debt consisted of $43,000,000 of first mortgage bonds.

These bonds are sound.

Otis Elevator.

Please give me your rating of Otis Elevator common.—F. D. U.

Otis Elevator company has shown a profit every year since incorporation in 1898. Income is derived from installation and servicing of elevators and escalators.

Interrupting the upward trend of earnings evidenced in recent years, net income for 1930 was $7,265,050, or $3.44 per common share. For 1929 net income was $8,370,528, or $3.99 per common share [adjusted to present capitalization]. World sales for 1930 were about 12 per cent under those for 1929.

For the first quarter of 1930 net income was $1,472,647, or 69 cents per common share, against $1,759,443, or 83 cents per common share for the corresponding 1930 period.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $28,667,646, and current liabilities were $3,542,448. There were outstanding 65,000 shares of $6 preferred [par $100] and 2,000,000 no par common shares.

The common is on an annual $2.50 dividend basis. It is high grade.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET IS DULL; UTILITIES GAIN

New York, July 6.—(AP)—The bond market today was dull, but it afforded some interesting developments. Sales totaled $8,332,000 at par values on the stock exchange, the smallest aggregate for a full session since June 8 when the turnover was $8,206,000.

Fluctuations among corporate issues were irregularly higher, and considering the restricted trading, many of them were sizable. Public utilities scored a number of gains and a few of them touched new 1931 high levels or equaled their old ones.

German obligations were a center of interest. The 5½s and 7s of the national government receded on steady selling until late in the session when they recovered sufficiently to close with fractional gains. Among the utilities such issues as American Telephone debenture 5s of 1960 and of 1965 and Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania, series B 5s, closed higher. An upward movement in these issues indicates simply the continuing preference for high grade bonds. The trend in railroads and industrials was less certain. The trading in industrials was quieter than in the rails, but the trend was similarly irregular. Loans of the United States government made mixed net changes after selling off most of the time.

JULY WHEAT IN LIVERPOOL SELLS AT 277 YEAR LOW

Price Here Drops to 55c; Lowest Since 1896.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

All low records for contract grades of wheat in the Liverpool markets were shattered yesterday when the July delivery dropped to equal to 58¾c per bu, falling a fraction of a cent below the inside figure established in the world-wide business depression in 1895. While the actual price prevailing at that time was somewhat lower than the figure which existed Monday, the difference in the sterling exchange rate was sufficient to send the current level plunging to the lowest figure since 1654, a period of 277 years, and it was within about 4c of the lowest figure of which there is historical record.

The trade had no knowledge yesterday that history was being established in the wheat market and it was doubtful if it would have paid any attention to it, although the July future in Chicago dropped to 55c, a new low for the season and lowest since 1896, but the nearby month was inclined to act somewhat tight and closed only ¼c lower at 55⅜@55½c, and was only ⅝c under the September at the last, which was off 1c for the day. December declined ⅝c, and finished at 60½@60⅝c.

Hedging Pressure Lighter.

When the character of the general run of the news was considered pit observers said the wheat market had given an excellent account of itself and the relatively limited hedging pressure also attracted attention, as receipts of 3,636 cars of new winter wheat were reported at the various markets, equal to nearly 15,000,000 bu. In some quarters this was regarded as due to the fact that millers in a number of instances have hedged their purchases of the cash grain by sales of flour. The arrivals fell over 2,000 cars below trade expectations, the recent rains in the southwest and the low prices changing the movement to some extent.

Developments over the double holiday were construed as bearish, and at no time were prices above the previous close. Good rains fell in parts of the Canadian northwest, and while regarded as too late to have much effect on the crop they tended to increase pressure and Winnipeg closed 1¼c lower than on Friday, with the July at 60½c. The lack of export demand for either hard winter wheat or Manitobas continues to have more or less effect on sentiment, and no sales were claimed during the day, with No. 1 hard winter at the Gulf held at Chicago September price, and few bids were said to be in the market.

At Wider Discount.

Kansas City July wheat is gradually going to a wider discount under Chicago and closed 1⅝c lower yesterday at 46¾c, or 9¼c under the local market and within 1¼c of a shipping basis. The Farmers National Grain corporation was a persistent seller of July at Minneapolis, which caused a decline of around 3c in the latter market. Buying against bids and by shorts was a factor in checking the decline in Chicago. A crop of less than 200,000,000 bu is expected in the three Canadian provinces this season by George M. Le Count, the Stein, Alstrin & Co. crop expert, compared with 374,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Favorable weather for the new corn crop over the holidays, with moderate temperatures, led to local and commission house selling of futures, but there was aggressive buying by shorts in the July which caused it to develop tightness toward the last and it went to a premium of around 4½c over the September, gaining ⅛c for the day, while the deferred futures were ½c@¾c lower, September being 54⅞@55c, and December, 48½@48⅝c. Buying against bids checked the break, and there was also some short covering.

No Material Pressure.

While July corn is selling at a big premium over the September and about 4c over the current delivery of wheat, there was no material pressure of old grain to arrive from the country. Deliveries of 299,000 bu were made on July contracts during the day and the local contract stocks increased nearly 1,000,000 bu during the past week and are now 2,448,000 bu, with 250,000 bu sold to go to store yesterday.

Scattered liquidation was in evidence in oats and the close was ⅜@½c lower, with July, 27¼c; September, 27⅞, and December, 30⅞@31c. Buying was on resting orders, part of which was regarded as for investment. Trade in rye was light and the market, influenced largely by the action of wheat, the close being ¼@⅝c lower, with July, 35¼; September, 38⅜c, and December, 42⅝c.

HAY RECEIPTS LIGHT

The run of hay accumulated since Friday was a rather light one at only 14 cars, all timothy or one of its mixtures. Market for top quality old crop remains fairly firm, while the lower grades are just as hard to move as they were last week. Market still being quoted largely on an old crop basis.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

There was an absence of foreign demand for cash wheat at the seaboard and no sales of consequence were reported of either hard winters or of Manitobas. No. 1 hard winter at the July, last half July, first half August, loading was quoted at September price, but there were said to be very few bids in the market.

Chicago handlers sold 5,000 bu wheat; 38,000 bu corn and 31,000 bu oats to the domestic trade with 250,000 bu corn sold to go to store. Deliveries on July contracts aggregated 299,000 bu corn, 27,000 bu oats and 29,000 bu rye.

With new wheat moving more freely there was a fair business in the local sample market with No. 1 hard quoted at 1½c over July; No. 2 hard, ½@1c over, and No. 2 red, ½c over the future, while No. 1 mixed was ¼@½c over. At Kansas City No. 1 hard was 2c under, and No. 2 hard 2½@3c under the September.

Offerings of cash corn were not large and the basis was steady to firm. No. 1 and No. 2 mixed brought ¼@½c over, and yellow 1@1¼c over, while No. 1 white was 1⅝c over and No. 2 white 1½c over the July. No. 3 mixed was ¼@½c under; yellow, 1¼@⅝c over, and white, ¾@1c over the future.

Demand for cash oats was fair with the basis steady at 1@1¼c over July for No. 2 white and July price to ¼c over for No. 3 white.

LARD HARD TO BUY

Light offerings of lard and the buying of less than 150,000 lbs put the September price up 15c yesterday. Other months were neglected but closed 5@10c higher, while July was nominally 12½c higher. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d lower. Bellies were neglected and nominally unchanged. Cash trade was quiet. There were smaller receipts of hogs than a week and a year ago and prices 10@15c lower. Export clearances of lard for the week were 6,879,000 lbs compared with 9,799,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 4,440,000 lbs against 5,103,000 lbs last year. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders were somewhat more mixed in their views after the close yesterday, some regarding the action of the market as suggesting that a rally was to follow any further decline, especially as the hedging pressure is proving disappointingly small. However, close observers claimed that any rally would be due largely to the technical position, and expressed the belief that there was no use in anticipating higher prices until the foreigner came in as a good buyer of cash wheat. At the time Liverpool closed yesterday the July delivery there was only 3½c over Chicago.

One of the oldest operators in the Chicago Board of Trade who has been talking bearish for sometime said yesterday that he looks for cash wheat to sell down to where it was in 1895 when sales were made at 43¾c, and he would not be surprised if the price dropped somewhat under that figure.

For some years past the wheat trade has paid little attention to statistics and a department of agriculture report suggesting a crop in the northern hemisphere of 3,061,000,000 bu this season, exclusive of Russia and China, compared with 3,237,000,000 bu last year fell flat as a market influence.

Reports that the farm board had no intention of selling any of its holding of wheat at prevailing prices failed to stimulate buying of consequence yesterday. However, there was considerable comment on the fact that farmers in Kansas were refusing to sell new wheat freely on the basis of 30c per bu at country loading points.

Congestion is becoming more in evidence in July corn with the nearby delivery regarded as controlled largely by a leading local professional. There was some buying of July yesterday against sales of the deferred deliveries. The failure of the country to sell cash grain freely of late despite the large premium over the September is attracting some attention. Local grain traders who were out in the country over the holiday reported that the new crop looked to be in excellent condition in the parts of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa they visited. At the low point yesterday, December corn was off 7⅝c from the high of a week ago, which some operators thought sufficient for the time being.

Great Western Loadings Show Improvement in June

Chicago Great Western car loadings for June show improvement over May, the decrease from last June being 14.8 per cent, as compared with 15 per cent for May. The number of carloads handled does not accurately indicate the change in the volume of traffic, however. The decrease in the tonnage of commodities moved was actually less than 14.8 per cent for the reason that this year a fewer number of cars are being used for merchandise than were used in handling equal quantities last year. Grain shipments were considerably ahead of last year; live stock about the same; and lumber and coal showed slight improvements, with the principal decrease being in miscellaneous commodities.

V. V. Boatner said net income for June is expected to be somewhat higher than the $23,942 shown in June last year.

HIDE FUTURES

Trading in hide futures on the New York Hide Exchange was fairly active. The market closed unchanged to 10 points higher. The hide market during June was featured by advancing prices and increased participation in hide futures trading attributed partly to the growing demand for finished leather articles and partly to the better conditions brought about by the improvement in the international economic situation. Closing prices on the hide exchange on June 30 showed advances of from 90 to 130 points for the month. The turnover in hide futures June aggregated 48,120,000 lbs bringing the total for the first six months of this year to 320,000,000 lbs against 141,760,000 lbs during the same time last year. Total sales Monday were 1,640,000 lbs. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—COTTON GOODS Opened quiet and easy today. In the gray goods division, influenced in price by the decline in raw cotton. Finished goods were in light demand. Slow deliveries of men's wear are reported from several mills due to the pressure for goods after long deferred ordering. Silk manufacturers are little disposed to pay advances on silk for future delivery until fabric prices rise. Burlaps were firm in anticipation of the preliminary jute forecast due this week. Rayon buying is seasonally quiet but mills continue active.

PRELIMINARY WHEAT MEETING HELD IN LONDON

LONDON, England July 6.—(AP)—The ten principal wheat exporting nations of the world were represented at a preliminary meeting today of the continuing committee of the conference of wheat exporting countries which met in May.

Today's discussions, it is understood, were confined to ways and means of giving effect to the conference resolution of May 23 creating the continuing committee, the purpose of which would be: Establishment of a clearing house of information; to explore all possible avenues for greater utilization of wheat and consideration of the draft agenda for the next conference.

The meeting was held in Canada house under chairmanship of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner to Great Britain, who had been chairman of the larger conference. The countries represented were the United States, Argentina, Australia, Bulgaria, Canada, Hungary, India, Poland, Rumania, and soviet Russia.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw declined 1-32 of a cent today to the basis of 3.42c for spots duty paid, with a rather indifferent demand, while offerings were a little more liberal.

In a quiet market futures were a little easier under liquidation and some selling by houses with Cuban and European connections, with the market closing net unchanged to 2 points lower. All told only 9,600 tons changed hands. Prices follow:

HEAR R. B. WHITE WILL BECOME HEAD OF ALTON

Baltimore, July 6.—(AP)—The Evening Sun says that R. B. White, president of the Central railroad of New Jersey is scheduled to become president of the Alton railroad company if the purchase of the Chicago and Alton by the Baltimore and Ohio is approved.

R. W. Brown, now vice president of the Central railroad of New Jersey, is to succeed Mr. White, under the plan of the Baltimore and Ohio management, it was said. The Alton Railroad company was formed by the B. and O. to take over the Chicago and Alton. Mr. White is 47 and most of his career has been with the Baltimore and Ohio, which has a large interest in the New Jersey road.

LEARN BEAUTY CULTURE!

THE MOLER SYSTEM

has just perfected a new and wonderfully interesting decree in

BEAUTY CULTURE.

Scientifically correct, easily acquired. This is just another of the advanced things perfected by Mr. A. B. Moler, founder of the Great Moler System.

MOLER

Still enables students to earn a large part of their tuition while learning.
Still provides an opportunity to earn meals while learning.
Still qualifies every student for a state license.
Open Every Day and Every Evening. Call, mail the coupon or phone.

Household's rates are the lowest in Chicago

The nationally advertised Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Loans above $100 and up to $300 are made at a rate approximately one-third less than the rate permitted by the Small Loan Law.

Strictly confidential: husband and wife only need sign; no endorsers.
